PAULEY TO QUIT ARMY DEPT. POST

President's Board Urges Billions Be Spent To Bolster U.S. Air Arm

American Sky Power Termed Inadequate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — (AP) — The President's Air Policy Commission urged today that America's power in the sky be strengthened by spending billions of dollars above present defense budgets.

It called the Air Force "inadequate" even now.

It added that the arm, as presently constituted, would be "hopelessly wanting" in a period of "serious danger of atomic attack."

And it went on the assumption that such a period will begin with 1953.

Mr. Truman, describing the report as "valuable", urged that Congress and the public study it. He said it would be helpful "in further developing a long-range aviation policy."

The President noted in a statement that his recently submitted budget earmarks $5,200,000,000 for "national defense aviation activities," and added:

"Budget requests for civilian aviation provide for increased research, improved airport facilities and continued modernization of the federal airways system."

Five-Month Study

Mr. Truman also called attention to budget requests for funds to improve air safety.

The five-man body of private citizens, reporting to President Truman after a five months study of all phases of aviation, looked first at its relationship to the international situation.

"World peace and the security of the United States are now the same thing," it said. "We believe that the United States will be secure in an absolute sense only if the institution of war itself is abolished under a regime of law."

It urged therefore a "double-barreled policy abroad" to "achieve world peace through support and development of the United Nations" and at the same time "prepare xxx for the possibility that war may come."

The commission called for a new concept of defense based on air power, the "new element through which this country may be attacked."

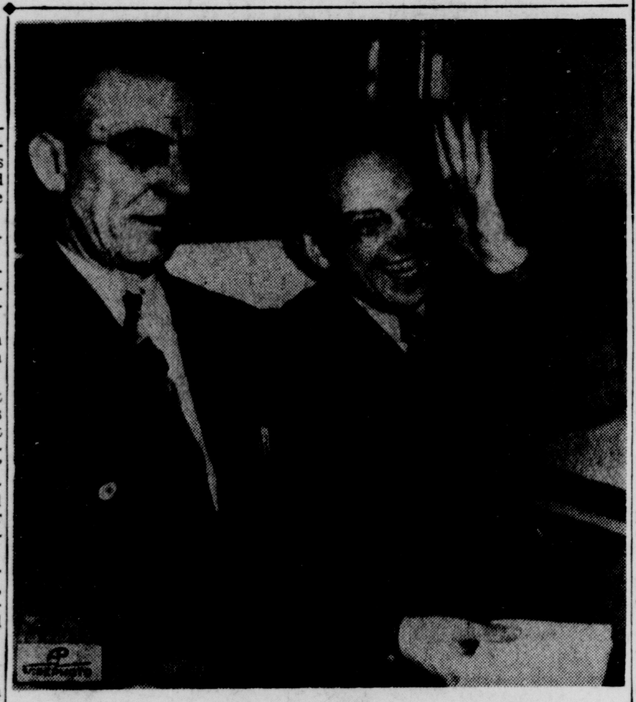
Our Navy must be maintained, it said, but surface protection alone is no longer enough. It declared the Air Force must be so modern and so strong that it not only can meet an attack but also can deal "a crushing counteroffensive blow on the aggressor."

Two-Phase Defense Problem

The commission put the defense problem into two phases: The first, extending through 1952, is the period when it is safe to assume a United States monopoly on atomic weapons; phase two is the period beginning with 1953 when it must be asumed that "other nations will have atomic weapons in quantity and the equipment to deliver them in a sustained attack on the United States mainland."

It proposed that steps be taken immediately to build up the Air Force to 70 groups (as frequently recommended since V-J Day and compared with current plans for 55 groups) by the end of 1949. Seventy groups would double the present total of 3,500 first-line aircraft.

The Air Force budget, it said, should be increased by $1,300,000,000 to $4,150,000,000 for this calendar year, and to $5,450,000,000 for 1949.



PARTING GESTURE—Harold Beach, Jr., 23, confessed knife-slayer of eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tuley, Cleveland, was handcuffed to Detective Arthur Willard as he left Baltimore yesterday to face a murder charge in Cleveland. Beach spent a night and a day talking freely to police and reporters, and as a parting gesture, thumbs his nose at newsmen.

GOP Congress Awaits Truman Economic Plan

Labor's Co-operation In Price Drive Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — President Truman today readied for submission to Congress tomorrow an economic blueprint for 1948 which is expected to include a renewed demand for enactment of his 10-point anti-inflation program and a call for increased productivity.

Meanwhile, administration leaders pressed their months-long campaign to win congressional approval of a compulsion-backed program to curb the rising cost of living.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach told the Senate Banking Committee today he believes that if Congress acts now to hold down prices labor unions will ease their demands for wage increases.

Tomorrow the same group will hear testimony by Secretary of Interior Krug and Secretary of Commerce Harriman. Harriman has already set up peliminay machinery for putting into effect the voluntary industry-wide agreements program approved by the special session last December.

Meat Ration Bill Ready

The cabinet members are appearing before the Senate group to testify on three proposed rationing and wage-price control bills. Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) expects to introduce a meat rationing bill this week.

In tomorrow's message—the second annual economic report—President Truman is expected to plead urgently for the "standby" anti-inflation powers which the Republican-controlled Congress has refused so far to grant him.

Officials predicted several days ago that tomorrow's message would contain specific recommendations for improving health and social welfare of the nation's millions. They indicated privately that it would be patterned along Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal" program in that respect.

Schwellenbach appeared before the Senate Banking Committee to ask passage of wage-price legislation he previously submitted to Congress last December.

"Price increases of the last two years have brought home more clearly than ever before the futility of wage incerases that are eaten up by price rises," he told the committee.

Sees Labor Co-Operation

"In spite of the intention of organized labor to press for substantial wage increases, it is my belief that labor will co-operate in this effort if given some real assurance that price rises will be checked."

Schwellenbach asserted that the "selective" wage-price control legislation he advocates "can prevent further substantial increases in prices and living costs" by exercising restrictions at certain key points.

As outlined last December before the House Banking Committee, his proposals call for price controls limited to those commodities that basically affect the cost of living or agricultural and industrial production, and those "essential to effectuation of the foreign policy of the United States."

Royall's Aide Says Market Deals Ethical

Graham More Than Doubled Investment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, whose commodity speculation has been under fire, announced tonight that he expects to resign as assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall "some time this month."

"As I have stated," Pauley said in a prepared statement, "when my job is finished I plan to leave the Department of the Army, not before. I expect this to be some time this month."

Earlier in the day, senators investigating market trading of government employes calculated that Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, personal physician to President Truman, more than doubled his money in a four-month flier in wheat, oats and corn last fall.

Through testimony and brokers records, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) figured Graham invested $5,700. Graham acknowledged a $6,165.26 profit.

But the physician testified he has only his broker to thank for this. He said he didn't have and didn't use any inside government information. He took the broker's advice, he said, after having dropped $11,-012.86 in stocks. So he ended with a net $4,847.61 loss.

Pauley Defends Operations

Pauley also has denied using any inside information. In tonight's statement he took occasion to defend his operations as "completely legal and ethical."

He fired back at Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, who yesterday challenged Pauley's right to hold his government post after profiting nearly a million dollars in trading in commodities.

Pauley's statement said:

"Someone has just called my attention to a new 'disclosure' by Mr. Harold Stassen. It appears that his 'research staff' of which he hints from time to time has finally found out that I told a Washington newspaper last September 16 that I planned to stay in the Department of the Army for only 'three or four months.' The 'research staff' seems to have found out also that I say very much the same thing in a public statement December 15.

"Evidently Stassen has decided to make a new 'new discovery.'

"It is obvious he would like to claim credit for bringing about my resignation and again mislead the public."

Pauley and Stassen have engaged in a series of bitter exchanges since Stassen prompted the investigation by a speech last month in which he charged that government "insiders" had made money by trading in foodstuffs.

Question For Stassen

Pauley's statement tonight added:

"Meanwhile the significant point to Stassen's latest display of fraudulence is the obvious evidence that he is in retreat.

"When I first accused him of uttering, under oath, a series of false statements concerning me, he pointedly evaded the issue.

"So, since he has declined to return before the senate committee until January 23—and since I doubt that he will return even then—I think I may ask him some more

French Deputies Fight In Aisles; Reds End Session

Lights Are Turned Off During Turmoil

PARIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Fist fights among the deputies threw a session of the National Assembly into an uproar tonight and the Communists, fighting for a key legislative office, broke up the meeting in a maneuver temporarily paralyzing France's law-making machinery.

The non-Communist majority in the chamber appealed immediately to President Vincent Auriol for aid in getting the Assembly operating again. Another session was set for tomorrow.

A Communist decision to insist on the re-election of their legislative leader, Jacques Duclos, as first vice-president threw the session into an uproar as Deputies shouted and fought in the aisles.

Herriot Is Re-elected

As first vice - president, Duclos would be in line to succeed the presiding officer of the Assembly if anything happened to ailing, 76-year-old Edouard Herriot, Radical Socialist former premier, who was re-elected Assembly president earlier in the same session.

Fighting also preceded the vote on the presidency which Herriot won by receiving 317 votes to 124 for Communist Raoul Calas.

Non-Communist deputies offered Duclos the third vice-presidency. This was a departure from French parliamentary tradition which in the past assured the election to the first vice-presidency of the representative of the largest party—the Communists, at present.

Duclos replied that the Communists would accept no Assembly offices—a maneuver which raised doubts among parliamentarians over the right of the Assembly to function if the various parties were not represented proportionately in Assembly offices as provided for in the constitution.

Scuffle In Darkness

During the heated debate, the session unexpectedly was declared adjourned by Communist Marcel Cachin, the temporary presiding officer.

Rightist and centrist deputies objected so violently to the adjournment that they began scuffling with ushers who blocked passage to the Communist benches.

During the turmoil most of the

Tow Boats Will Race 1,051 Miles Up Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, an. 13 (AP)—Plans are being completed for a 1,051-mile race up the Mississippi River between two giant-sized tow boats of the Federal Barge Lines.

W. G. Oliphant, general traffic manager here, said the race will start from the Huey Long bridge either tomorrow or Thursday. The craft, the Diesel-powered Helena and the steam-powered Kokoda, are expected to take 10 days to reach the finish line at St. Louis.

Oliphant said each vessel will push four barges loaded with 9,785 tons of cargo. A crew of 20 will be aboard each tow boat.

Committee Hears Petrillo Assailed By Radio Leader

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP)—James C. Petrillo was assailed as an "economic pirate" today by a radio leader who expressed "pessimism" about the chances of reaching an agreement with Petrillo by January 31 on the use of "live musicians" for the nation's networks.

The testimony was given to the House Labor Committee by Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Petrillo's contract with the networks for the use of members of his American Federation of Musicians members expires January 31 in the second phase of a series of bans laid down by Petrillo which have already halted record making.

Miller also testified that Petrillo's union asked him to intercede with President Truman to bring about a veto of the so-called Lea "Anti-Petrillo" bill. The Lea bill, passed by Congress in 1946, forbade any one to force radio stations to hire musicians they do not need.

Miller, who served for eight years as a judge in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, said he refused to intercede.

"That apparently was the basis for the breakdown of all negotiations with Petrillo," Miller said.

The witness said the "major impact of Petrillo's actions" has fallen on the smaller radio stations, because they can stand no extra burden. Testifying that 54 per cent of the country's radio stations depended entirely on recordings, which have been banned by Petrillo, he continued:

"Petrillo said to me he thought it would be a good thing if a lot of those small stations went out of business and if they couldn't hire live musicians, they had better get out."

One Dead In Train Wreck

FARGO, N. D., Jan. 13—(AP)—A passenger was killed and two trainmen injured when a Great Northern freight train plowed into a coach at the rear end of a mixed train at Walden, 35 miles northwest of Fargo, tonight. Names of the victims were not immediately available.

Red Marshal Has Cancer

HELSINKI, Finland, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Swedish cancer specialist, Dr. Elis Berven, told reporters here today that his patient in Moscow was a marshal of the Soviet Union. He said the marshal whose name he would not disclose, suffered from skin cancer.

Crash Of Airliner Near Washington Takes Five Lives

Four Are Injured; Cause Undetermined

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP)—Five men were killed and four injured today when an Eastern Airlines plane smashed into a wooded slope on the Maryland side of the Potomac River near here.

An exchange of communications between the plane and the control tower at National Airport, recorded by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, indicated that the pilot and passengers had no warning of the impending crash. The cause was undetermined.

The fuselage broke in two when the two-engined DC-3 hit the ground, but the craft did not burn. The pilot and co-pilot were among the dead.

The death list:

Capt. Paul Saltanis, pilot, Atlanta; Ralph B. Sanborne, Jr., co-pilot, Atlanta; William A. Moorhead, vice president and general manager of the Joanna Textile Mills, Glodville, S. C.; S. M. Warner, Clinton, S. C., and L. A. Brandt, Wilton, Conn.

The injured included Navy Capt. Lucian Moebus, Maxwell Field, Ala., head of the naval section of the air university there and wartime commander of the aircraft carrier Saratoga; Eugene G. Stone, Pensacola, Fla.; Morris Maple, Princeton, N. J., and Peter I. Philos, flight attendant on the plane.

The 21-passenger airliner was en route from Houston, Tex., to Boston, carrying the three crewmen and six passengers.

The accident occurred shortly after 4:35 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) while a light rain was falling. The ceiling was 1,400 feet and the forward visibility four miles, compared with the minimum permissible operating conditions here of 400 feet and one mile.

A farm couple head the crash and guided rescuers to the broken airplane.

11 Convicts Escape Texas Prison Farm

ANGLETON, Tex., Jan. 13—(AP)—Eleven convicts on a wood-cutting detail on the Darrington prison farm near here escaped today when the "water boy" of the working party yanked an armed guard from his horse and, joined by the other prisoners, took his gun, bound him and fled.

The search centered tonight in the Brazos River bottoms, where bloodhounds were turned loose to pick up a trail, and at Houston, to the north, where other escapees had sought refuge in the past.

Judge Niles Is Named State Fuel Co-ordinator

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 13. (AP)—Judge Emory H. Niles, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, was appointed Maryland fuel co-ordinator today by Gov. Lane.

As state co-ordinator Judge Niles will tackle the problem of equalizing the distribution of the short supply of fuel oil. He also will organize a public information campaign aimed at achieving voluntary curtailment of household consumption of fuel oil.

New York Court Says "Test Tube Baby" Legitimate

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP)—A State Supreme Court justice ruled today that a child sired by artificial insemination is legitimate and that the husband of the mother has the rights of a parent.

The ruling was made by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg who declared that a man whose wife bears a child through artificial impregnation is entitled to the same rights "as those acquired by a foster parent who has formally adopted a child."

The decision was made in the case of Mrs. Julie Strnad, 31, who had asked the court to deny her estranged husband the right to visit her four-year-old daughter, Antoinette, who she said was conceived by artificial insemination.

Followers Fear Gandhi Is Risking Life By His Fast

NEW DELHI, Jan. 13 (AP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi, who has fasted many times to advance the cause of Indian independence, began a fast for peace among Moslems, Sikhs and Hindus today.

His followers feared the 78-year-old "Father of Indian Freedom," still frail from an illness last fall, was jeopardizing his life. He spurned a last-minute appeal from several Moslem, Hindu and Sikh delegations to postpone the fast for 15 days to give the people a chance to restore peace.

Bombay was cast into gloom as news of the fast spread. Trading was suspended in seeds, cotton, bullion and stocks. Markets in Calcutta and Madras remained closed.

The president of the Bombay Provincial Moslem League declared the fast was a "challenge to every Hindu, Moslem and Sikh."

The executive of the powerful Socialist group of the Congress Party called "upon every Socialist to pledge his all for realization of communal peace and harmony and preservation of the life of the father of the nation." The resolution said it was a "matter of the deepest shame x x x that Gandhi should be compelled to take such a dire step."

Various other religious, community and political groups announced meetings to consider their course.

Gandhi missed his first meal tonight, and dispensed with his usual stroll in the garden in order to conserve his strength.

But he addressed his daily prayer meeting tonight as usual, explaining that it might be his last until the fast is ended.

Declaring last night that "death for me would be a glorious deliverance," Gandhi said he had decided to fast until "satisfied that there is a reunion of the hearts of all communities' because he did not wish to be a "helpless witness of the destruction of India, Hinduism, Sikhism and Islam."

Anderson Denies Aid Program Led To Rationing Bid

Contradicts View Of ERP Opponents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said flatly today that proposed food shipments to Europe under the "Marshall plan" have nothing to do with the administration's bid for standby power to put meat and other food under rationing and price control.

Anderson's statement, made as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee questioned him about the effect of foreign aid on the nation's larder, directly contradicted a view often expressed by opponents of the four-year European recovery program.

Republican objectors in particular have charged that there will be food shortages in this country with new demands for controls, if shipments are made to Europe on the scale proposed by President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall.

Oil Exports "Will Add Burden"

Another Cabinet member, Secretary of Interior Krug, said Europe's requirements of American coal are "relatively small" but that projected oil exports "will add a burden to our overtaxed facilities."

Yet Europe, he told the senators, "must have the minimum amounts requested from the United States if she is even to have a chance to help herself."

Answering a question by Sen. Lodge (R-Mass), Krug said the oil shortage now affecting the East Coast and other areas would exist "with or without these exports."

He said "about three percent" of the domestic oil supply would be exported under the Marshall program.

Anderson told the senators that no beef, pork or lamb would be sent abroad during the first two years of the program.

Marshall Given Checkup

"Do you mean," asked Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), "that if we have to have meat rationing, the export program would have no effect?"

"Yes. It has not relationship to this (foreign aid) program," Anderson replied. He said a meat scarcity will result from a "very large slaughter" and a short, high-priced corn crop.

Marshall, originator of the program which calls for a $6,800,000,000 expenditure in the first 15 months, took a day off and underwent a periodic physical checkup at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

Sen. Ball (R-Minn) said, meanwhile, that a group of about 20 Republican senators has planned a series of meetings to discuss the Marshall plan proposal and possibly to agree on amendments which may be offered when the bill clears the Foreign Relations Committee.

Meat Rationing Will Be Resumed In French Cities

PARIS, Jan. 13—(AP)—A spokesman for the Agriculture Ministry said meat rationing will be resumed in large French cities February 15. About 15,000,000 persons will be affected and each person will be allowed seven ounces of meat a week.

The rationing is expected to continue until June 1, when supplies are expected to improve. Meat was taken off rationing last June. The average consumption since was estimated at 2.2 pounds a week per person.

All Of Epirus Menaced By Greek Guerillas

ATHENS, Jan. 13—(AP)—A highly-placed Greek military informant in Ioannina declared today that all of Epirus was in danger of falling to the guerrilla forces of Markos Vafiades, who is striving to carve out a separate Communist state in Northern Greece.

His statement came as Dwight P. Griswold, chief administrator for the American Mission to aid Greece (AMAG), announced that the Greek government had agreed to impose bank credit controls to fight inflation and take other vigorous action "to help themselves."

New army offensive was launched against a force of 800 guerrillas on famed Mt. Parnassus, 75 miles northwest of Athens, with an amphibious operation from the Gulf of Corinth.

Old Man Winter Aims One-Two Blow At Northeast--Snow And Biting Cold

[By The Associated Press]

Winter aimed a one-two punch at the snow-harassed, north-eastern states Tuesday—heavy snow followed by biting cold.

A soggy combination of snow and rain fell in New York City throughout the day Tuesday, but forecasters said the metropolis probably will escape a four to six inch snowfall predicted earlier.

From four to six inches of new snow were forecast from Southeastern Pennsylvania northward through New England, and a provisional cold wave warning was issued for New England states, with forecasters declaring that temperatures may drop below zero in northern sections by Wednesday night. The Weather Bureau added that light frost is a possibility for Northern and Central Florida.

Bitter cold already has moved into the Midwest, and temperatures of 20 degrees below zero were forecast for Minnesota. Zero weather is expected to come as far south as Northern Illinois and Northern Iowa.

Forecasters said much of the Midwest is in for the coldest or close to the coldest weather of the season. No real relief is in prospect for at least five days.

South of the eastern snow belt heavy rains fell, drenching the Ohio Valley and Allegheny regions. A few snow flurries fell in the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were below normal in the Pacific west but southern California continued to bask in mild temperatures.

Rodzinski "Fired" As Musical Director Of Chicago Symphony

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — Dr. Artur Rodzinski, who quit a year ago as conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, was dismissed today as musical director of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, "effective at the end of the current season."

A statement by the Orchestral Association's trustees listed disagreements with Rodzinski regarding:

1. "The number of concerts" which Rodzinski would personally conduct. During the current season the 56-year-old conductor had the number reduced first from 71 to 67, then to 62, of which he "missed" eight, the trustees said.

2. "Dissatisfaction on the part of Dr. Rodzinski with Orchestra Hall as a permanent location and with many long standing policies of the association."

Rodzinski said "I shall make no statement until I have examined the charges which apparently have been made against me — charges which I have not yet had any opportunity to meet or even to see." He was scheduled to conduct this afternoon's concert with Dame Myra

Passengers, Crewmen Removed From Vessels

SEATTLE, Jan. 13 (AP) — The 15 passengers and crewmen of the small steamer Aleutian Mail and an unnamed number of crew members aboard a foundering Army barge in Western Alaska waters all were rescued late today, messages to the Coast Guard here reported.

The Coast Guard cutter Cedar radioed it had evacuated the 15 aboard the Aleutian Mail and would take them to Sand Point, Alaska, on Popof Island, 50 miles away. The vessel, which grounded on Unimak Island early yesterday and then floated free was taken in tow. It had reported after going adrift that its personnel was in danger.

Earlier, fishing craft took the crew off the BSP 1927, a self-propelled Army barge which had also run aground, floated free and at noon (PST) had messaged it would remain afloat less than an hour.

Old Coins Worth $6,000 Uncovered In Monterey, Calif., Gold "Strike"

MONTEREY, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—Monterey's gold "strike" continued to flourish today.

About $6,000 in 50-year-old $20 gold pieces so far have been taken from an excavation.

One youngster today found $740 worth.

Some coins have been found individually. Others were packed in glass jars and tin cans in a lot being excavated for an addition to a school. The property originally was owned by Will Martin, wealthy pioneer, who died in 1913. The $20 gold pieces date back to the 1880's.

Strong arm operators have appeared on the scene.

Last night, Bill Thrasher, 13, and Raymond Ellis, 14, found a few $20 coins. A man who said he was a detective demanded the money and the youngsters gave the coins to him. Later they found a fruit jar full of gold pieces. Fearful that someone would take the coins from them, they hid the jar in a sewer. When they went for it later it was gone. They think the "detective" saw them hide it.

As excavation work was resumed today, 12-year-old Mike Maiorana saw the top of a can showing through the soil. When he started to dig, a dozen other "prospectors" jumped him.

Nick Marazzo, operator of a bulldozer on the project, ran his machine over the spot, turned off his motor and called police. They cleared the area.

Marazzo backed the bulldozer away.

Mike dug for the can and recovered 37 of the $20 gold pieces.

He gave two each to five construction workers who had helped him protect his "strike" from interlopers.

Mike went home under a police escort.

"As I have stated," Pauley said in a prepared statement, "when my job is finished I plan to leave the Department of the Army, not before. I expect this to be some time this month."

Earlier in the day, senators investigating market trading of government employes calculated that Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, personal physician to President Truman, more than doubled his money in a four-month flier in wheat, oats and corn last fall.

Through testimony and brokers records, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) figured Graham invested $5,700. Graham acknowledged a $6,165.26 profit.

But the physician testified he has only his broker to thank for this. He said he didn't have and didn't use any inside government information. He took the broker's advice, he said, after having dropped $11,012.86 in stocks. So he ended with a net $4,847.61 loss.

Pauley Defends Operations

Pauley also has denied using any inside information. In tonight's statement he took occasion to defend his operations as "completely legal and ethical."

He fired back at Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, who yesterday challenged Pauley's right to hold his government post after profiting nearly a million dollars in trading in commodities.

Pauley's statement said:

"Someone has just called my attention to a new 'disclosure' by Mr. Harold Stassen. It appears that his 'research staff' of which he hints from time to time has finally found out that I told a Washington newspaper last September 16 that I planned to stay in the Department of the Army for only 'three or four months.' The 'research staff' seems to have found out also that I say very much the same thing in a public statement December 15.

"Evidently Stassen has decided to make a new 'new discovery.'

"It is obvious he would like to claim credit for bringing about my resignation and again mislead the public."

Pauley and Stassen have engaged in a series of bitter exchanges since Stassen prompted the investigation by a speech last month in which he charged that government "insiders" had made money by trading in foodstuffs.

Question For Stassen

Pauley's statement tonight added: "Meanwhile the significant point to Stassen's latest display of fraudulence is the obvious evidence that he is in retreat.

"When I first accused him of uttering, under oath, a series of false statements concerning me, he pointedly evaded the issue.

"So, since he has declined to return before the senate committee until January 23—and since I doubt that he will return even then—I think I may ask him some more

French Deputies Fight In Aisles; Reds End Session

Lights Are Turned Off During Turmoil

PARIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Fist fights among the deputies threw a session of the National Assembly into an uproar tonight and the Communists, fighting for a key legislative office, broke up the meeting in a maneuver temporarily paralyzing France's law-making machinery.

The non-Communist majority in the chamber appealed immediately to President Vincent Auriol for aid in getting the Assembly operating again. Another session was set for tomorrow.

A Communist decision to insist on the re-election of their legislative leader, Jacques Duclos, as first vice-president threw the session into an uproar as Deputies shouted and fought in the aisles.

Herriot Is Re-elected

As first vice - president, Duclos would be in line to succeed the presiding officer of the Assembly if anything happened to ailing, 76-year-old Edouard Herriot, Radical Socialist former premier, who was re-elected Assembly president earlier in the same session.

Fighting also preceded the vote on the presidency which Herriot won by receiving 317 votes to 124 for Communist Raoul Calas.

Non-Communist deputies offered Duclos the third vice-presidency. This was a departure from French parliamentary tradition which in the past assured the election to the first vice-presidency of the representative of the largest party—the Communists, at present.

Duclos replied that the Communists would accept no Assembly offices—a maneuver which raised doubts among parliamentarians over the right of the Assembly to function if the various parties were not represented proportionately in Assembly offices as provided for in the constitution.

Scuffle In Darkness

During the heated debate, the session unexpectedly was declared adjourned by Communist Marcel Cachin, the temporary presiding officer.

Rightist and centrist deputies objected so violently to the adjournment that they began scuffling with ushers who blocked passage to the Communist benches.

During the turmoil most of the

Tow Boats Will Race 1,051 Miles Up Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, an. 13 (AP)—Plans are being completed for a 1,051-mile race up the Mississippi River between two giant-sized tow boats of the Federal Barge Lines.

W. G. Oliphant, general traffic manager here, said the race will start from the Huey Long bridge either tomorrow or Thursday. The craft, the Diesel-powered Helena and the steam-powered Kokoda, are expected to take 10 days to reach the finish line at St. Louis.

Oliphant said each vessel will push four barges loaded with 9,785 tons of cargo. A crew of 20 will be aboard each tow boat.

Committee Hears Petrillo Assailed By Radio Leader

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP)—James C. Petrillo was assailed as an "economic pirate" today by a radio leader who expressed "pessimism" about the chances of reaching an agreement with Petrillo by January 31 on the use of "live musicians" for the nation's networks.

The testimony was given to the House Labor Committee by Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Petrillo's contract with the networks for the use of members of his American Federation of Musicians members expires January 31 in the second phase of a series of bans laid down by Petrillo which have already halted record making.

Miller also testified that Petrillo's union asked him to intercede with President Truman to bring about a veto of the so-called Lea "Anti-Petrillo" bill. The Lea bill, passed by Congress in 1946, forbade any one to force radio stations to hire musicians they do not need.

Miller, who served for eight years as a judge in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, said he refused to intercede.

"That apparently was the basis for the breakdown of all negotiations with Petrillo," Miller said.

The witness said the "major impact of Petrillo's actions" has fallen on the smaller radio stations, because they can stand no extra burden. Testifying that 54 per cent of the country's radio stations depended entirely on recordings, which have been banned by Petrillo, he continued:

"Petrillo said to me he thought it would be a good thing if a lot of those small stations went out of business and if they couldn't hire live musicians, they had better get out."

FARGO, N. D., Jan. 13—(AP)—A passenger was killed and two trainmen injured when a Great Northern freight train plowed into a coach at the rear end of a mixed train at Walden, 35 miles northwest of Fargo, tonight. Names of the victims were not immediately available.

Red Marshal Has Cancer

Four Are Injured; Cause Undetermined

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—(AP)—Five men were killed and four injured today when an Eastern Airlines plane smashed into a wooded slope on the Maryland side of the Potomac River near here.

An exchange of communications between the plane and the control tower at National Airport, recorded by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, indicated that the pilot and passengers had no warning of the impending crash. The cause was undetermined.

The fuselage broke in two when the two-engined DC-3 hit the ground, but the craft did not burn. The pilot and co-pilot were among the dead.

The death list:

Capt. Paul Saltanis, pilot, Atlanta; Ralph B. Sanborne, Jr., co-pilot, Atlanta; William A. Moorhead, vice president and general manager of the Joanna Textile Mills, Glodville, S. C.; S. M. Warner, Clinton, S. C., and L. A. Brandt, Wilton, Conn.

The injured included Navy Capt. Lucian Moebus, Maxwell Field, Ala., head of the naval section of the air university there and wartime commander of the aircraft carrier Saratoga; Eugene G. Stone, Pensacola, Fla.; Morris Maple, Princeton, N. J., and Peter I. Philos, flight attendant on the plane.

The 21-passenger airliner was en route from Houston, Tex., to Boston, carrying the three crewmen and six passengers.

The accident occurred shortly after 4:35 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) while a light rain was falling. The ceiling was 1,400 feet and the forward visibility four miles, compared with the minimum permissible operating conditions here of 400 feet and one mile.

A farm couple head the crash and guided rescuers to the broken airplane.

11 Convicts Escape Texas Prison Farm

ANGLETON, Tex., Jan. 13—(AP)—Eleven convicts on a wood-cutting detail on the Darrington prison farm near here escaped today when the "water boy" of the working party yanked an armed guard from his horse and, joined by the other prisoners, took his gun, bound him and fled.

The search centered tonight in the Brazos River bottoms, where bloodhounds were turned loose to pick up a trail, and at Houston, to the north, where other escapees had sought refuge in the past.

Judge Niles Is Named State Fuel Co-ordinator

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 13. (AP)—Judge Emory H. Niles, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, was appointed Maryland fuel co-ordinator today by Gov. Lane.

As state co-ordinator Judge Niles will tackle the problem of equalizing the distribution of the short supply of fuel oil. He also will organize a public information campaign aimed at achieving voluntary curtailment of household consumption of fuel oil.

New York Court Says "Test Tube Baby" Legitimate

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP)—A State Supreme Court justice ruled today that a child sired by artificial insemination is legitimate and that the husband of the mother has the rights of a parent.

The ruling was made by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg who declared that a man whose wife bears a child through artificial impregnation is entitled to the same rights "as those acquired by a foster parent who has formally adopted a child."

The decision was made in the case of Mrs. Julie Strnad, 31, who had asked the court to deny her estranged husband the right to visit her four-year-old daughter, Antoinette, who she said was conceived by artificial insemination.

Followers Fear Gandhi Is Risking Life By His Fast

NEW DELHI, Jan. 13 (AP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi, who has fasted many times to advance the cause of Indian independence, began a fast for peace among Moslems, Sikhs and Hindus today.

His followers feared the 78-year-old "Father of Indian Freedom," still frail from an illness last fall, was jeopardizing his life. He spurned a last-minute appeal from several Moslem, Hindu and Sikh delegations to postpone the fast for 15 days to give the people a chance to restore peace.

Bombay was cast into gloom as news of the fast spread. Trading was suspended in seeds, cotton, bullion and stocks. Markets in Calcutta and Madras remained closed.

The president of the Bombay Provincial Moslem League declared the fast was a "challenge to every Hindu, Moslem and Sikh."

The executive of the powerful Socialist group of the Congress Party called "upon every Socialist to pledge his all for realization of communal peace and harmony and preservation of the life of the father of the nation." The resolution said it was a "matter of the deepest shame x x x that Gandhi should be compelled to take such a dire step."

Various other religious, community and political groups announced meetings to consider their course.

Gandhi missed his first meal tonight, and dispensed with his usual stroll in the garden in order to conserve his strength.

But he addressed his daily prayer meeting tonight as usual, explaining that it might be his last until the fast is ended.

Declaring last night that "death for me would be a glorious deliverance," Gandhi said he had decided to fast until "satisfied that there is a reunion of the hearts of all communities' because he did not wish to be a "helpless witness of the destruction of India, Hinduism, Sikhism and Islam."

Anderson Denies Aid Program Led To Rationing Bid

Contradicts View Of ERP Opponents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said flatly today that proposed food shipments to Europe under the "Marshall plan" have nothing to do with the administration's bid for standby power to put meat and other food under rationing and price control.

Anderson's statement, made as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee questioned him about the effect of foreign aid on the nation's larder, directly contradicted a view often expressed by opponents of the four-year European recovery program.

Republican objectors in particular have charged that there will be food shortages in this country with new demands for controls, if shipments are made to Europe on the scale proposed by President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall.

Oil Exports "Will Add Burden"

Another Cabinet member, Secretary of Interior Krug, said Europe's requirements of American coal are "relatively small" but that projected oil exports "will add a burden to our overtaxed facilities."

Yet Europe, he told the senators, "must have the minimum amounts requested from the United States if she is even to have a chance to help herself."

Answering a question by Sen. Lodge (R-Mass), Krug said the oil shortage now affecting the East Coast and other areas would exist "with or without these exports."

He said "about three percent" of the domestic oil supply would be exported under the Marshall program.

Anderson told the senators that no beef, pork or lamb would be sent abroad during the first two years of the program.

Marshall Given Checkup

"Do you mean," asked Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), "that if we have to have meat rationing, the export program would have no effect?"

"Yes. It has not relationship to this (foreign aid) program," Anderson replied. He said a meat scarcity will result from a "very large slaughter" and a short, high-priced corn crop.

Marshall, originator of the program which calls for a $6,800,000,000 expenditure in the first 15 months, took a day off and underwent a periodic physical checkup at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

Sen. Ball (R-Minn) said, meanwhile, that a group of about 20 Republican senators has planned a series of meetings to discuss the Marshall plan proposal and possibly to agree on amendments which may be offered when the bill clears the Foreign Relations Committee.

Meat Rationing Will Be Resumed In French Cities

PARIS, Jan. 13—(AP)—A spokesman for the Agriculture Ministry said meat rationing will be resumed in large French cities February 15. About 15,000,000 persons will be affected and each person will be allowed seven ounces of meat a week.

The rationing is expected to continue until June 1, when supplies are expected to improve. Meat was taken off rationing last June. The average consumption since was estimated at 2.2 pounds a week per person.

All Of Epirus Menaced By Greek Guerillas

ATHENS, Jan. 13—(AP)—A highly-placed Greek military informant in Ioannina declared today that all of Epirus was in danger of falling to the guerrilla forces of Markos Vafiades, who is striving to carve out a separate Communist state in Northern Greece.

His statement came as Dwight P. Griswold, chief administrator for the American Mission to aid Greece (AMAG), announced that the Greek government had agreed to impose bank credit controls to fight inflation and take other vigorous action "to help themselves."

New army offensive was launched against a force of 800 guerrillas on famed Mt. Parnassus, 75 miles northwest of Athens, with an amphibious operation from the Gulf of Corinth.

Old Man Winter Aims One-Two Blow At Northeast--Snow And Biting Cold

[By The Associated Press]

Winter aimed a one-two punch at the snow-harassed, north-eastern states Tuesday—heavy snow followed by biting cold.

A soggy combination of snow and rain fell in New York City throughout the day Tuesday, but forecasters said the metropolis probably will escape a four to six inch snowfall predicted earlier.

From four to six inches of new snow were forecast from Southeastern Pennsylvania northward through New England, and a provisional cold wave warning was issued for New England states, with forecasters declaring that temperatures may drop below zero in northern sections by Wednesday night. The Weather Bureau added that light frost is a possibility for Northern and Central Florida.

Bitter cold already has moved into the Midwest, and temperatures of 20 degrees below zero were forecast for Minnesota. Zero weather is expected to come as far south as Northern Illinois and Northern Iowa.

Forecasters said much of the Midwest is in for the coldest or close to the coldest weather of the season. No real relief is in prospect for at least five days.

South of the eastern snow belt heavy rains fell, drenching the Ohio Valley and Allegheny regions. A few snow flurries fell in the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were below normal in the Pacific west but southern California continued to bask in mild temperatures.

Rodzinski "Fired" As Musical Director Of Chicago Symphony

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) — Dr. Artur Rodzinski, who quit a year ago as conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, was dismissed today as musical director of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, "effective at the end of the current season."

A statement by the Orchestral Association's trustees listed disagreements with Rodzinski regarding:

1. "The number of concerts" which Rodzinski would personally conduct. During the current season the 56-year-old conductor had the number reduced first from 71 to 67, then to 62, of which he "missed" eight, the trustees said.

2. "Dissatisfaction on the part of Dr. Rodzinski with Orchestra Hall as a permanent location and with many long standing policies of the association."

Rodzinski said "I shall make no statement until I have examined the charges which apparently have been made against me — charges which I have not yet had any opportunity to meet or even to see." He was scheduled to conduct this afternoon's concert with Dame Myra

Passengers, Crewmen Removed From Vessels

SEATTLE, Jan. 13 (AP) — The 15 passengers and crewmen of the small steamer Aleutian Mail and an unnamed number of crew members aboard a foundering Army barge in Western Alaska waters all were rescued late today, messages to the Coast Guard here reported.

The Coast Guard cutter Cedar radioed it had evacuated the 15 aboard the Aleutian Mail and would take them to Sand Point, Alaska, on Popof Island, 50 miles away. The vessel, which grounded on Unimak Island early yesterday and then floated free was taken in tow. It had reported after going adrift that its personnel was in danger.

Earlier, fishing craft took the crew off the BSP 1927, a self-propelled Army barge which had also run aground, floated free and at noon (PST) had messaged it would remain afloat less than an hour.

Old Coins Worth $6,000 Uncovered In Monterey, Calif., Gold "Strike"

MONTEREY, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—Monterey's gold "strike" continued to flourish today.

About $6,000 in 50-year-old $20 gold pieces so far have been taken from an excavation.

One youngster today found $740 worth.

Some coins have been found individually. Others were packed in glass jars and tin cans in a lot being excavated for an addition to a school. The property originally was owned by Will Martin, wealthy pioneer, who died in 1913. The $20 gold pieces date back to the 1880's.

Strong arm operators have appeared on the scene.

Last night, Bill Thrasher, 13, and Raymond Ellis, 14, found a few $20 coins. A man who said he was a detective demanded the money and the youngsters gave the coins to him. Later they found a fruit jar full of gold pieces. Fearful that someone would take the coins from them, they hid the jar in a sewer. When they went for it later it was gone. They think the "detective" saw them hide it.

As excavation work was resumed today, 12-year-old Mike Maiorana saw the top of a can showing through the soil. When he started to dig, a dozen other "prospectors" jumped him.

Nick Marazzo, operator of a bulldozer on the project, ran his machine over the spot, turned off his motor and called police. They cleared the area.

Marazzo backed the bulldozer away.

Mike dug for the can and recovered 37 of the $20 gold pieces.

He gave two each to five construction workers who had helped him protect his "strike" from interlopers.

Mike went home under a police escort.

Jewish Border Village Again Is Raided By Arabs

JERUSALEM, Jan. 13 (AP)—Arabs slashed again at a Jewish settlement in Northern Galilee and Jewish dynamite squads blasted Arab sniping posts on the outskirts of Jerusalem today in unabated Holy Land warfare.

A Jewish Agency spokesman hinted that if the Arbs persist in their siege of 1,500 Jews in the Jewish quarter of the old city the ancient walls surrounding the city would be blown up "with plenty of innocent people killed."

New deaths today brought to 710 the unofficial death toll since the United Nations decision on November 29 in favor of partitioning Palestine.

An official announcement said about 30 Arabs fired upon the Lahavoth settlement in the Lake Hula district of Northern Galilee, in the same area where Arab raiders crossed the Syrian border for a similar assault last week.

An official announcement said British troops from Metullah who reached Lahavoth in two light scout cars drove the Arabs off in a battle that lasted an hour and a half.

The Arabs left one dead and withdrew toward the Syrian border, the announcement added. The origin of the raiders was not given.

Four heavy and four light armored cars and a platoon of paratroopers are "standing by in the area," officials said. The British made representations to Syria after tribesmen swooped over the border on January 9 and opened fire from the hills upon the settlements of Dan and Kfar Szold.

The Jewish squads launched their attack upon the Arab sniping posts on the Sheikh Jarrah area on the outskirts of Jerusalem after midnight and 26 separate explosions reverberated through the sleeping city.

Sixteen small houses were damaged and a three-story house was set ablaze by Jews who threw grenades and "Molotov cocktails," informants said. No casualties occurred.

Herriott said Cachin was within his rights in adjourning the session. No Assembly leader, however, was certain of the constitutional status of the Assembly if the Communists continue tomorrow to refuse legislative office.

Ice Runway Laid To Enroll Plane To Land Safely

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Forty persons aboard a Northwest Airlines DC-4 were brought to safety in a dramatic emergency landing today on a specially-built ice runway at the Twin Cities' Wold-Chamberlain airport.

For three hours, the DC-4 circled the airport while Air Forces firemen laid an ice-runway to enable the plane with crippled landing gear to make its descent.

Trucks Derail Train; No One Injured Seriously

ATLANTA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Several cars of the Southern Railway's heavily-loaded all-Pullman, Atlanta to New York train No. 40, were derailed by a collision with two trucks at a suburban crossing tonight but apparently no one was badly hurt.

Dekalb County Police Officer Paul Smith quoted a report from two patrolmen at the scene that "a number of persons were pretty badly shaken up but nobody was seriously injured." A nearby veterans hospital reported that "seven or eight" persons were brought in for treatment of minor hurts.

The collision occurred at the Chamblee crossing 13 miles north of Atlanta. The trucks were attached to the naval air station at Chamblee and a station spokesman said all their occupants jumped clear of the wreckage and were not hurt.

Complaint Issued Against Printers

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today issued a charge of unfair labor practices against the AFL Chicago Typographical Union whose members have been on strike against six big Chicago daily newspapers since November 24.

The complaint was signed by George J. Bott, regional NLRB director, on behalf of Robert N. Denham, general NLRB counsel. It was based on charges made by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association.

The complaint alleged the Local 16 of the CTN and International Typographical Union violated sections of the Taft-Hartley law which provide it is an unfair labor practice for a union to:

(1) Restrain or coerce employes in their right to bargain collectively and engage in concerted activities for mutual aid or protection or in their right to refrain from such activities.

(2) Cause or attempt to cause an employer to discriminate against an employe in regard to hire, tenure of employment or conditions of employment.

(3) Refuse to bargain collectively with an employed when the labor organization is the designated representative of employes in question.

Nearly 1,700 ITU printers left their posts on the Chicago Tribune, Sun, News, Times, Herald-American and Journal of Commerce after a stalemate in negotiations.

Committee Action Holds Up Kuter's Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board was still without a chairman today as the Senate Armed Services Committee refused to clear the way for Senate approval of President Truman's nominee.

The committee rejected a bill which would permit Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter to retain his military rank and pay while serving on the CAB.

Chairman Gurney (R-SC) emphasized to newsmen that the committee's action was no reflection on Kuter's record. He said the committee "felt it would establish a precedent to appoint military men to civilian positions."

Young Mother Admits She Strangled Her Son

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 13 — (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Fitzhugh, 22, signed a written statement today that she strangled her three-year-old son with a diaper after days of worry over family finances, Chief of Detectives J. R. Norrell announced.

Norrell said Mrs. Fitzhugh told officers an insurance policy for $1,000 was in effect on the child, Johnny Fitzhugh.

Alexander Fitzhugh, father of the boy, was at work on his job as an electrician for a steel company at the time of the boy's death.

Norrell said when officers arrived, the mother told them "a burglar did it."

The Senate committee recessed the investigation after hearing Graham testify today.

Graham remarked that he was "sorry" he had said, when his commodity dealings were first disclosed, that he had "lost my socks." He explained that he was thinking of the loss he suffered in stocks.

Graham said he got out of the commodity markets December 18 and then told President Truman about it. He didn't relate his words with the President, but, he added in a low voice:

"It was pretty rugged that day.

Committee Action Holds Up Kuter's Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board was still without a chairman today as the Senate Armed Services Committee refused to clear the way for Senate approval of President Truman's nominee.

The committee rejected a bill which would permit Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter to retain his military rank and pay while serving on the CAB.

Chairman Gurney (R-SC) emphasized to newsmen that the committee's action was no reflection on Kuter's record. He said the committee "felt it would establish a precedent to appoint military men to civilian positions."

Young Mother Admits She Strangled Her Son

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 13 — (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Fitzhugh, 22, signed a written statement today that she strangled her three-year-old son with a diaper after days of worry over family finances, Chief of Detectives J. R. Norrell announced.

Norrell said Mrs. Fitzhugh told officers an insurance policy for $1,000 was in effect on the child, Johnny Fitzhugh.

Alexander Fitzhugh, father of the boy, was at work on his job as an electrician for a steel company at the time of the boy's death.

Norrell said when officers arrived, the mother told them "a burglar did it."

Rodzinski Fired

Hess, British pianist, as soloist, but at the last moment the Orchestral Association announced Rodzinski's illness and his replacement on the podium by Tauno Hannikainen, assistant director.

Rodzinski succeeded the Belgian conductor, Desire Defauw, as musical head of the Chicago organization at the start of the 1947-48 season. Since that time he has had several bouts of illness and recently was hospitalized for a time with pleurisy.

Dr. Cyrus H. Adams, vice president of the Chicago Orchestral Association, said at a news conference that there had been no discussion of a successor to the dismissed conductor.

Lane Inducted Into VFW

questions from time to time during the interim.

"The first one is this:

"'Do you still pretend, Mr. Stassen, that you have disclosed, or are able to disclose, anything about my commodity transactions — all of which have been completely legal and ethical—that has not already been made known by me to the Senate committe?'"

The Senate committee recessed the investigation after hearing Graham testify today.

Graham remarked that he was "sorry" he had said, when his commodity dealings were first disclosed, that he had "lost my socks." He explained that he was thinking of the loss he suffered in stocks.

Graham said he got out of the commodity markets December 18 and then told President Truman about it. He didn't relate his words with the President, but, he added in a low voice:

"It was pretty rugged that day."

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

If you're interested in thieves—and who isn't—I'd suggest you dig up an old book called "The Big Con". It was written by a college professor and it's an expose' of the fancy swindles practiced by our better confidence men.

Billy Rose

It covers everything from the easy "Tap Game" (two confederates matching quarters with a stranger) to the complicated shenanigans involved in setting up "The Big Store" (a fake horse room or brokerage establishment. The professor devotes a lot of words to the clothes and manners of some of our outstanding gentlemen crooks, and by the middle of the book you sense he's been charmed by them and almost wishes the police wouldn't molest them.

Well, I've known a lot of these bums in my thousand weeks on Broadway, and I can't go along with the professor's pretty words about them. Having been schooled in schools other than Harvard, I've never been impressed by their custom-made shoes and initialed linen. Their use of con and conversation instead of the jimmy and the blackjack never fooled me into thinking they were glamour guys. I laughed at their stories, but always kept my money in my shoe.

• — • — •

The only story I know in which one of these Robber Hoods emerges as a hero concerns itself with a gent I'll call Barney Brewster. (I'd rather not use Barney's square monicker because he's still around, and I don't relish having my arm twisted.) Strangely enough, the story about Barney has to do with Father Love.

For years Brewster has been trading on the willingness of the average citizen to make a dishonest dollar. With slight variations, his technique is as follows:

One of his accomplices known as the "outsideman" or "roper"—strikes up an acquaintance with a likely "mark." The roper entertains the victim and gets his confidence. Somewhere along the line, he tells him of a chance to make an easy killing—a block of stock they can buy from an old man who doesn't know its real value, a crooked telegrapher who will tip them off on a winning horse before the results are flashed over the wires, a truckload of hot furs that some thieves must dispose of etc., etc. If the victim is an honest man, the game doesn't work. But he seldom is. He usually begs for a chance to participate in the swindle. He is then introduced to the alleged principal, and he and the roper make their investments.

For years Barney Brewster has made an elegant living portraying old men, crooked telegraphers, fur thieves, and similar characters.

The last act in this larcenous drama is the most important—"Kissing the Sucker Goodbye," getting the victim to accept his loss without complaining to the police. This sometimes involves play acting worthy of the Barrymores. The victim and the roper call on Brewster and accuse him of robbing them. This meeting is generally held late at night in some suburban bungalow. Brewster denies the charge. The roper calls him names. In a carefully rehearsed scene, the roper loses his head, pulls out a revolver, and shoots Brewster. Brewster falls to the floor with red ink or ketchup from a concealed bladder squirting all over his shirt front. The roper and the victim hot-foot it out of the bungalow, and the victim, afraid of being involved in a murder rap, usually takes the first train back home.

After steering clear of the police for years, Barney Brewster finally got into trouble. And it had nothing to do with a beefing victim. The trouble involved his only son, Freddie. Barney had sent his kid to Princeton and was anxious for him to be a doctor. He had carefully concealed the family's source of income, and as far as he knew, Freddie thought his father was a salesman whose work kept him on the road most of the time.

Late one summer Freddie told Barney he wasn't going back to Princeton. He had found out how his father got his crackers and caviar, and thought it a much more interesting way of making a living than being a doctor. Barney didn't argue. He was too smart for that. "Okay, Freddie," he said. "I'll let you take a crack at it. The next time we hook a real sucker, I'll let you stand in for me and we'll see how you handle yourself. The roper may have to take a shot at you to make it look convincing, but don't let it frighten you. There'll be blanks in his gun, and I'll show you how to handle the ketchup bladder."

A few nights later, one of Barney's ropers introduced the kid to a mark who wanted to invest $10,000 in a consignment of hot furs. Togged out in corduroy pants and a turtle neck sweater, Freddie handled himself in a way that even impressed the roper.

• — • — •

The following week, the schedule called for the last act of the drama—the fake shooting to scare the sucker into taking a train. Freddie waited for the roper and his victim in the suburban bangalow his father generally used for these scenes. The roper and the investor made their entrance on cue, and for the first five minutes, it all went off as rehearsed. The roper accused Freddie of double-crossing them, calling him names, and whipped out a gun.

And then something happened which Freddie hadn't rehearsed with the roper.

The victim also pulled out a gun and began shooting. And six or seven shots later, before Freddie even had a chance to squeeze his ketchup bladder, the roper was on the floor all covered with blood.

"I knew he was double-crossing me all the time," said the victim as he dropped his gun and dashed out of the bungalow.

When Freddie saw his accomplice on the floor dripping blood, he lammed right back to town and told his papa what had happened. Barney told the kid to take it easy, that he would try to cover up for him, and that he'd better hide out for the next year or so. He suggested that a university like Princeton would be the last place the cops were apt to look for him.

Freddie has since hung out his doctor's shingle on West 51st Street, and it's my guess he doesn't know to this day that the victim who pretended to shoot the roper was also a member of his father's gang.

Police Work On Daylight Holdup Here Commendable

The apprehension of five members of a gang of eight within three hours after a bold daylight holdup and attempted robbery in front of one of Cumberland's largest food markets is the kind of policing which can make a city proud of its safety and law enforcement department.

Credit for the speedy capture of the quintet goes to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya. Picking up a trail of the fugitives at a point where they were thought to have crossed a bridge into West Virginia from Maryland within minutes after the stickup, the police chief and his aide traveled the route believed taken by two cars suspected of carrying the thugs. The trail led into Romney, W. Va., but it was not until the officers had turned back toward Cumberland that the chase bore fruit. One of the two suspected cars was overtaken near Burlington where four of the hunted men and their attractive girl companion had been forced to halt their flight when a tire of their car went flat.

The speed by which a confession was secured from one of the ringleaders—after the five had been returned to Cumberland—that he had participated in the holdup of the Cumberland market employe, who was believed by them to have been in possession of a large sum of money, and which definitely pinned the crime on those in custody, furnished a climax to the splendid piece of police work which brought about the rapid solution of the crime.

This was presumed to be the century of the common man. Now almost half over, he must be wondering how.

Our State Department Censorship Toward China

George Marshall is a very busy man these days, but if he wishes to avert an explosion in Congress at the expense of the State Department he will look into the so-called "Information Service" now being furnished the Chinese people by the department's anti-Chiang clique.

The U. S. Information Service is operated in the name of a country whose constitution guarantees free speech and a free press. But the USIS bulletins would do credit to the censorship and propaganda boys who used to operate in Berlin and Rome and to those who still carry on in Moscow. The editors evidently do not like Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. For that reason they oppose American aid, economic or military, to the Nanking government. Naturally, they were delighted when Gen. Marshall returned from his China mission with an unfavorable report on Chiang's government, and they are quite satisfied with our current do-nothing policy in China.

Under pressure from Congress, the Administration is about to change that policy. President Truman admitted in his annual message that a relief program for China will be laid before Congress. But the anti-Chiang clique in the State Department is still doing business at the same old stand. Under the guise of official "information," they put out bulletins, widely circulated in China, which indicates that American public opinion is opposed to Chiang. This is done by quoting at length unfriendly editorials and suppressing or playing down the far greater number of friendly comments on the Nanking government.

The prime example of State Department censorship was the USIS handling of the recent testimony before a Senate committee from Gen. Wedemeyer, whose China report is still suppressed by Secretary Marshall. Wedemeyer urged Congress to give immediate economic and military aid to the Nationalist government. That plea was not mentioned in the USIS bulletin reporting Wedemeyer's testimony. He also said that while Chiang might be a "benevolent despot," he is a "fine character and the logical leader of China today," who served the Allied cause greatly by his long fight against Japan and will continue to fight Communism whether we help him or not. The USIS bulletin quoted only Wedemeyer's reference to Chiang as a "despot."

This is sheer lying, in the Pravda manner. It confirms the worst public suspicions of Government-controlled news in any form. If it is allowed to go on, under the authority of the State Department, it will discredit all our Government information services abroad, including he "Voice of America" broadcasts.

The earth is to be resurveyed for size. It would not be surprising if it also were found to be out of shape in some places.

Combating A Menace

Colorado is engaged in an all-out drive to abolish hitchhiking. Like some other states, Colorado has a law forbidding hitchhiking, but it has never before been enforced. Now the governor has instructed the state highway patrol to break it up.

The immediate reason for this action is a wave of crime in which hitchhikers have been involved. Five murders involving Colorado residents in less than a year and uncounted robberies and car thefts have been charged to hitchhikers.

Ride moochers have become a nuisance everywhere, in addition to the risk drivers take when they pick up the thumbers. Frequently they stand brazenly on the highway, thus creating a traffic hazard, and in most instances a little inquiry discloses that they are merely youths on the loose, instead of travelers on a legitimate errand.

Colorado is the first state to attack the menace of hitchhiking in a manner that should bring results. Signs are being placed on main highways in every section of the state warning motorists that hitchhiking is unlawful and involves danger to drivers.

Whether this will be followed by a sustained drive to break up the practice, or whether there will be a great to-do for a few weeks, followed by abandonment of the objective remains to be seen. That is the usual pattern. At any rate, law enforcement officials of other states, which have had experience similar to that of Colorado with hitchhikers, are watching the Colorado crusade with interest.

Perhaps the days of the hitchhiker are numbered.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Rats To Blame

A DISTURBANCE in the liver or obstruction to the flow of bile is usually responsible for jaundice. In this malady the skin turns yellow. So do the whites of the eyes — the only way in which the condition can be recognized in individuals with dark complexions.

One of the most unusual types of jaundice is Weil's disease. This ailment is caused by an organism bearing one of the longest names in medicine — leptospira icterhemorrhagiae. The term is not as bad as it seems and is quite descriptive. "Leptospira" denotes that it is a microscopic, wormshaped germ; the prefix "ictero" refers to jaundice; and "hemorrhagiae" signifies that hemorrhages are present. Patients with this condition have all the signs of a flulike infection; later, the skin becomes yellow and dotted with black and blue areas.

Man devilops the disorder through contact with rats. Ten per cent of these rodents harbor the spirochete and discharge them into water where they remain alive for at least three weeks. As a result, those who are employed in damp, rat-infested places are likely to become victims. It is a potential hazard, therefore, to miners, sewer workers, fish cleaners, tunnel diggers, sugar cane cutters, and laborers in rice fields. One of the largest epidemics was reported in Rotterdam among persons who had fallen accidentally into dirty canals or swam in an infected pool.

Ten days after contact the patient suddenly exhibits chills, fever, nausea, and vomiting. The temperature rises rapidly to 104 degrees F. or more and the body's surface feels hot and dry. Muscular aching is often distressing and pain may be noted in the right, upper portion of the abdomen in the liver region. Hemorrhages beneath the epidermis sometimes offer the first clew as to what is wrong.

Between the second and fifth day, jaundice appears. At this stage, the sufferer is extremely ill. The liver enlarges and becomes tender and urinalysis reveals that the kidneys are involved also; now and then pneumonia ensues. The crisis is usually reached by the second week, at which time the ailment either proves fatal or spontaneous healing occurs. The majority recover and convalescence may take from four to six weeks. Good nursing care is required including a nourishing diet, high in carbohydrates and proteins. An immunizing serum may be helpful and penicillin has been used with encouraging results.

By eating sufficient calories your system will be able to produce the proper amount of energy to keep you warm. Fats are extremely high in calories but are not as palatable as proteins and carbohydrates. In general, foods such as meat, eggs, cheese, butter, and gravies are advised. On the other hand, since we are trying to conserve food, it might be better to wear warmer clothes.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The both sessions of Congress opened January 6th. Congress didn't really have to meet. It's just that the weather man figured it was the only thing that would melt those heavy snows in the east.

But I know why the Senators went back to Washington. They wanted to get away from home before the Christmas bills came.

Dewey, Taft, and Stassen are nervous about the Republican campaign. When they arrived in Washington they kept asking Vandenberg what was in the cards, and if they should deal a hand to MacArthur.

The big debate will be over income tax. Congress may make March 15 a national holiday. They'll call it "Declaration of Dependents' Day."

One Republican made an important speech about foreign aid and high taxes. He paused in the middle of his speech and asked a Democrat how he was doing. The Democrat just looked up and said, "Please, not while I'm sleeping."

After this session, President Truman has something better than the veto. He's going to send Senator Pepper over and have the Republicans sneeze themselves into exhaustion before the bill is passed.

This year he isn't worried about November. So many Republicans are throwing their hats in the ring. He can make more money going back into the haberdashery business selling them the hats.

Cold War With Russia Not Won; Danger of War With Soviets Continues; Air Chief Spaatz Claims Reds Are Preparing For Conflict

Says DREW PEARSON

(Editor's note: This is the second of Drew Pearsons' columns on the most important problem facing the country—the danger of war with Russia.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Some observers have come back from Europe recently saying that the cold war has been won. I do not agree.

Russian-inspired Communism, it is true, has taken some severe jolts in France and Italy, where attempted strikes, riots and revolution failed. But they already are being revived. And everyone who knows the Soviet system also knows that when the boys in the politburo take a defeat on one front it only increases their determination to score a victory on another.

So not only will they take more and tougher punches at France and Italy, but already Soviet preparations for eventual we-don't-know-what have intensified in other areas.

Meeting with a group of Senators not long ago, Chief Of the Air Forces Gen. "Touhy" Spaatz revealed:

1. The Red Army now has taken over German jet-plane plants and developed jet-propelled planes which are faster than those built by the U. S. Army.

2. The Russians have improved on the German buzz-bomb to a point where they now are producing a deadly controlled missile that will travel between 1,700 and 1,800 miles, whereas the imperfectly controlled German buzz-bombs merely flew across the English Channel.

3. The Russians, according to General Spaatz, have complete information about the location, size and production capacity of every air plant in the United States, to say nothing of landing fields, control towers and other aviation facilities.

Russia Prepares For War

Even if we assume that General Spaatz was subject to the usual exuberance of a military man, the fact is inescapable that at the last Russian military maneuvers, six new types of jet planes were flown in view of foreign military attaches —the Ilyushin, Yakovlev, Sukhov, Tupelev and Lavochkin, and Mikoyan.

It is also a fact that French, Italian, and German war prisoners released from Russia all tell the same story—of feverish war production behind the Ural mountains; of demobilized Soviet troops instructed to remain under military supervision to work in munitions factories because a new war is impending—the last great inevitable conflict between communism and the forces of fascism.

It is also a fact that most German prisoners are being kept in Russia to work in these factories and that only prisoners no longer fit for physical labor are being returned to Germany.

Reliable intelligence reports also tell of intensive air-base building in Eastern Siberia with 51 fields in that general area, six being on the Bearing sea nearest Alaska. It is also known that the Russians now have acquired and perhaps refined all the secrets of the German submarine, including the Nazi "snorkel." This is a device allowing subs to run constantly under water, without coming up to the surface to recharge batteries. Toward the end of the war the Germans had rubberized their subs so that radar could not detect them, had installed miraculous new motors and were using canvas breathers which extend just above the water and are extremely hard to see.

All of these secrets the Russians now have, and some of their 256 submarines have been sighted around Greenland, Kiska and only 300 miles from Pearl Harbor.

These are some of the belligerent preparations on Moscow's side which worry the United States.

U. S. Prepares Also

On the other hand, certain military preparations in the United States probably are causing worry in Moscow.

Last summer, for instance, Secretary Of the Army Royall released a report calling for the use of natural caverns and abandoned mines for underground aircraft factories in the United States. And while Secretary Royall would have been remiss had he not warned of the need for protecting air factories, and while U. S. military preparations are far less offensive than the Russians', nevertheless Moscow uses them to try to keep the Russian people in a constant state of jitters. Whether the Russian generals themselves are also jittery is not known.

However, there is one small school of thought in the United States which does give the politburo legitimate reason for worry—namely the school which believes that the United States should wage a "preventive" war now rather than a defensive war later.

It is no secret to the Russians that such a school does exist in the United States and that it is headed by the chief military adviser to the president—Adm. William D. Leahy.

Admiral Leahy and Russia

It was a well-known fact that Admiral Leahy constantly goaded Jimmy Byrnes, when the latter was secretary of state, on the charge that he was too conciliatory toward Russia. In fact, it as Leahy who had most to do with easing Byrnes out of the State Department.

It is also known that at times Leahy has considered General Marshall too weak toward the Russians and has taken steps to toughen him up.

Few outsiders realize how great a role the Admiral plays in American foreign affairs. For instance, when the Truman plan for aid to Greece and Turkey was first prepared in the State Department and was sent over to the White House, it did not contain any provision for military aid. When it came back from the White House, it contained a plan for U. S. military aid to Greece. Admiral Leahy had inserted it.

Most important in Leahy's background, however, is that when chief of naval operations in 1937 he sold Franklin Roosevelt on the idea that a preventive blockade of Japan could stop what was sure to be eventual war in the Pacific.

And it was Leahy who worked out the master plan for Roosevelt's "quarantine" speech in Chicago, plus the attempt to mobilize the peace machinery of the League of Nations and the nine-power pact to break the Japanese military machine.

Leahy Was Right

Undoubtedly Admiral Leahy at that time was right. Undoubtedly if Cordell Hull hadn't got cold feet, and if Roosevelt had followed through, the United States would have faced the Japanese crisis at a time when it was ready and prepared, instead of five years later with war on every front and when the Japanese were ready and prepared.

It is no secret that Admiral Leahy now proposes applying the same general strategy to Russia. In other words, if there is to be eventual war, he would pick the time and place rather than let the Russians do the picking. And he would pick it early, when the United States is better prepared, rather than later.

Put in blunt, cold words, that is the heart of the Russian problem in the minds of some of our top military strategists. Whether they are right or not, and what are the alternatives in this most important of all questions will be discussed in future Washington Merry-Go-Round columns.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Love Of Liberty

THE SPIRIT of man is not yet dead if men will give their lives for liberty. In spite of every betrayal and the beastly persecution of a police state, the Polish underground, that worked so effectively during the war, is being reassembled. It is not as efficient as the wartime body because the German was never as brutal as the Russian—but the Polish underground exists and it speaks to the Polish people and stirs their imaginations and their hopes.

These Poles risk more than we can imagine, but in many ways not more than the Jews in Palestine who pit their little strength against so many countries, against Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Syria, Egypt, Yemen, even against Pakistan, the newly liberated country that begins its career with oppression. Those Jews are upsetting many apple-carts but they are willing to die for what they believe is a just cause.

They are making unbelievable sacrifices for a life of freedom. They reject enslavement and accept poverty, daring, hardship, hunger and even death for freedom.

In China, the very desperation of the Nationalist Government has given men pause to weigh in the balance the danger of a foreign foe. Chinese who toyed with little politics and personal careers are beginning to ask whether the worst they can say about the Kuomintang is not better than subjection to a foreign country. There will be a resurrection of nationalism in China and it will come with the Spring.

For a moment, time, as it were, stood still and there was much talk of One World. Nationalism became curiously unpopular. During the war, in this country, there were no nationalistic demonstrations, no new patriotic songs, no emotions aroused by poetry or oratory for love of country. The idea was that sovereignty would be limited and that ultimately great countries would be reduced to mere provinces of a union of countries. That passed like a wind on a desert.

For it did not take us long to discover that One World really meant an enslaved world, a vetoed world, a dominated world. It did not take us too long to learn that the nations that had lost their nationality during and after the war also lost the liberties of their people. They became shackled to the wheels of the great conqueror, the satrap of mankind. And those who dared to raise their voices for liberty were crushed or exiled, or exiled first and then crushed.

Whichever way it went, freedom disappeared and death stalked the earth more after the war than during the days of battle. The war itself lost all meaning in the criminal betrayal of liberty and hope at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam.

And so, the flag of the nation took on new meaning, so full a meaning that many who had married abroad and had become citizens of other countries, sought to restore their American citizenship. It was not only a question of security but even more of liberty. An increasingly large number of all sort of refugees and exiles from numerous alien lands sought American citizenship that their liberties could be protected. Some of the leading lights of those countries have found in American citizenship the only sanctuary for a continuance of their life work in freedom.

Among these latter ones are some who still prattle about internationalism. And if you were to ask the internationalists whether they would prefer a United Nations or a One World certificate of citizenship to the little piece of paper that makes them Americans, they would, I am sure, recall their danger—the danger to their liberties—and wave the flag even more wildly than you or I.

Nationalism is an optimistic portend. It is a constructive association. For more than a decade, those who placed love of country highest upon the list of their ideals were called isolationists, nationalists, re actionaries. Today they are Americans. For the cycle has changed and One World has been recognized as the slogan of those who, for one reason or another, dared not glory in their own.

That day is passed. Today nationalism again drives men and women to heroic deeds of patriotism; it stirs men to give their blood for liberty.

Truman's Policy To Spend And Spend Poses Serious Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—What's forty billion dollars! The federal budget of expenses proposed by President Truman for that amount is just about eight times what the government collected in 1939.

It is more than twice all the profits made by American industry in the year 1947.

It is thirteen billion dollars more than the entire federal public debt at the close of World War I.

It is more than the entire national income in the year 1933.

It is more than four times the federal budget in 1939.

It is nearly eight billions more than the 1942 budget which included the first year of the war.

The colossal sums in the President's recommendation are intended to be spent in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1948 and ending June 30, 1949 This means that four years after the close of World War II the government of the United States is spending at a higher rate than at any time in its peacetime history.

Drain of Dangerous Proportions

Much more important than the sums to be expended is the size of the tax collections. Approximately 45 billions are to be taken out of the national income in taxes and other receipts. This is such a substantial part of the money earned by the people that it constitutes a drain of dangerous proportions.

It is considered by many economists to be hazardous when the government extracts as much as 20 per cent of the national income for taxes. Assuming a national income of $200,000,000,000 the federal government will be drawing out of the stream of national income more than 20 per cent.

What is most disconcerting about the President's budget, however, is that it exceeds the 1948 budget by $2,000,000,000. How long can the federal government go on increasing its expenses at that rate per year?

The risk is that the federal budget may increase fears of a maladjustment in the whole economic situation. There is a tendency to lose confidence in a government which keeps on spending and spending and taxing and taxing. Certainly the system of private initiative gives way to state socialism and government programs of nationalization when taxes become so burdensome as to make it impossible for individuals to save for investment purposes.

Unless a market for risk capital is provided, many enterprises in business will be compelled to restrict their operations and start laying off employees.

Sigh of Approaching Trouble

The most depressing aspect of the whole problem is that the federal government shows no signs of putting its house in order. This is a sign of approaching trouble in any government. It is true that for the fiscal year 1948 a surplus of $7,000,000,000 is indicated and for 1949 about $5,000,000,000. But the fact that the administration has made no provision for tax reductions and wants to use these surpluses to retire debt without relief to individual taxpayers in the investor class will mean deflation in the midst of inflation.

Unfortunately it will tend to restrict credit at the banks and discourage business from getting money in the capital markets generally. The deflation may set off a spiral of curtailment sometime in 1948 which may not be offset by the huge amount of tax-reduction bonuses designed by Mr. Truman for distribution among those in the low-income groups.

The announcement of the federal budget will send a wave of discouragement throughout the business and industrial sections of America and intensify the drive to get Congress to cut the budget by several billion dollars.

It is true that a billion dollars today buys much less than it did in 1939 so that in terms of prewar dollars the budget would probably be around $25,000,000,000 but even this is a big expenditure for the federal government to be making as against $12,770,000,000 in 1941.

The President's huge budget will, of course, become a political issue in the campaign. It would seem that Mr. Truman might at least have tried to present a budget of expenses less than last year. His willingness to raise it by $2,000,000,000 must mean that he is confident the American people don't care how high the expenses of the federal government do go.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(INS)—The suppression of the fundamental rights of oleomargarine producers and retailers constitutes an astonishing sidelight on the power and persuasion of congressional lobbies.

The dairymen's mob in Washing- has gotten away with plenty through the years and probably still would be sitting pretty if the price of butter had not skyrocketed out of hand.

The late great Joe Jacobs once hollered, "We wuz robbed" when his battler, Max Schmeling, blew a duke to Jack Sharkey. His voice sounded through the land. Now the margarine people are making similar screams heard. They've got a yell coming.

Margarine is the only food product which is controlled and regulated by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The industry has been booted around like a satellite state since 1886, when the dairy people—fearful that the stuff would replace butter—got Congress to pass some legislation which is hard to believe, when exposed to the light.

A tax of 10 cents a pound was nearly imposed on margarine at the start of its long fight for popularity —and that would have killed it a-borning. The tax was changed to two cents, but other levies were piled on. Today the very color of the product regulates the tax.

Other Restrictions

Here are other restrictions:

Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers must secure licenses which cost $600, $480 and $48 respectively. Manufacturers must post a bond of from $5,000 to $100,000 depending on the amount of margarine produced.

Charitable institutions, hospitals or similar organizations coloring margarine for their own use are classified as "manufacturers" and must pay the manufacturer's tax.

Margarine factory premises must be separated by "a solid wall" from premises on which butter or similar products are manufactured.

The word "oleomargarine" on containers must not be less than three quarters of an inch high. Only gothic letters may be used. The manufacturer also is forbidden to use hair-line, shaded or outlined letters.

Over the principal entrance to each building in which margarine is produced, the manufacturer must conspicuously display a sign showing the name in which the business is conducted, the kind of business and a factory number.

The color of margarine cartons and packages must not be so strong as to conflict with the letter.

On shipping cartons, the word "oleomargarine" must be at least 3½ inches in length printed in gothic letters on both front and back panels.

Directions on cartons or wrappers for coloring margarine are forbidden unless it is specified that this can be done tax free only by a private family. If a private family has a paying guest, it is liable as a "manufacturer."

All Cartons Must Be Approved

The Bureau of Internal Revenue must approve all cartons and wrappers.

Wholesalers are forbidden to sell margarine to retail dealers directly off their trucks as in the case of other foods. An order must first be submitted in writing to the wholesaler's main office where it must be recorded for government inspection.

A retail dealer is forbidden to sell more than 10 pounds of margarine at one time from an original package under penalty of a $1,000 fine. He also is forbidden to sell margarine in less than one pound quantities.

Retailers are forbidden to use margarine cartons in displays or to fold the top of a package back unless the large letters "oleomargarine" are in no way obscured.

The tax on yellow margarine jumped from two cents a pound to a dime in 1902, while the uncolored product was taxed ¼th of a cent a pound. Those fees remain in effect today.

Yellow Margarine Almost Banned

The 1902 congressional pressure virtually exterminated yellow margarine, but the margarine people came up with a natural yellow product. The dairymen's lobby cracked down again and margarine, whether naturally or artificially colored, was slapped with the 10 cents a pound tax.

In addition, the new code specified that margarine would be considered in violation of the law if it contained more than 1.6 degrees of yellow or yellow and red collectively. Today, an elaborate series of testing equipment and color charts are maintained by the revenue bureau to determine this, and several pages of the law are devoted to specific directions for carrying out any such tests.

The margarine people better call a cop. No, they'd better call a lobby.

Police Work On Daylight Holdup Here Commendable

The apprehension of five members of a gang of eight within three hours after a bold daylight holdup and attempted robbery in front of one of Cumberland's largest food markets is the kind of policing which can make a city proud of its safety and law enforcement department.

Credit for the speedy capture of the quintet goes to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya. Picking up a trail of the fugitives at a point where they were thought to have crossed a bridge into West Virginia from Maryland within minutes after the stickup, the police chief and his aide traveled the route believed taken by two cars suspected of carrying the thugs. The trail led into Romney, W. Va., but it was not until the officers had turned back toward Cumberland that the chase bore fruit. One of the two suspected cars was overtaken near Burlington where four of the hunted men and their attractive girl companion had been forced to halt their flight when a tire of their car went flat.

The speed by which a confession was secured from one of the ringleaders—after the five had been returned to Cumberland—that he had participated in the holdup of the Cumberland market employe, who was believed by them to have been in possession of a large sum of money, and which definitely pinned the crime on those in custody, furnished a climax to the splendid piece of police work which brought about the rapid solution of the crime.

This was presumed to be the century of the common man. Now almost half over, he must be wondering how.

Our State Department Censorship Toward China

George Marshall is a very busy man these days, but if he wishes to avert an explosion in Congress at the expense of the State Department he will look into the so-called "Information Service" now being furnished the Chinese people by the department's anti-Chiang clique.

The U. S. Information Service is operated in the name of a country whose constitution guarantees free speech and a free press. But the USIS bulletins would do credit to the censorship and propaganda boys who used to operate in Berlin and Rome and to those who still carry on in Moscow. The editors evidently do not like Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. For that reason they oppose American aid, economic or military, to the Nanking government. Naturally, they were delighted when Gen. Marshall returned from his China mission with an unfavorable report on Chiang's government, and they are quite satisfied with our current do-nothing policy in China.

Under pressure from Congress, the Administration is about to change that policy. President Truman admitted in his annual message that a relief program for China will be laid before Congress. But the anti-Chiang clique in the State Department is still doing business at the same old stand. Under the guise of official "information," they put out bulletins, widely circulated in China, which indicates that American public opinion is opposed to Chiang. This is done by quoting at length unfriendly editorials and suppressing or playing down the far greater number of friendly comments on the Nanking government.

The prime example of State Department censorship was the USIS handling of the recent testimony before a Senate committee from Gen. Wedemeyer, whose China report is still suppressed by Secretary Marshall. Wedemeyer urged Congress to give immediate economic and military aid to the Nationalist government. That plea was not mentioned in the USIS bulletin reporting Wedemeyer's testimony. He also said that while Chiang might be a "benevolent despot," he is a "fine character and the logical leader of China today," who served the Allied cause greatly by his long fight against Japan and will continue to fight Communism whether we help him or not. The USIS bulletin quoted only Wedemeyer's reference to Chiang as a "despot."

This is sheer lying, in the Pravda manner. It confirms the worst public suspicions of Government-controlled news in any form. If it is allowed to go on, under the authority of the State Department, it will discredit all our Government information services abroad, including he "Voice of America" broadcasts.

The earth is to be resurveyed for size. It would not be surprising if it also were found to be out of shape in some places.

Combating A Menace

Colorado is engaged in an all-out drive to abolish hitchhiking. Like some other states, Colorado has a law forbidding hitchhiking, but it has never before been enforced. Now the governor has instructed the state highway patrol to break it up.

The immediate reason for this action is a wave of crime in which hitchhikers have been involved. Five murders involving Colorado residents in less than a year and uncounted robberies and car thefts have been charged to hitchhikers.

Ride moochers have become a nuisance everywhere, in addition to the risk drivers take when they pick up the thumbers. Frequently they stand brazenly on the highway, thus creating a traffic hazard, and in most instances a little inquiry discloses that they are merely youths on the loose, instead of travelers on a legitimate errand.

At any rate, law enforcement officials of other states, which have had experience similar to that of Colorado with hitchhikers, are watching the Colorado crusade with interest.

Perhaps the days of the hitchhiker are numbered.

By eating sufficient calories your system will be able to produce the proper amount of energy to keep you warm. Fats are extremely high in calories but are not as palatable as proteins and carbohydrates. In general, foods such as meat, eggs, cheese, butter, and gravies are advised. On the other hand, since we are trying to conserve food, it might be better to wear warmer clothes.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The both sessions of Congress opened January 6th. Congress didn't really have to meet. It's just that the weather man figured it was the only thing that would melt those heavy snows in the east.

But I know why the Senators went back to Washington. They wanted to get away from home before the Christmas bills came.

Dewey, Taft, and Stassen are nervous about the Republican campaign. When they arrived in Washington they kept asking Vandenberg what was in the cards, and if they should deal a hand to MacArthur.

The big debate will be over income tax. Congress may make March 15 a national holiday. They'll call it "Declaration of Dependents' Day."

One Republican made an important speech about foreign aid and high taxes. He paused in the middle of his speech and asked a Democrat how he was doing. The Democrat just looked up and said, "Please, not while I'm sleeping."

After this session, President Truman has something better than the veto. He's going to send Senator Pepper over and have the Republicans sneeze themselves into exhaustion before the bill is passed.

This year he isn't worried about November. So many Republicans are throwing their hats in the ring. He can make more money going back into the haberdashery business selling them the hats.

Cold War With Russia Not Won; Danger of War With Soviets Continues; Air Chief Spaatz Claims Reds Are Preparing For Conflict

Says DREW PEARSON

(Editor's note: This is the second of Drew Pearsons' columns on the most important problem facing the country—the danger of war with Russia.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Some observers have come back from Europe recently saying that the cold war has been won. I do not agree.

Russian-inspired Communism, it is true, has taken some severe jolts in France and Italy, where attempted strikes, riots and revolution failed. But they already are being revived. And everyone who knows the Soviet system also knows that when the boys in the politburo take a defeat on one front it only increases their determination to score a victory on another.

So not only will they take more and tougher punches at France and Italy, but already Soviet preparations for eventual we-don't-know-what have intensified in other areas.

Meeting with a group of Senators not long ago, Chief Of the Air Forces Gen. "Touhy" Spaatz revealed:

1. The Red Army now has taken over German jet-plane plants and developed jet-propelled planes which are faster than those built by the U. S. Army.

2. The Russians have improved on the German buzz-bomb to a point where they now are producing a deadly controlled missile that will travel between 1,700 and 1,800 miles, whereas the imperfectly controlled German buzz-bombs merely flew across the English Channel.

3. The Russians, according to General Spaatz, have complete information about the location, size and production capacity of every air plant in the United States, to say nothing of landing fields, control towers and other aviation facilities.

Russia Prepares For War

Even if we assume that General Spaatz was subject to the usual exuberance of a military man, the fact is inescapable that at the last Russian military maneuvers, six new types of jet planes were flown in view of foreign military attaches —the Ilyushin, Yakovlev, Sukhov, Tupelev and Lavochkin, and Mikoyan.

It is also a fact that French, Italian, and German war prisoners released from Russia all tell the same story—of feverish war production behind the Ural mountains; of demobilized Soviet troops instructed to remain under military supervision to work in munitions factories because a new war is impending—the last great inevitable conflict between communism and the forces of fascism.

It is also a fact that most German prisoners are being kept in Russia to work in these factories and that only prisoners no longer fit for physical labor are being returned to Germany.

Reliable intelligence reports also tell of intensive air-base building in Eastern Siberia with 51 fields in that general area, six being on the Bearing sea nearest Alaska. It is also known that the Russians now have acquired and perhaps refined all the secrets of the German submarine, including the Nazi "snorkel." This is a device allowing subs to run constantly under water, without coming up to the surface to recharge batteries. Toward the end of the war the Germans had rubberized their subs so that radar could not detect them, had installed miraculous new motors and were using canvas breathers which extend just above the water and are extremely hard to see.

All of these secrets the Russians now have, and some of their 256 submarines have been sighted around Greenland, Kiska and only 300 miles from Pearl Harbor.

These are some of the belligerent preparations on Moscow's side which worry the United States.

U. S. Prepares Also

On the other hand, certain military preparations in the United States probably are causing worry in Moscow.

Last summer, for instance, Secretary Of the Army Royall released a report calling for the use of natural caverns and abandoned mines for underground aircraft factories in the United States. And while Secretary Royall would have been remiss had he not warned of the need for protecting air factories, and while U. S. military preparations are far less offensive than the Russians', nevertheless Moscow uses them to try to keep the Russian people in a constant state of jitters. Whether the Russian generals themselves are also jittery is not known.

However, there is one small school of thought in the United States which does give the politburo legitimate reason for worry—namely the school which believes that the United States should wage a "preventive" war now rather than a defensive war later.

It is no secret to the Russians that such a school does exist in the United States and that it is headed by the chief military adviser to the president—Adm. William D. Leahy.

Admiral Leahy and Russia

It was a well-known fact that Admiral Leahy constantly goaded Jimmy Byrnes, when the latter was secretary of state, on the charge that he was too conciliatory toward Russia. In fact, it as Leahy who had most to do with easing Byrnes out of the State Department.

It is also known that at times Leahy has considered General Marshall too weak toward the Russians and has taken steps to toughen him up.

Few outsiders realize how great a role the Admiral plays in American foreign affairs. For instance, when the Truman plan for aid to Greece and Turkey was first prepared in the State Department and was sent over to the White House, it did not contain any provision for military aid. When it came back from the White House, it contained a plan for U. S. military aid to Greece. Admiral Leahy had inserted it.

Most important in Leahy's background, however, is that when chief of naval operations in 1937 he sold Franklin Roosevelt on the idea that a preventive blockade of Japan could stop what was sure to be eventual war in the Pacific.

And it was Leahy who worked out the master plan for Roosevelt's "quarantine" speech in Chicago, plus the attempt to mobilize the peace machinery of the League of Nations and the nine-power pact to break the Japanese military machine.

Leahy Was Right

Undoubtedly Admiral Leahy at that time was right. Undoubtedly if Cordell Hull hadn't got cold feet, and if Roosevelt had followed through, the United States would have faced the Japanese crisis at a time when it was ready and prepared, instead of five years later with war on every front and when the Japanese were ready and prepared.

It is no secret that Admiral Leahy now proposes applying the same general strategy to Russia. In other words, if there is to be eventual war, he would pick the time and place rather than let the Russians do the picking. And he would pick it early, when the United States is better prepared, rather than later.

Put in blunt, cold words, that is the heart of the Russian problem in the minds of some of our top military strategists. Whether they are right or not, and what are the alternatives in this most important of all questions will be discussed in future Washington Merry-Go-Round columns.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Love Of Liberty

THE SPIRIT of man is not yet dead if men will give their lives for liberty. In spite of every betrayal and the beastly persecution of a police state, the Polish underground, that worked so effectively during the war, is being reassembled. It is not as efficient as the wartime body because the German was never as brutal as the Russian—but the Polish underground exists and it speaks to the Polish people and stirs their imaginations and their hopes.

These Poles risk more than we can imagine, but in many ways not more than the Jews in Palestine who pit their little strength against so many countries, against Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Syria, Egypt, Yemen, even against Pakistan, the newly liberated country that begins its career with oppression. Those Jews are upsetting many apple-carts but they are willing to die for what they believe is a just cause.

They are making unbelievable sacrifices for a life of freedom. They reject enslavement and accept poverty, daring, hardship, hunger and even death for freedom.

In China, the very desperation of the Nationalist Government has given men pause to weigh in the balance the danger of a foreign foe. Chinese who toyed with little politics and personal careers are beginning to ask whether the worst they can say about the Kuomintang is not better than subjection to a foreign country. There will be a resurrection of nationalism in China and it will come with the Spring.

For a moment, time, as it were, stood still and there was much talk of One World. Nationalism became curiously unpopular. During the war, in this country, there were no nationalistic demonstrations, no new patriotic songs, no emotions aroused by poetry or oratory for love of country. The idea was that sovereignty would be limited and that ultimately great countries would be reduced to mere provinces of a union of countries. That passed like a wind on a desert.

For it did not take us long to discover that One World really meant an enslaved world, a vetoed world, a dominated world. It did not take us too long to learn that the nations that had lost their nationality during and after the war also lost the liberties of their people. They became shackled to the wheels of the great conqueror, the satrap of mankind. And those who dared to raise their voices for liberty were crushed or exiled, or exiled first and then crushed.

Whichever way it went, freedom disappeared and death stalked the earth more after the war than during the days of battle. The war itself lost all meaning in the criminal betrayal of liberty and hope at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam.

And so, the flag of the nation took on new meaning, so full a meaning that many who had married abroad and had become citizens of other countries, sought to restore their American citizenship. It was not only a question of security but even more of liberty. An increasingly large number of all sort of refugees and exiles from numerous alien lands sought American citizenship that their liberties could be protected. Some of the leading lights of those countries have found in American citizenship the only sanctuary for a continuance of their life work in freedom.

Among these latter ones are some who still prattle about internationalism. And if you were to ask the internationalists whether they would prefer a United Nations or a One World certificate of citizenship to the little piece of paper that makes them Americans, they would, I am sure, recall their danger—the danger to their liberties—and wave the flag even more wildly than you or I.

Nationalism is an optimistic portend. It is a constructive association. For more than a decade, those who placed love of country highest upon the list of their ideals were called isolationists, nationalists, re actionaries. Today they are Americans. For the cycle has changed and One World has been recognized as the slogan of those who, for one reason or another, dared not glory in their own.

That day is passed. Today nationalism again drives men and women to heroic deeds of patriotism; it stirs men to give their blood for liberty.

Truman's Policy To Spend And Spend Poses Serious Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—What's forty billion dollars! The federal budget of expenses proposed by President Truman for that amount is just about eight times what the government collected in 1939.

It is more than twice all the profits made by American industry in the year 1947.

It is thirteen billion dollars more than the entire federal public debt at the close of World War I.

It is more than the entire national income in the year 1933.

It is more than four times the federal budget in 1939.

It is nearly eight billions more than the 1942 budget which included the first year of the war.

The colossal sums in the President's recommendation are intended to be spent in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1948 and ending June 30, 1949 This means that four years after the close of World War II the government of the United States is spending at a higher rate than at any time in its peacetime history.

Drain of Dangerous Proportions

Much more important than the sums to be expended is the size of the tax collections. Approximately 45 billions are to be taken out of the national income in taxes and other receipts. This is such a substantial part of the money earned by the people that it constitutes a drain of dangerous proportions.

It is considered by many economists to be hazardous when the government extracts as much as 20 per cent of the national income for taxes. Assuming a national income of $200,000,000,000 the federal government will be drawing out of the stream of national income more than 20 per cent.

What is most disconcerting about the President's budget, however, is that it exceeds the 1948 budget by $2,000,000,000. How long can the federal government go on increasing its expenses at that rate per year?

The risk is that the federal budget may increase fears of a maladjustment in the whole economic situation. There is a tendency to lose confidence in a government which keeps on spending and spending and taxing and taxing. Certainly the system of private initiative gives way to state socialism and government programs of nationalization when taxes become so burdensome as to make it impossible for individuals to save for investment purposes.

Unless a market for risk capital is provided, many enterprises in business will be compelled to restrict their operations and start laying off employees.

Sigh of Approaching Trouble

The most depressing aspect of the whole problem is that the federal government shows no signs of putting its house in order. This is a sign of approaching trouble in any government. It is true that for the fiscal year 1948 a surplus of $7,000,000,000 is indicated and for 1949 about $5,000,000,000. But the fact that the administration has made no provision for tax reductions and wants to use these surpluses to retire debt without relief to individual taxpayers in the investor class will mean deflation in the midst of inflation.

Unfortunately it will tend to restrict credit at the banks and discourage business from getting money in the capital markets generally. The deflation may set off a spiral of curtailment sometime in 1948 which may not be offset by the huge amount of tax-reduction bonuses designed by Mr. Truman for distribution among those in the low-income groups.

The announcement of the federal budget will send a wave of discouragement throughout the business and industrial sections of America and intensify the drive to get Congress to cut the budget by several billion dollars.

It is true that a billion dollars today buys much less than it did in 1939 so that in terms of prewar dollars the budget would probably be around $25,000,000,000 but even this is a big expenditure for the federal government to be making as against $12,770,000,000 in 1941.

The President's huge budget will, of course, become a political issue in the campaign. It would seem that Mr. Truman might at least have tried to present a budget of expenses less than last year. His willingness to raise it by $2,000,000,000 must mean that he is confident the American people don't care how high the expenses of the federal government do go.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(INS)—The suppression of the fundamental rights of oleomargarine producers and retailers constitutes an astonishing sidelight on the power and persuasion of congressional lobbies.

The dairymen's mob in Washing- has gotten away with plenty through the years and probably still would be sitting pretty if the price of butter had not skyrocketed out of hand.

The late great Joe Jacobs once hollered, "We wuz robbed" when his battler, Max Schmeling, blew a duke to Jack Sharkey. His voice sounded through the land. Now the margarine people are making similar screams heard. They've got a yell coming.

Margarine is the only food product which is controlled and regulated by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The industry has been booted around like a satellite state since 1886, when the dairy people—fearful that the stuff would replace butter—got Congress to pass some legislation which is hard to believe, when exposed to the light.

A tax of 10 cents a pound was nearly imposed on margarine at the start of its long fight for popularity —and that would have killed it a-borning. The tax was changed to two cents, but other levies were piled on. Today the very color of the product regulates the tax.

Other Restrictions

Here are other restrictions:

Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers must secure licenses which cost $600, $480 and $48 respectively. Manufacturers must post a bond of from $5,000 to $100,000 depending on the amount of margarine produced.

Charitable institutions, hospitals or similar organizations coloring margarine for their own use are classified as "manufacturers" and must pay the manufacturer's tax.

Margarine factory premises must be separated by "a solid wall" from premises on which butter or similar products are manufactured.

The word "oleomargarine" on containers must not be less than three quarters of an inch high. Only gothic letters may be used. The manufacturer also is forbidden to use hair-line, shaded or outlined letters.

Over the principal entrance to each building in which margarine is produced, the manufacturer must conspicuously display a sign showing the name in which the business is conducted, the kind of business and a factory number.

The color of margarine cartons and packages must not be so strong as to conflict with the letter.

On shipping cartons, the word "oleomargarine" must be at least 3½ inches in length printed in gothic letters on both front and back panels.

Directions on cartons or wrappers for coloring margarine are forbidden unless it is specified that this can be done tax free only by a private family. If a private family has a paying guest, it is liable as a "manufacturer."

All Cartons Must Be Approved

The Bureau of Internal Revenue must approve all cartons and wrappers.

Wholesalers are forbidden to sell margarine to retail dealers directly off their trucks as in the case of other foods. An order must first be submitted in writing to the wholesaler's main office where it must be recorded for government inspection.

A retail dealer is forbidden to sell more than 10 pounds of margarine at one time from an original package under penalty of a $1,000 fine. He also is forbidden to sell margarine in less than one pound quantities.

Retailers are forbidden to use margarine cartons in displays or to fold the top of a package back unless the large letters "oleomargarine" are in no way obscured.

The tax on yellow margarine jumped from two cents a pound to a dime in 1902, while the uncolored product was taxed ¼th of a cent a pound. Those fees remain in effect today.

Yellow Margarine Almost Banned

The 1902 congressional pressure virtually exterminated yellow margarine, but the margarine people came up with a natural yellow product. The dairymen's lobby cracked down again and margarine, whether naturally or artificially colored, was slapped with the 10 cents a pound tax.

In addition, the new code specified that margarine would be considered in violation of the law if it contained more than 1.6 degrees of yellow or yellow and red collectively. Today, an elaborate series of testing equipment and color charts are maintained by the revenue bureau to determine this, and several pages of the law are devoted to specific directions for carrying out any such tests.

The margarine people better call a cop. No, they'd better call a lobby.

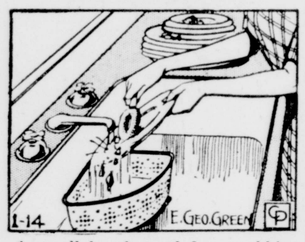
WIFE PRESERVERS



A small brush used for scrubbing vegetables is a help in dishwashing. Give used dishes a preliminary rinse under running water with a stiff vegetable brush, washing waste food particles into a sink strainer. This is easier and faster than scraping, and the dishes are soaked, easy to wash, and dishwater stays much cleaner.

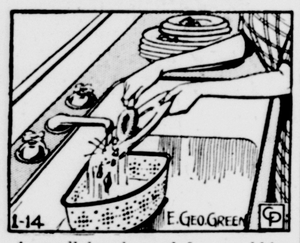
WIFE PRESERVERS



A small brush used for scrubbing vegetables is a help in dishwashing. Give used dishes a preliminary rinse under running water with a stiff vegetable brush, washing waste food particles into a sink strainer. This is easier and faster than scraping, and the dishes are soaked, easy to wash, and dishwater stays much cleaner.

ONE MOTORIST FINED, EIGHT FORFEIT BONDS

Robert L. Mearkle, Route 5, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding 50 miles per hour on Route 220 at Roberts Place Saturday and was fined $10.75 by Trial Magistrate Frank A. Perdew, while eight other drivers forfeited bonds totaling $61.60.

Charged with reckless driving, Roy E. Jewell, Route 1, and Allen E. Bridges, Route 2, Flintstone, forfeited $6.45 bond each. They were arrested Sunday by State Trooper G. M. Rotruck.

Leslie E. Smith, 30 Pennsylvania Avenue, forfeited $6.45 for failing to halt at a stop sign in LaVale last Friday, and Glenn O. Devine, Route 5, forfeited the same amount for exceeding 25 on Route 40 Saturday.

Eugene B. Woods, 154 Green Street, Frostburg, forfeited $11.45 for exceeding 50 on Route 220 Sunday. Trooper Rotruck preferred charges.

Perry Davis, Wiley Ford, who was arrested Sunday at Bowling Green by Trooper Rotruck, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30, and Paul W. Iser, Rawlings, forfeited $11.45 for exceeding 50 at Bowling Green on Saturday. Trooper Bosley apprehended Iser.

Arnold Ciccanti, Baltimore, forfeited $6.45 for failing to halt at a stop sign on Route 40 Saturday. He was taken into custody by Trooper Glen D. Folk.

Charges Against Brant Are Still Pending

Charges against Richard Theodore Brant, 21, 223 Crawford Street, identified as the driver of a car that struck and fatally injured Philip Samuel Hollar, Brunswick, were still pending last night, according to Maryland State Police.

Trooper William Baker, who investigated after Hollar was struck Sunday night on Route 40 near the Athey and Willison Amoco Station and then taken to Allegany Hospital where he died Monday morning, said the driver was questioned at length yesterday and added the case will probably be disposed of today.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Hollar, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad conductor, died of innercaranial hemorrhages. His body was taken to the home of a son, Melvin E. Hollar, Martinsburg, W. Va., where services will be held.

Carloadings Increase

Carloads handled for the week ended January 10, 1948, totaled 64,008, consisting of 41,458 loaded on line and 22,550 received from connections. This was an increase over the same week of last year of 1,003, when the total was 63,005, with 40,716 loaded on line and 22,289 received from connections. For the previous week (the week ending January 3) the total was 56,094 cars handled, made up of 38,780 loaded on line and 17,314 received from connections.

In fly-casting tournaments, the target usually is a rubber circle, much like a bicycle tire, about 30 inches in diameter.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Whose Mother Opposes Choice Of Husband Should Stand By Guns

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Any daughter who loves her mother and has been brought up to respect her is in a sad position indeed when that mother opposes her choice of a husband.

Such a situation becomes still more involved if the mother is actually ill, or is the type who becomes ill when emotionally upset, and holds this psychological sort of illness over the daughter's head as a means of controlling her actions.

A 19-year-old girl, who has been going with a boy two years older, for four years, finds herself in this difficult position and has considered breaking off with her young man because her mother so bitterly opposes her marriage to him.

The mother's reason is that all-too-familiar one of racial and religious prejudice. The boy whom her daughter is interested is of a different faith and different nationality, and apparently for this reason alone the mother wants her to say goodbye to him for good.

"J. C.," who signs the letter telling me of her dilemma, says she broke off with her fiance once, but that they have come together again and would like to get married next year. However, she is ready to call the whole thing off again because of her mother's objections. If it is best for her to put this young man out of her life, she says, she thinks it better to do so now and be done with it, since it would only become harder to do as time goes on.

"I hate to talk to my mother about it any more," she writes, because she is a sick woman and I am so afraid something will happen to her, and my sisters would always blame me for upsetting her."

I don't believe this girl should break off with this boy solely because of her mother's opposition. There are, of course, many reasons why a marriage between people of different faiths and nationalities may have more adjustments to make than if the two people concerned had similar backgrounds, and that is something this girl should consider very carefully, as I hope she has done already. But there is nothing in the letter to suggest that these adjustments are at the bottom of her mother's protests, which appear to arise purely from blind intolerance.

What I think this girl should do, if she is completely convinced that she and this young man will be happy together and can make all the necessary adjustments satisfactorily, is to stand by her guns and maintain her right to independence in the choice of her husband. Naturally, she will do this as diplomatically as possible, avoiding as much as she can any argument and discussion of the matter. No doubt her mother has already long since exhausted all her arguments and it is foolish, in such a situation, to keep going over and over the same points. Since this girl is going to wait a year anyhow before being married, her mother will have plenty of time to get used to the idea, and if her daughter holds firmly, but gently, to her own point of view, her opposition may gradually lose its violence.

I hope, however, that "J. C." will remember that, if she makes the wisest decision she can, she is not responsible for any effect that decision may have on a person who is not emotionally mature enough to see the thing from a considered point of view, even though that person may be her mother.

Poll Shows Public Sentiment Is Now Veering Toward Tax Slash

High Cost Of Living Reflected In Changes

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 13—In reversing his last year's stand against tax relief, President Truman is reflecting a changed attitude on the part of the nation's voters toward income taxes.

Last June, when the President twice turned thumbs down on Republican tax slashing proposals, 53 per cent of the nation's voters polled by the Institute felt that the public debt should be reduced before the taxes were lowered. Only 38 per cent voted for tax cuts.

Today, with the tax question destined to be a hot issue in the presidential campaign, the situation is almost exactly reversed. Now slightly more than half the voters feel individual citizens should receive "cost of living" cuts in tax loads despite the urgent need to aid Europe and reduce the public debt. However the preponderence of sentiment for tax cuts is still not overwhelmingly.

A nationwide survey of representative voters just completed by the Institute asked this question:

"Some people say we should reduce income taxes now because of the high cost of living. Others say we should not reduce taxes now because we must give food and other aid to Europe and reduce our national debt first. What is your opinion on this—do you think income taxes should or should not be reduced now?"

Should	51%
Should not	36
No opinion	13

A similar question asked last spring brought this response:

Should Reduce Taxes	38%
No Opinion	9

Taxpayers are feeling the pinch of payments to the government, as living costs rise weekly to new heights. An Institute poll reported earlier this month showed more than half now think their income taxes are too high.

In recent years—particularly the war years—the majority of Americans showed a willingness to pay high taxes when the need was clearly demonstrated. The price squeeze evidently has helped change the majority outlook; at any rate the argument most respondents give for tax reduction is that high living costs make it necessary for individuals to have relief.

Politically speaking, the desire for tax reduction is proportionately greater among Republicans than Democrats. Of the former, 57 per cent want taxes lowered, while only 46 per cent of Democrats vote that way.

The public debt today is around 256 billion dollars, or three billion [illegible] than a year ago. The peak was reached when it hit 278 billion dollars. [illegible] year individuals paid 18.7 billion dollars in taxes to the Federal government and corporations 31.2 billion.

Under President Truman's proposal individual taxes on 1948 incomes would be cut $40 across the board plus a $40 credit for each dependent. The resulting reduction in government revenues of 3.2 billion dollars, he said, might be raised by higher levies on corporations.

Harold Knutson, Republican congressman from Minnesota, and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has introduced a bill to reduce taxes by 5.6 billion dollars.

Commissioners To Meet

• • •

Intermissions Unwanted

St. John's Quint Halted

"Spike" Goes To School

By C. V. BURNS

The spring meeting of the Maryland Inland Fish and Game Commission will be held in Allegany county, marking the first time for a session of this kind to be scheduled for this end of the state.

Frostburg or Cumberland will be the meeting place sometime during the month of April.

It is understood that the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation and the Cumberland Outdoor Club want to be hosts to the quarterly session.

Fulcher P. Smith of Garrett county is Western Maryland's representative on the state commission. In fact, "Pete," as his many friends know him, has served ever since the commission was formed.

The proposed Bottle Run hatchery project is expected to be among the items to be discussed during the business sessions.

At least the commissioners will learn more about Western Maryland sportsmen and their needs than they did when they held that session last fall in Salisbury on the Eastern Shore.

We knew it would eventually happen.

Yes, the boxing fans finally took exception to those intermissions they have been working into certain shows at the armory to stretch them out.

Monday night the Klosterman-Keiser bout was moved up to fifth place on the card. Then after this fight was concluded the boys in the 6th bout were gloved and ready to get into the ring.

At this point, however, announcement was made there would be a 10-minute intermission. Then a storm of protests arose from the crowd. Shouts of "no intermission, let 'em fight, etc.," prompted Matchmaker Jim Klosterman to give the "on with the show" signal.

With no intermission the show ended about 10 o'clock.

If all the matches go the three-round limit on an eight-bout card this should consume 64 minutes, including the minute rest between rounds. With five minutes allowed between each bout add 35 minutes more. A properly conducted eight-bout card should never last more than two hours.

The announcer at Monday's show in calling attention to the fact there would be no intermission said:

"Intermission has been postponed."

We take it for granted he meant until the next show. So be prepared and pack yourself a lunch!

St. John's High School, of Washington, D. C., which comes here Sunday to play LaSalle suffered its first varsity athletic loss of the 1947-48 season on Sunday when the Cadets' basketball team dropped a 36-35 overtime thriller to Mount St. Joseph's of Baltimore.

The Johnnies were unbeaten in football last season and had won their first four basketball games before going down to defeat on the National Guard Armory floor in the capital city.

Ernie Hartman (we believe he's the same Ernie who played for the old Taylor A.A. basketball team back in the 1920s) writes from Grantsville in Garrett county to tell us that he is "coaching or trying to coach the Grantsville American Legion basketball team" and would like to schedule the better clubs of Cumberland and the George's Creek section.

"We have played seven games to date and lost only one to Salisbury, Pa., which was the first game of the season," Ernie writes. "Our team has won over Friendsville, twice; Accident, twice; Salisbury and the Dixon Motor Company of Aurora, W. Va."

Teams desiring to book the Grantsville Legion are requested to write Mr. Fay Miller, Grantsville, Md.

We get it via the grapevine that Robert "Spike" Herboldsheimer, well known local mask and windpad wearer, is attending an umpire's school now in session in Florida. Our informer says his wife and two children accompanied Bob on the journey to the Peninsula State.

It's been quite some time since we last heard from Ernie, who starred for Al Moss' Taylor quint of a quarter of a century ago. Long John Minke, Walter "Grit" Beeche, Sam Greer, Paul Smith and Fritz Eller were also members of the Tinplate Company's team in those days.

The Clarksburg paper of last Saturday had Davis High School defeating Tygarts Valley High of Mill Creek by the score of 50-49 but the result was just the opposite and the mistake was corrected in Sunday's edition.

Davis was hard hit by personal fouls and finished the game with only four players on the court.

Henry W. Price, our old friend over at P.E., says Nelson W. Russler deserves a citation for meritorious service for giving Potomac Edison a plug instead of Potomac State in announcing the address of one of the Keyser fraternity team boxers in Monday night's show here.

Now Howard Smith and Lester Deneen, regular boxing customers, are sore because the Colonel didn't mention the C. & P. Telephone Company!

Beall High School battled Fort Hill's Sentinels on practically even terms for three periods last night, then wilted in the final quarter to drop a 43 to 36 decision to Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's floormen before 900 persons last night at Frostburg.

Allegany High School's Campers, defending champions of the WMI League, kept on even terms with the Sentinels by also scoring their second straight league triumph of the season at the expense of Central High School's Tigers, at Lonaconing, 44-27.

In the third league game of the evening, Bruce High School turned back Barton High's Braves on the latter's floor by the score of 41-32.

Lose Game At Foul Line

Final figures for the game in the Mountain City show Beall matched Fort Hill in field goals, each team having scored 17, but at the charity line the Sentinels emerged victorious by sinking 9 of 20 shots while Beall was able to convert two of 16 free throws.

Charley Lattimer and Milford Dean were Fort Hill's chief scoring threats with 14 and 12 points while Bob Truly and Bill Farrady with 13 and 10 markers paced Coach Edward Finzel's aggregation. Joe Scarpelli played a nice defensive game for Beall.

Beall Ties Score At 27-27

Fort Hill grabbed a 9-6 lead at the end of the first period and held a 21-14 edge at the halfway mark. Beall caught the Sentinels at 27-27 late in the third quarter on Scarpelli's goal but when the period ended the Cumberland team held a 30-27 lead. The Hilltoppers stayed out in front throughout the final stanza.

Coach Bigler's Fort Hill Jayvees defeated the Beall High Jayvees, 38-15 in the preliminary.

In the game at 'Coney, Coach Walter L. Bowers' basketeers with Ronnie Sterne and Jim Clingan accounting for 24 tallies easily turned back the Orange and Black. The Campers led throughout, quarter scores being 9-4, 21-13 and 32-18.

Sterne poured in 13 points while Clingan racked up 11. Win Rowan of CHS scored 11 markers.

Jimmie Lamberson went on a scoring spree to register 20 points as Barton bowed to Bruce High's cage warriors. The Barton forward tossed in eight doubledeckers and collected four points at the 15-foot line.

Moran Hoops 7 For 7

Don Moran, Bruce center, had a perfect night at the foul line in seven tries and banged in five fielders to head the Westernport attack with 17 points.

The quarter scores were 13-9, 24-12 and 31-21 with Bruce on top all the way. Lineups:

Buffalo Will Invite 32 To Spring Training

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Buffalo Bisons of the International Baseball League today dropped eight players and announced that 32 men would be invited to spring training starting March 7 at Waxahachie, Texas.

General Manager Paul Richards optioned Saul Rogovin, big right-hander from Brooklyn, who pitched with a Caracas, Venezuela, winter league team, to Nashville of the Southern League.

Also optioned to other clubs were three rookie pitchers: Jimmy Dimitriadis, Detroit lefthander, to Hagerstown; Elmer Funk of Little Rock, Ark., and Bill Tessier of Minnesota, to Thomasville, Ga.

Wright And Conatser Sign Boston Contracts

BOSTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Receipt of the signed 1948 contracts of pitcher Ed Wright and outfielder Clint Conaster were announced tonight by General Manager John Quinn of the Boston Braves.

Wright, who had a 3-3 record with the Tribe last season, underwent a tonsilectomy in September. Manager Billy Southworth is confident that the big righthander now is in better health than he was during the 1946-47 seasons.

Conatser, drafted for the Buffalo International League club, spent the first half of last season with Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

Amvets Play Oakland And Frederick Teams

Oakland American Legion and Frederick Moose will provide the opposition for the Cumberland Amvets basketball team this week.

Coach "Ace" Baker's floormen will play Oakland on the latter's floor tonight at 8 o'clock. The local team will leave from the Amvets' Home at 5:30.

Frederick Moose will play host to the Amvets Friday night.

"Ike" Williams Wins

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 13 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., battler, experienced little trouble tonight in winning a 10-round decision over Doug Carter, Newark, N. J., in a non-title bout at the 114th armory. The champion weighed 138 and Carter 139.

Ridgeley Beats Scrappy Romney Pioneers, 51-32

800 Persons See Hawks Cop Conference Battle

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

A shaky, sputtering Ridgeley High cage machine, which sometimes stalled completely, came to life in the last three minutes of play to defeat a scrappy Romney Pioneer quintet 51 to 32 before some 800-stunned spectators at Ridgeley in the Hawks' Potomac Valley Conference opener.

The Blackhawks swaggered onto the court, full of confidence after three lopsided triumphs. The Gray and Blue from Hampshire County, however, hadn't read the Ridgeley press clippings and led by diminutive Don Maphis, played the Black and White on nearly even terms until the last three minutes of the final period.

Ridgeley opened a 4-0 lead on Roy Comer's tip-off play basket and Joe Moss' rebound goal. Sid Roach's layup broke the ice for Romney with 5:00 to go but Comer's basket and Bill Brehany's two gift tosses raised the count to 8-2. Dan Wagoner and Roach connected on a set and pivot respectively and Romney closed in at 8-6. Comer's two four conversions and Maphis' set closed the quarter with Ridgeley on top at 10-8.

Romney moved in at 13-12 and 15-14 early in the second period, then Comer's gift throw and baskets by Brehany and Paul Lindsay widened the Hawk bulge to 22-14. Romney came right back on Roach's basket and Taylor's two foul conversions to cut Ridgeley to a 22-18 halftime margin.

Ridgeley continued to look sluggish until late in the third period when they widened a 26-21 lead to 34 to 21 on six points by Moss and two by Lindsay as the final period began.

With a 35-21 advantage, Jesse Riggleman yanked his varsity and Romney jumped on the subs for three baskets, all by Maphis, and the regulars were rushed back in with a 35-27 edge. The varsity increased the score to 39-29 at the automatic timeout, then in the final three minutes opened a 12-point barrage to go over the 50-point mark. The subs, in the person of Don Loy, added the final four markers.

Brehany was high scorer for the Hawks with 15-markers with Moss and "Fats" Wilson playing the best floor game. Don Maphis was the whole show for Romney with 16 points. Lineups:

Lambeau Says Fans Want Point-After-Touchdown

Elimination Is Urged By Bell, N.F.L. Prexy

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13—(AP)—The National Football League's "long season" that ended three days after Christmas 1947 is slated for much-winded debate at the loop's annual meeting but little—if any—schedule change is expected.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell, in a preview to tomorrow's opening session, said "the fact that the baseball season does not close until October 3, a week later than usual, will present problems in making up the 1948 schedule."

But Bell is all for continuance of a 12-game schedule for each of the 10 clubs "with the season opening September 26 and ending December 12."

The championship game will be held December 19 unless there's a divisional playoff—as there was last season—which would shove back the title contest to December 26.

NFL's rules committee opens the conclave tomorrow night. Then the owners begin a four-day huddle Thursday to discuss constitution changes, setup of a professional football shrine at Latrobe, Pa., and charter applications for new teams.

The rules once again will get a complete going over with Bell urging elimination of the point after touchdown and substitution of a "sudden death" period to end the games at end of regulation playing time.

At Green Bay, Wis., Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau of the Packers said he'd oppose any attempt to eliminate the point after touchdown.

"As a matter of fact," Lambeau said as he prepared to leave for the NFL meetings, "I can remember times when I've prayed for an extra point."

Lambeau voiced his objection to the rules change because he says the fans want the extra point and "if the fans want it, I want it."

The Packer mentor, however, says he may "be for" a sudden death method of ending a tie game.

"The professional football player must never forget that the spectator is paying his salary," Bell said. "That's why the rules should be amended to eliminate all chance of tie games—let the game continue until a team wins it, not by an extra point, but by a field goal, safety or touchdown."

Davis-Elkins Wins

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Davis-Elkins basketball team walloped Shepherd College quintet here tonight 71-48.

Davis-Elkins held a 28-21 advantage at the half, then went ahead to score 20 points in the third quarter while holding the home team scoreless. Shepherd staged a belated rally in the final quarter and outscored Davis-Elkins, 27-23.

British Soldiers Feel It An Honor To Get Knocked Silly By Joe Louis

Champ To Get $80,000 For Work In London

By JIM CHAMBERS

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP) — It's a tradition in the British army that guardsmen will take on anything, any time, anywhere.

Thirty of these husky young soldiers from Wellington Barracks are now lining up for the honor of being socked on the chin by Joe Louis when he comes to London next month to give exhibitions of training and sparring.

Harry Seff, promoter of the health and holidays exhibition at Earls Court at which the Brown Bomber will be one of the feature acts, said today he won't have any trouble getting sparring partners for the champ.

Louis cannot get permission to bring into the country more than two of his own training staff.

Seff said, "I've already had offers from 30 soldiers from the brigade of guards to step in with Joe. These lads, many of them over six feet tall—the minimum height for a guardsman is five feet, 10 inches—all weigh from 170 to 190 pounds.

"They've heard all about Joe's left jabs and right crosses, but if any of them get knocked silly—well, they'll regard it as an honor for the rest of their lives."

In addition to the army sluggers, Seff expects to have plenty of up-and-coming professional heavyweights to put in the ring against Louis, who is scheduled to do three workouts daily. Only at one of them each day will he be called upon to do any sparring.

Seff has contracted to pay Louis $80,000 for his month's work. He's not worrying about getting it back. He figures that the 1,050 seats around the ring will be filled at every session at prices ranging from about 50 cents to $4.50.

Mounties To Play Penn State Quint

Nittany Lions Invade Morgantown Tonight

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 13—West Virginia University's high ranking Mountaineers, although stopped once in seven starts, battle the hot and cold Nittany Lions of Penn State College here tomorrow night in a game that promises to pack all of its usual wallop.

Penn State has not beaten West Virginia since 1945 and the Lions are mighty anxious to break their four-game losing streak. The odds, however, favor the Mountaineers, who have bowed only to Manhattan, 58-53, while winning over such powers as Brigham Young, North Carolina State and Niagara. Penn State has been less successful, showing a 3-3 record. Victims of the Lions have been W. & J., American U. and Colgate while they have gone down before Bucknell, Pitt and Syracuse.

West Virginia swept both games in last year's series but only after nip-and-tuck struggles, 40-37 and 55-51. In 1946, the Mountaineers also took two, 42-41 in overtime and 48-45. Penn State last won the second game of the 1945 series, 53-27.

After tomorrow's engagement, West Virginia will take 10 days off for semester finals before returning to action at home against Bethany College January 24.

Legislator Proposes Legalizing Bookies

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 13—(AP)—Legislation of bookmaking in New York state was proposed today by a Republican legislator, who estimated that the state would gross $350,000,000 (million) annually through taxes or license fees.

The measure, calling for elimination of the constitutional restriction limiting betting to pari-mutuel systems, was introduced by Assemblyman Thomas A. Carney of Brooklyn.

He proposed a constitutional amendment that would open the way to other than pari-mutuel wagering at the track.

TERPS AND MIDDIES WILL TANGLE TODAY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 13—(AP)—One of the Free State's hottest basketball feuds will be renewed when Navy and Maryland collide on the Dahlgren Hall court here tomorrow afternoon.

Whipped soundly their last time out, Navy's cagers look for trouble in getting back to winning ways against the Terrapins.

The record so far gives the Terps five wins and six defeats.

For Navy, the books show two victories and one loss.

Explorers Edge Carver Passers In Extra Period

Murray's Field Goal Decides 32-30 Battle

LaSalle High School's basketball team took an overtime thriller from Carver High School, a last minute substitute for Bedford (Pa.) High School by the score of 32-30 last night on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Bob Murray's field goal was the only score made by either team in the extra period after Charles "Chuck" Sitter's one foul goal in two tries deadlocked the score at 30-30 as the regulation game ended.

LaSalle led at the quarter, 5-4, and also at halftime, 15-12, but when the third period was concluded the score was knotted at 20-20. At one point in the final period the negro aggregation held an eight-point lead but the Explorers rallied to tie up things at 30-30, forcing the game into a three-minute overtime session.

Carver, playing LaSalle for the first time in any sport, outscored Coach Long's team from the field, 15 to 14 goals but the North Centre Street quint won the game at the foul line.

Arnone played a bangup floor game for LaSalle and led the Explorers' attack with five field goals and eleven points. Wheeler paced Carver with 12 points on six field goals.

The Frederick Street school became LaSalle's opponent late yesterday due to a mixup in dates between Bedford and LaSalle. LaSalle's schedule had Bedford to play here last night while Bedford played Claysburg last night and claims it is not billed to play the Explorers here until January 20.

Those who witnessed last night's game agreed that Carver High turned out to be a No. 1 substitute.

Charles Flattens Moore In Eighth

8,344 See Ohio Negro Score At Cleveland

By LARRY SMITH

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13 (AP)—Striking with deadly fury, Ezzard Charles strengthened his position as the leading contender for the light heavyweight title by knocking out Archie Moore, the number two contender, in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-rounder before 8,334 at the Arena tonight. Charles weighed 173¾ pounds, Moore 173.

Charles got out of danger and opened up with a sharp left and right that dumped Moore to the canvas. Moore immediately struggled to one knee but another right dropped him for the full count. The knockout came at 2:40 of the round.

By his victory, Charles earned a match with Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich some time this summer.

The National Boxing Association, which rates Charles as the number one contender for the crown, has announced it would call upon the winner of the March 4 bout in Madison Square Garden between Lesnevich and Billy Fox to meet the winner of tonight's tussle in a championship bout.

3,574 Fans See Riggs Defeat Jack Kramer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 13 (AP)—A crowd of 3,574—the largest ever to watch a professional tennis match here, tonight saw Bobby Riggs defeat Jack Kramer, 6-2, 8-6, and even their series at 6-all.

The record attendance, despite an all day snow storm, betters the 2,118 crowd here in 1928 when the late Suzanne Lenglen played here.

In a preliminary singles match, Dinny Pails of Australia and Francisco (Pancho) Segura, the Equadorian stylist, split their two set competition, Pails winning the first set, 8-6, and Segura the other one, 6-4.

"Spike" Goes To School

By C. V. BURNS

The spring meeting of the Maryland Inland Fish and Game Commission will be held in Allegany county, marking the first time for a session of this kind to be scheduled for this end of the state.

Frostburg or Cumberland will be the meeting place sometime during the month of April.

It is understood that the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation and the Cumberland Outdoor Club want to be hosts to the quarterly session.

Pulcher P. Smith of Garrett county is Western Maryland's representative on the state commission. In fact, "Pete," as his many friends know him, has served ever since the commission was formed.

The proposed Bottle Run hatchery project is expected to be among the items to be discussed during the business sessions.

At least the commissioners will learn more about Western Maryland sportsmen and their needs than they did when they held that session last fall in Salisbury on the Eastern Shore.

We knew it would eventually happen.

Yes, the boxing fans finally took exception to those intermissions they have been working into certain shows at the armory to stretch them out.

Monday night the Klosterman-Keiser bout was moved up to fifth place on the card. Then after this fight was concluded the boys in the 6th bout were gloved and ready to get into the ring.

At this point, however, announcement was made there would be a 10-minute intermission. Then a storm of protests arose from the crowd. Shouts of "no intermission, let 'em fight, etc.," prompted Matchmaker Jim Klosterman to give the "on with the show" signal.

With no intermission the show ended about 10 o'clock.

If all the matches go the three-round limit on an eight-bout card this should consume 64 minutes, including the minute rest between rounds. With five minutes allowed between each bout add 35 minutes more. A properly conducted eight-bout card should never last more than two hours.

The announcer at Monday's show in calling attention to the fact there would be no intermission said:

"Intermission has been postponed."

We take it for granted he meant until the next show. So be prepared and pack yourself a lunch!

St. John's High School, of Washington, D. C., which comes here Sunday to play LaSalle suffered its first varsity athletic loss of the 1947-48 season on Sunday when the Cadets' basketball team dropped a 36-35 overtime thriller to Mount St. Joseph's of Baltimore.

The Johnnies were unbeaten in football last season and had won their first four basketball games before going down to defeat on the National Guard Armory floor in the capital city.

Ernie Hartman (we believe he's the same Ernie who played for the old Taylor A.A. basketball team back in the 1920s) writes from Grantsville in Garrett county to tell us that he is "coaching or trying to coach the Grantsville American Legion basketball team" and would like to schedule the better clubs of Cumberland and the George's Creek section.

"We have played seven games to date and lost only one to Salisbury, Pa., which was the first game of the season," Ernie writes. "Our team has won over Friendsville, twice; Accident, twice; Salisbury and the Dixon Motor Company of Aurora, W. Va."

Teams desiring to book the Grantsville Legion are requested to write Mr. Fay Miller, Grantsville, Md.

We get it via the grapevine that Robert "Spike" Herboldsheimer, well known local mask and windpad wearer, is attending an umpire's school now in session in Florida. Our informer says his wife and two children accompanied Bob on the journey to the Peninsula State.

It's been quite some time since we last heard from Ernie, who starred for Al Moss' Taylor quint of a quarter of a century ago. Long John Minke, Walter "Grit" Beeche, Sam Greer, Paul Smith and Fritz Eller were also members of the Tinplate Company's team in those days.

The Clarksburg paper of last Saturday had Davis High School defeating Tygarts Valley High of Mill Creek by the score of 50-49 but the result was just the opposite and the mistake was corrected in Sunday's edition.

Davis was hard hit by personal fouls and finished the game with only four players on the court.

Henry W. Price, our old friend over at P.E., says Nelson W. Russler deserves a citation for meritorious service for giving Potomac Edison a plug instead of Potomac State in announcing the address of one of the Keyser fraternity team boxers in Monday night's show here.

Now Howard Smith and Lester Deneen, regular boxing customers, are sore because the Colonel didn't mention the C. & P. Telephone Company!

The speed of a skier ranges from 50 to 90 miles an hour when taking off in ski jumping.

Allegany High School's Campers, defending champions of the WMI League, kept on even terms with the Sentinels by also scoring their second straight league triumph of the season at the expense of Central High School's Tigers, at Lonaconing, 44-27.

In the third league game of the evening, Bruce High School turned back Barton High's Braves on the latter's floor by the score of 41-32.

Lose Game At Foul Line

Final figures for the game in the Mountain City show Beall matched Fort Hill in field goals, each team having scored 17, but at the charity line the Sentinels emerged victorious by sinking 9 of 20 shots while Beall was able to convert two of 16 free throws.

Charley Lattimer and Milford Dean were Fort Hill's chief scoring threats with 14 and 12 points while Bob Truly and Bill Farrady with 13 and 10 markers paced Coach Edward Finzel's aggregation. Joe Scarpelli played a nice defensive game for Beall.

Beall Ties Score At 27-27

Fort Hill grabbed a 9-6 lead at the end of the first period and held a 21-14 edge at the halfway mark. Beall caught the Sentinels at 27-27 late in the third quarter on Scarpelli's goal but when the period ended the Cumberland team held a 30-27 lead. The Hilltoppers stayed out in front throughout the final stanza.

Coach Bigler's Fort Hill Jayvees defeated the Beall High Jayvees, 38-15 in the preliminary.

In the game at 'Coney, Coach Walter L. Bowers' basketeers with Ronnie Sterne and Jim Clingan accounting for 24 tallies easily turned back the Orange and Black. The Campers led throughout, quarter scores being 9-4, 21-13 and 32-18.

Sterne poured in 13 points while Clingan racked up 11. Win Rowan of CHS scored 11 markers.

Jimmie Lamberson went on a scoring spree to register 20 points as Barton bowed to Bruce High's cage warriors. The Barton forward tossed in eight doubledeckers and collected four points at the 15-foot line.

Moran Hoops 7 For 7

Don Moran, Bruce center, had a perfect night at the foul line in seven tries and banged in five fielders to head the Westernport attack with 17 points.

The quarter scores were 13-9, 24-12 and 31-21 with Bruce on top all the way. Lineups:

Ridgeley Beats Scrappy Romney Pioneers, 51-32

800 Persons See Hawks Cop Conference Battle

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

A shaky, sputtering Ridgeley High cage machine, which sometimes stalled completely, came to life in the last three minutes of play to defeat a scrappy Romney Pioneer quintet 51 to 32 before some 800-stunned spectators at Ridgeley in the Hawks' Potomac Valley Conference opener.

The Blackhawks swaggered onto the court, full of confidence after three lopsided triumphs. The Gray and Blue from Hampshire County, however, hadn't read the Ridgeley press clippings and led by diminutive Don Maphis, played the Black and White on nearly even terms until the last three minutes of the final period.

Ridgeley opened a 4-0 lead on Roy Comer's tip-off play basket and Joe Moss' rebound goal. Sid Roach's layup broke the ice for Romney with 5:00 to go but Comer's basket and Bill Brehany's two gift tosses raised the count to 8-2. Dan Wagoner and Roach connected on a set and pivot respectively and Romney closed in at 8-6. Comer's two four conversions and Maphis' set closed the quarter with Ridgeley on top at 10-8.

Romney moved in at 13-12 and 15-14 early in the second period, then Comer's gift throw and baskets by Brehany and Paul Lindsay widened the Hawk bulge to 22-14. Romney came right back on Roach's basket and Taylor's two foul conversions to put Ridgeley to a 22-18 halftime margin.

Ridgeley continued to look sluggish until late in the third period when they widened a 26-21 lead to 34 to 21 on six points by Moss and two by Lindsay as the final period began.

With a 35-21 advantage, Jesse Riggleman yanked his varsity and Romney jumped on the subs for three baskets, all by Maphis, and the regulars were rushed back in with a 35-27 edge. The varsity increased the score to 39-29 at the automatic timeout, then in the final three minutes opened a 12-point barrage to go over the 50-point mark. The subs, in the person of Don Loy, added the final four markers.

Brehany was high scorer for the Hawks with 15-markers with Moss and "Fats" Wilson playing the best floor game. Don Maphis was the whole show for Romney with 16 points. Lineups:

Lambeau Says Fans Want Point-After-Touchdown

Elimination Is Urged By Bell, N.F.L. Prexy

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13—(AP)—The National Football League's "long season" that ended three days after Christmas 1947 is slated for much-winded debate at the loop's annual meeting but little—if any—schedule change is expected.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell, in a preview to tomorrow's opening session, said "the fact that the baseball season does not close until October 3, a week later than usual, will present problems in making up the 1948 schedule."

But Bell is all for continuance of a 12-game schedule for each of the 10 clubs "with the season opening September 26 and ending December 12."

The championship game will be held December 19 unless there's a divisional playoff—as there was last season—which would shove back the title contest to December 26.

NFL's rules committee opens the conclave tomorrow night. Then the owners begin a four-day huddle Thursday to discuss constitution changes, setup of a professional football shrine at Latrobe, Pa., and charter applications for new teams.

The rules once again will get a complete going over with Bell urging elimination of the point after touchdown and substitution of a "sudden death" period to end the games at end of regulation playing time.

At Green Bay, Wis., Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau of the Packers said he'd oppose any attempt to eliminate the point after touchdown.

"As a matter of fact," Lambeau said as he prepared to leave for the NFL meetings, "I can remember times when I've prayed for an extra point."

Lambeau voiced his objection to the rules change because he says the fans want the extra point and "if the fans want it, I want it."

The Packer mentor, however, says he may "be for" a sudden death method of ending a tie game.

"The professional football player must never forget that the spectator is paying his salary," Bell said. "That's why the rules should be amended to eliminate all chance of tie games—let the game continue until a team wins it, not by an extra point, but by a field goal, safety or touchdown."

British Soldiers Feel It An Honor To Get Knocked Silly By Joe Louis

Champ To Get $80,000 For Work In London

By JIM CHAMBERS

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP) — It's a tradition in the British army that guardsmen will take on anything, any time, anywhere.

Thirty of these husky young soldiers from Wellington Barracks are now lining up for the honor of being socked on the chin by Joe Louis when he comes to London next month to give exhibitions of training and sparring.

Harry Seff, promoter of the health and holidays exhibition at Earls Court at which the Brown Bomber will be one of the feature acts, said today he won't have any trouble getting sparring partners for the champ.

Louis cannot get permission to bring into the country more than two of his own training staff.

Seff said, "I've already had offers from 30 soldiers from the brigade of guards to step in with Joe. These lads, many of them over six feet tall—the minimum height for a guardsman is five feet, 10 inches—all weigh from 170 to 190 pounds.

"They've heard all about Joe's left jabs and right crosses, but if any of them get knocked silly—well, they'll regard it as an honor for the rest of their lives."

In addition to the army sluggers, Seff expects to have plenty of up-and-coming professional heavyweights to put in the ring against Louis, who is scheduled to do three workouts daily. Only at one of them each day will he be called upon to do any sparring.

Seff has contracted to pay Louis $80,000 for his month's work. He's not worrying about getting it back. He figures that the 1,050 seats around the ring will be filled at every session at prices ranging from about 50 cents to $4.50.

Mounties To Play Penn State Quint

Nittany Lions Invade Morgantown Tonight

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 13—West Virginia University's high ranking Mountaineers, although stopped once in seven starts, battle the hot and cold Nittany Lions of Penn State College here tomorrow night in a game that promises to pack all of its usual wallop.

Penn State has not beaten West Virginia since 1945 and the Lions are mighty anxious to break their four-game losing streak. The odds, however, favor the Mountaineers, who have bowed only to Manhattan, 58-53, while winning over such powers as Brigham Young, North Carolina State and Niagara. Penn State has been less successful, showing a 3-3 record. Victims of the Lions have been W. & J., American U. and Colgate while they have gone down before Bucknell, Pitt and Syracuse.

West Virginia swept both games in last year's series but only after nip-and-tuck struggles, 40-37 and 55-51. In 1946, the Mountaineers also took two, 42-41 in overtime and 48-45. Penn State last won the second game of the 1945 series, 53-27.

After tomorrow's engagement, West Virginia will take 10 days off for semester finals before returning to action at home against Bethany College January 24.

He proposed a constitutional amendment that would open the way to other than pari-mutuel wagering at the track.

Murray's Field Goal Decides 32-30 Battle

LaSalle High School's basketball team took an overtime thriller from Carver High School, a last minute substitute for Bedford (Pa.) High School by the score of 32-30 last night on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Bob Murray's field goal was the only score made by either team in the extra period after Charles "Chuck" Sitter's one foul goal in two tries deadlocked the score at 30-30 as the regulation game ended.

LaSalle led at the quarter, 5-4, and also at halftime, 15-12, but when the third period was concluded the score was knotted at 20-20. At one point in the final period the negro aggregation held an eight-point lead but the Explorers rallied to tie up things at 30-30, forcing the game into a three-minute overtime session.

Carver, playing LaSalle for the first time in any sport, outscored Coach Long's team from the field, 15 to 14 goals but the North Centre Street quint won the game at the foul line.

Arnone played a bangup floor game for LaSalle and led the Explorers' attack with five field goals and eleven points. Wheeler paced Carver with 12 points on six field goals.

The Frederick Street school became LaSalle's opponent late yesterday due to a mixup in dates between Bedford and LaSalle. LaSalle's schedule had Bedford to play here last night while Bedford played Claysburg last night and claims it is not billed to play the Explorers here until January 20.

Those who witnessed last night's game agreed that Carver High turned out to be a No. 1 substitute.

Charles Flattens Moore In Eighth

By LARRY SMITH

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13 (AP)—Striking with deadly fury, Ezzard Charles strengthened his position as the leading contender for the light heavyweight title by knocking out Archie Moore, the number two contender, in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-rounder before 8,334 at the Arena tonight. Charles weighed 173¾ pounds, Moore 173.

Charles got out of danger and opened up with a sharp left and right that dumped Moore to the canvas. Moore immediately struggled to one knee but another right dropped him for the full count. The knockout came at 2:40 of the round.

By his victory, Charles earned a match with Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich some time this summer.

The National Boxing Association, which rates Charles as the number one contender for the crown, has announced it would call upon the winner of the March 4 bout in Madison Square Garden between Lesnevich and Billy Fox to meet the winner of tonight's tussle in a championship bout.

Yanks Placed Second With DiMaggio Third

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, who almost dethroned heavyweight champion Joe Louis Dec. 5, staged the outstanding comeback of 1947 in the opinion of the sports editors participating in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

The 33-year-old "pappy guy" from Camden, N. J., four times retired from the ring, earned the comeback crown by twice dumping Louis on the seat of his pants during their close 15-round scrap.

So rank an outsider that there was virtually no betting on the outcome of his fight with the Brown Bomber, Walcott established himself as the foremost contender by his surprising effort. The veteran of some 130 fights since 1931 now is in line for a slice of a probable $2,000,000 gate in June, although he fought six rounds for $100 as recently as 1945.

Walcott, or Arnold Cream as he is known everywhere except in the prize ring, overshadowed the fine comebacks by the New York Yankees, Joe Dimaggio, George McQuinn and the California football team.

The Yankees and Manager Bucky Harris finished second to Jersey Joe in the poll with 48 points to 97 for the heavyweight fighter. The points were divided five for first, three for second and one for third with each editor asked to name three choices. Fifteen firsts went to Walcott and six to the Yankees and Harris.

DiMaggio, voted most valuable in the American League, earned third place with 43 points and five firsts on his 1947 play.

McQuinn Is Fourth

McQuinn, the Yanks' 36-year-old first baseman, placed fourth, drawing seven votes as the No. 1 comeback. Only Walcott drew more first place ballots.

Cut loose by the Philadelphia Athletics after a disappointing season in 1946, McQuinn asked Harris for a chance with the Yanks. He led the league in hitting for a stretch in early spring and played brilliantly at first base.

The twin comeback of California football and Coach Lynn Waldorf took fifth honors. After a dreary 1946 campaign, the Golden Bears swept past all opposition, except Southern California, in a remarkable form reversal under a new coach, Waldorf.

Brooklyn's fine rally after losing the first two world series games and the excellent job done by Manager Burt Shotton, returning to the majors from semi-retirement, picked up enough points for sixth place in the standings.

Harry Walker Mentioned

Others receiving at least 10 points were the Chicago Bears, who rallied strongly after losing to the College All-Stars, the Alabama football team which finished fast after a poor start, Purdue's eleven which was one of the Big Nine surprises, Leo Durocher's return as manager of Brooklyn, Joe Page's comeback as a relief pitcher for the Yanks, Harry Walker's fine job of winning the National League batting title for the Phillies after the St. Louis Cards let him go and the Tennessee football team.

The Roman Coloseum was inaugurated by Titus in A.D. 80, and probably seated between 40,000 and 50,000 persons.

5-Yr. Victim of Gassy Stomach

"For 5 years I suffered from gas swelling and bloat," says a well-known citizen: "My meals just laid in my stomach and turned to gas. Had dizzy attacks from this condition. I tried many medicines, but they never had any effect on me, but finally I found INNER-AID. It cleared out all my gas. Now I can eat without misery afterward. This is the only medicine that ever helped me."

INNER-AID is the new formula of 12 juices from Nature's Plants. It has relieved many people who had never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food, thus eliminating the poisons that foster stomach trouble. It will cleanse the bowels, clear gas from stomach, enliven liver and remove old bile from the system. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores.—Advertisement.

5-Yr. Victim of Gassy Stomach

"For 5 years I suffered from gas swelling and bloat," says a well-known citizen: "My meals just laid in my stomach and turned to gas. Had dizzy attacks from this condition. I tried many medicines, but they never had any effect on me, but finally I found INNER-AID. It cleared out all my gas. Now I can eat without misery afterward. This is the only medicine that ever helped me."

INNER-AID is the new formula of 12 juices from Nature's Plants. It has relieved many people who had never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food, thus eliminating the poisons that foster stomach trouble. It will cleanse the bowels, clear gas from stomach, enliven liver and remove old bile from the system. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Potomac Park To Seek Water Hydrants In '48

Begin Plans For Year's Activities

Potomac Park Improvement Association, which just completed its street lighting program as its 1947 project, and sponsored the most colorful Christmas lighting display of the area, embarked upon a new project at their regular meeting last night.

J. Milton Dick, president, said the Association has decided to make the initial 1948 community project one to obtain sufficient fire hydrants throughout the area, as a safeguard against spread of fire. Potomac Park is supplied with city water from Cumberland but has no hydrants for use in fire-fighting.

The street lighting project completed in December was termed generally successful, although there are a couple of areas where lights should be placed, members reported. It was decided to ask the Potomac Edison Company to send a lighting engineer to make a survey and if practical and feasible, install additional street lights.

Dick reported that membership starting the New Year numbers 197, and that the Christmas project was adopted as an annual affair. The Yuletide program this year cost $397 which was raised by the printing of a program and contributions. It was not necessary to use treasury funds to finance any phase of the affair, the members were informed.

Twenty-seven letters, including communications from Tennessee, Illinois, West Virginia and all parts of this county were received, Dick reported, complimenting the community on its colorful Christmas display and program.

Dick appointed his committee chairmen for 1948 as follows:

Finance—Bernard T. Coulehan. Legislative—John S. Cook. Investigation—Alex Monnett. Entertainment—Mrs. Oscar Varner. By-laws—Harold C. Turner. Publicity—Mrs. Mildred Thomas. Welfare—Edward W. Shaffer and Rev. Robert L. Bridgers. Membership — Edward Brookman. Recreation and Playgrounds—Cecil Warnick and Joseph Nicodemus. Sanitation — Wilmer Nunnamaker. Special Events — Charles T. Pieffer.

The next meeting of the Association will be held Monday, January 19 at 7:30 p. m. at the community church.

Mizpah Bible Class Plans Valentine Party

Plans were made at a recent meeting of the Mizpah Bible Class in the social hall of Emmanuel Methodist Church to hold a Valentine party on Friday, February 13, as a feature of the February meeting. Members are invited to bring a friend to the party.

Rowe Malone, president, conducted the meeting. Virgil Bishop led the group in prayer, and Scripture was read by Jo Whalley. Twenty persons were present.

Robinette, trading as Fisher and Robinette, for a shipment of paper napkins, paper plates, cups and other paper products. Magistrate Perdew had rendered a verdict for the defendants, and the jury did likewise.

Fisher and Robinette, represented by William A. Gunter and William J. Gunter, claimed when they ordered the paper products, they were engaged in the food business and delivery had been promised by the company in 90 days. However, they discontinued serving food at their tavern, they testified, and about 16 months after the order had been placed, the merchandise arrived. They refused to accept the shipment and refused to pay for it.

Witnesses in the case included Myer Abramson, Mrs. Clara Shinholtz, Fisher and Robinette, James W. Duckworth, Lonaconing, was foreman of the 10-man jury which heard the case.

The final case of the day involved a dispute of $50 over work done in connection with the construction of a chimney on a new house in the Bedford Road section.

James H. Ruppert, represented by Earl E. Manges, and Graydon Durr, Cresaptown, a part time block mason, represented by Estel C. Kelley, were in dispute over the amount of work agreed to be done at a price, in the construction of a house for Ruppert.

Durr claimed his price of $160 had not included work done on a chimney, and sought $210, or $50 additional. Ruppert claimed the original bid had been $150 but he paid Durr $160 because some extra work had been done.

In the case before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, heard at Cresaptown the magistrate ruled in favor of Durr, but the jury, after deliberating over an hour and a half, found for Ruppert.

Witnesses in the case included Frank McMullen, James H. Ruppert, F. M. Hamilton, P. W. Smith and Leo Blubaugh. Archibald G. Perdew, this city, was jury foreman.

A fourth case scheduled for yesterday, Homer L. Geargart, represented by Estel C. Kelley, vs Paul L. Long, represented by William L. Geppert, was settled by counsel.

Nine civil cases are assigned for today, but one of these has already been settled by attorneys and it is believed some of the others may also be disposed of without jury trials. The settled case was that of Roy R. Hanly, represented by Clarence Lippel and E. J. Ryan, vs Stanford I. Ringler, represented by Gunter.

Turkey", which crashed last December 23 in the Northern Seward Peninsula. Six other crew members were rescued several days later, at which time it was learned that Lieutenants Sheetz and Arnett left the wreckage on foot, in an effort to walk 50 miles to an Eskimo village to seek help. They had not been heard from since.

Eskimo and Army dog teams and small civilian ski planes joined the Air Forces in a wide search for the plane and after the wreckage was found and the six crew men rescued, a search continued for the missing pilot and Sheetz who was a navigator instructor at Ladd field.

Lieut. Sheetz, a native of Keyser, saw action with the Air Forces in the China Burma India theater and participated in raids on Japan and other islands. He had been in Alaska about 16 months. He was last home in March of 1947 while on leave.

Lieut. Sheetz is well known in Keyser and vicinity. His wife, Mrs. Harriet Fisher Sheetz, is a daughter of the late Harry G. Fisher, one-time prominent Mineral county attorney. Her mother, Mrs. Fisher, resides on Ormond Street. Lieut. Sheetz has two sons, Frederick Sheetz, III, age 8 and Eric Sheetz, age 4 both at their home in Keyser with their mother, at 135 South Main Street.

Members of the family, contacted at Keyser last night said they had received no official word regarding the lost airman, since a telegram over two weeks ago, saying Lieut. Sheetz was missing.

Bar Association Elects Lippel

Clarence Lippel, 709 Washington Street, was elected president of the Allegany County Bar Association yesterday, to succeed W. Earle Cobey, 819 Windsor Road. The annual election was held in the Law Library at the Court House.

Estel C. Kelley, 708 Fayette Street, was named vice-president succeeding Lippel, and Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg was re - elected treasurer, with Paul M. Fletcher, 801 Ridgedale Avenue, assistant state's attorney being re - elected secretary.

William J. Gunter, recently admitted to the bar here, was admitted to membership in the Association upon the motion of his father, William A. Gunter.

At the suggestion of some of the members, a committee was appointed to study the question of amending a law to prohibit the register of wills or any of his clerks or deputies from preparing any papers in connection with the filing of documents in that office.

In other counties, only attorneys can prepare such papers, and the study here was termed "merely a matter of proper procedure," and was not designed as criticism of the register of wills office.

revealed their plans to stage a hold-up and "get some money."

After that the gang proceeded to the super market in two automobiles where Cunha and Pavlo got out and waited "almost an hour" for McElfish to return from the bank.

Police said McElfish had taken money to the bank but had brought none back to the market with him. When the pair approached him he began to scream and fight and attracted other employes who frightened the pair away.

Cunha, in his statement to police, identified Pavlo as the man who struck McElfish over the head with a German luger when the assistant manager attempted to grab and hold him. The luger was later found at the scene of the fight.

The five prisoners were still being held in City Jail last night.

Occupants Routed As Fire Damages Apartment House

A two-alarm fire which broke out in a Columbia Street apartment house early yesterday morning forced six occupants of the building to flee from the structure clad only in their night clothes.

Central and East Side companies were called to the two-story brick home owned by H. Harvey Hilt at 124 Columbia Street at 5:30 yesterday morning after fire was found in the front apartment of the dwelling.

The alarm was sounded when an elderly woman and her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Sheridan and Miss Mildred Sheridan, in the second floor apartment awoke to find flames bursting from a register at the foot of their bed.

The couple was forced to flee from the bedroom, clad only in their night clothes.

The apartment in which the fire is thought to have started, the front lower, was not occupied at the time, but Mr and Mrs. William E. McDaniels and their two young children, living in the back three rooms of the first floor, were also forced to leave the house in their night clothes.

The front apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Junior Newell, a newly married couple, who were not at home last night.

The second floor apartment was damaged more than the remainder of the building, with the Sheridans losing all of their clothes and most of the furniture in the central room, neighbors said.

Firemen, who fought the fire for an hour and 20 minutes, were able to remove Mrs. Sheridan's strong box containing bonds and valuable papers.

Mr. and Mrs. McDaniels and their two children and Mrs. Sheridan and her daughter took refuge from the cold in the next door home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leasure, 126 Columbia Street.

Mrs. Sheridan and her daughter are staying at the home of another daughter of Mrs. Sheridan, Mrs. William E. Murphy, 603 Greene Street.

Firemen stated that they thought the fire started from gas logs in the living room of the Newell apartment as several jets were found open after the blaze was extinguished.

West Side Fire Company was called to the home of Dora Allen, 3 Fayette Street, at 4:30 yesterday morning when a fire was discovered on the back porch of the two-story frame dwelling.

The porch flooring and banisters were damaged before firemen brought the blaze under control.

Flash Fire Reported At Local Funeral Home

East Side Fire Company was called to the Hafer Funeral Home, 230 Baltimore Avenue, yesterday at 2 p. m. when a flash fire occurred as attaches were cleaning a floor.

Firemen said the workers were cleaning the wood with steel wool and varnish remover and that the latter ignited when some of the steel wool was rubbed over a floor receptacle. The blaze was out when firemen arrived and nobody was injured in the blaze.

South End firemen were called to the repair shop of the Cumberland Motor Express, rear of 312 Springdale Street, yesterday at 11 a. m. when an overheated stove caused a blaze. Damage was slight, firemen said.

West Side Fire Company was called to the home of F. W. Nierman, 14 South Chase Street, yesterday at 11:01 a. m. after an electric motor of a radio-phonograph overheated.

Potomac Park To Seek Water Hydrants In '48

Begin Plans For Year's Activities

Potomac Park Improvement Association, which just completed its street lighting program as its 1947 project, and sponsored the most colorful Christmas lighting display of the area, embarked upon a new project at their regular meeting last night.

J. Milton Dick, president, said the Association has decided to make the initial 1948 community project one to obtain sufficient fire hydrants throughout the area, as a safeguard against spread of fire. Potomac Park is supplied with city water from Cumberland but has no hydrants for use in fire-fighting.

The street lighting project completed in December was termed generally successful, although there are a couple of areas where lights should be placed, members reported. It was decided to ask the Potomac Edison Company to send a lighting engineer to make a survey and if practical and feasible, install additional street lights.

Dick reported that membership starting the New Year numbers 197, and that the Christmas project was adopted as an annual affair. The Yuletide program this year cost $397 which was raised by the printing of a program and contributions. It was not necessary to use treasury funds to finance any phase of the affair, the members were informed.

Twenty-seven letters, including communications from Tennessee, Illinois, West Virginia and all parts of this county were received, Dick reported, complimenting the community on its colorful Christmas display and program.

Dick appointed his committee chairmen for 1948 as follows:

Finance—Bernard T. Coulehan. Legislative—John S. Cook. Investigation—Alex Monnett. Entertainment—Mrs. Oscar Varner. By-laws—Harold C. Turner. Publicity—Mrs. Mildred Thomas. Welfare—Edward W. Shaffer and Rev. Robert L. Bridgers. Membership — Edward Brookman. Recreation and Playgrounds—Cecil Warnick and Joseph Nicodemus. Sanitation — Wilmer Nunnamaker. Special Events — Charles T. Pieffer.

The next meeting of the Association will be held Monday, January 19 at 7:30 p. m. at the community church.

Robinette, trading as Fisher and Robinette, for a shipment of paper napkins, paper plates, cups and other paper products. Magistrate Perdew had rendered a verdict for the defendants, and the jury did likewise.

Fisher and Robinette, represented by William A. Gunter and William J. Gunter, claimed when they ordered the paper products, they were engaged in the food business and delivery had been promised by the company in 90 days. However, they discontinued serving food at their tavern, they testified, and about 16 months after the order had been placed, the merchandise arrived. They refused to accept the shipment and refused to pay for it.

Witnesses in the case included Myer Abramson, Mrs. Clara Shinholtz, Fisher and Robinette. James W. Duckworth, Lonaconing, was foreman of the 10-man jury which heard the case.

The final case of the day involved a dispute of $50 over work done in connection with the construction of a chimney on a new house in the Bedford Road section.

James H. Ruppert, represented by Earl E. Manges, and Graydon Durr, Cresaptown, a part time block mason, represented by Estel C. Kelley, were in dispute over the amount of work agreed to be done at a price, in the construction of a house for Ruppert.

Durr claimed his price of $160 had not included work done on a chimney, and sought $210, or $50 additional. Ruppert claimed the original bid had been $150 but he paid Durr $160 because some extra work had been done.

In the case before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, heard at Cresaptown the magistrate ruled in favor of Durr, but the jury, after deliberating over an hour and a half, found for Ruppert.

Witnesses in the case included Frank McMullen, James H. Ruppert, F. M. Hamilton, P. W. Smith and Leo Blubaugh. Archibald G. Perdew, this city, was jury foreman.

A fourth case scheduled for yesterday, Homer L. Geargart, represented by Estel C. Kelley, vs Paul L. Long, represented by William L. Geppert, was settled by counsel.

Nine civil cases are assigned for today, but one of these has already been settled by attorneys and it is believed some of the others may also be disposed of without jury trials. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lawrence Lipscomb, fined $25 and costs, his license was revoked and his car impounded for six months.

County Court Organizes

The Tucker County Circuit Court re-elected Edward Miller, Jr., Davis, president at a meeting held this week.

County Clerk E. L. Moon was instructed to receive bids until Feb. 1, for leasing the county farm upon the notification of Charles and Emery Snyder that their lease, which expires Feb. 1, would not be renewed.

Permission was given to the Agricultural Conservation Association to move its office into the office of the Soil Conservationist, Joseph Bundy, and to be shared jointly by the two associations.

Two women were named as not-

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13 (INS) — Tyrone Power flew in alone from Mexico City—without Linda Christian. But he hadn't been here five minutes before he was on the telephone calling her.

Jeanette McDonald

Linda follows in a week. I have no doubt that if Ty were free, he would marry Miss Christian today—he is that much in love. Annabella is expected to file tomorrow, so in a year Ty will be free, but a year in Hollywood is a long time.

• — • — •

Anne Baxter, who won an Academy award for "The Razor's Edge" with Tyrone Power, has postponed her trip to Hawaii to make another movie with Ty. This time she has the femme lead in "That Old Magic," or, as it has been renemed, "For Fear of Little Men."

Dean Stockwell, who is such a darling as Gregory Peck's son, in "Gentleman's Agreement," gets his hair dyed green. He is under contract to MGM, and has been borrowed for the title role in "The Boy With Green Hair," a fantasy, which was to have been made by Adrian Scott and Edward Dmytryk at RKO, before they were indicted.

Stephen Ames steps into Scott's shoes as the producer, and Joseph Losey steps into Dmytryk's shoes as director. Both Scott and Dmytryk have a date in Washington, having been indicted for refusing to answer questions asked them by the congressional committee on Un-American Activities.

• — • — •

Eleanor Parker read in the newspaper that the citizens of Oak Hill, Va., were having difficulty trying to raise $500 to buy an expensive and scarce drug necessary to save the life of Edith R. Burgess.

Eleanor immediately put in a long distance call to Oak Hill and said that she would make up the difference. She did it so quietly that Warner Brothers knew nothing about it, and when a reporter heard about it and telephoned the studio, asking if it was a press stunt, the publicity department didn't know what the reporter was talking about.

I call it a nice gesture on the part of Eleanor, who hopes her baby will be born on Valentine's Day. So does Bert Friedlob.

• — • — •

Chatter in Hollywood: Peter Lawford met Rita Hayworth New Years's Eve at a party, but it was just a casual introduction.

On Saturday he got up his nerve and telephoned her for a date. Rita had refused to go out with him up to that time, saying he was too young.

Well, she finally accepted Pete's invitation. They had dinner and went dancing at all the night spots—but I still don't think this is going to be a romance. As far as Peter is concerned, it could be, but Rita still thinks he's young—but a good dancer and fun.

• — • — •

The much publicized life of Tom Mix will probably go to Herbert Yates at Republic. Yates has made Thomasina and her mother, Mrs. Victoria Mix, an offer for Tom's life story for John Wayne.

• — • — •

Ginger Rogers has taken an option on "Peg O' My Heart" and will do a radio show based on this famous play.

Although she and Enterprise have mutually agreed to dissolve their contract, and she will not make "Wild Calendar," she has kept her offices on that lot. Ginger felt the script wasn't right, and because of so many postponements, she didn't want to be held up any longer, so she asked for her release.

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Angela Greene has been ordered to stay in bed until the birth of her baby in three months. She is married to Stu Martin, New York socialite.

The Lila Leeds-Turhan Bey Romance is blazing. They danced at Ciro's much the way she used to dance with Steve Crane.

Jim Davis telephones Ann Sothern at Sun Valley practically every day. That's a romance that will bear watching.

Peggy Cummins leaves Ireland in a few days, accompanied by her grandmother, whom she will bring to Hollywood to live with her.

MGM denies that the Al Jolson deal is off, although it's said that Gene Kelly doesn't want to follow Larry Parks.

Oleg Cassini, who arrived in town, is now trying to persuade Gene Tierney he's the one. She's been seeing Charles Feldman practically every evening.

The girl who is ocupying Paul Douglas' time in New York is Eleanor French.

John Payne has signed a two-picture a year deal with Universal-International which starts with "Larceny."

Jeanette MacDonald, who leaves on an extended personal appearance tour on Monday, has agreed to sing at the Republican National Convention this summer.

That's all today.

George Burns To Be Crosby's Guest Without Gracie

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—George Burns broadcasting without Gracie the Allen seems to be the sole reason for his being on the air Wednesday night instead of the usual Thursday. Also it's ABC instead of NBC, and not in his own program, rather that of Bing Crosby, which is recorded ahead of time. Time is 10 p. m.

Along with George is Evelyn Knight, she of the songs.

The CBS network was all set for a change in its schedule so that it could put on another of its documentary series, this one titled "Report Card" and to deal with education. But before the rehearsals could be started, it was decided that considerable more time would be needed in script preparation, so the broadcast "has been deferred for presentation at a date to be announced later." How much later has not been indicated.

"Mr." District Attorney of the radio acting attorneys has picked "The case of the Blue Hand," without identifying it further in advance, for his NBC time at 9:30, that is in case you might like to tune in.

Mme. Eelco N. van Kleffens, wife of the Netherlands ambassador is to be interviewed on a "Woman's Eye-View of Holland" for CBS in its 6:15 Talks Time.

The March of Science division of the CBS School of the Air at 5 is to dramatize a modern assembly line and the folk who work at them. . . . Vox Poppers of ABC at 3:30, broadcasting from Stanwood, Iowa, a town with 569 population.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Little Black Sheep, Revised

Ever since I wrote a column concerning a Yale '12 man's complaints of the treatment accorded the "Whiffenpoof Song" on the radio, a torrent of response has poured in. The "Whiffenpoof Song" is a more controversial subject than the Marshall Plan and I should have had sense enough to leave it alone. The comments fall into two categories — praise (Yale men), abuse (Harvard men and all others). The praise has been filed in the slender, almost empty envelope we set aside wistfully for that sort of thing. The censure, which for reasons I've never been able to understand is always more interesting than praise, deserves some mention.

John Crosby

The principal objection of the Harvards and others is that the Yale singing society known as the Whiffenpoofs themselves committed lese majeste by appropriating a song that didn't and shouldn't belong to them. As virtually every one in America except myself was fully aware, the song is a rather drastic rearrangement of Rudyard Kipling's "Gentlemen Rankers." The Kipling poem was a poignant, sentimental and superlatively British lament of English gentlemen who had fallen beneath their station and were now—gad, the disgrace of it!—enlisted men in the British army.

There was considerable reason for the "Gentlemen Rankers'" complaint that they were "damned from here to eternity" but it has never been very clear why the "gentlemen songsters" of Yale were headed for perdition. Apart from this substitution, the refrain of the "Whiffenpoof Song" is almost identical with that of Kipling. The verses, however, are quite different.

The Yale Glee Club quartet of 1909 is responsible for both the song and the Whiffenpoof society. The quartet was having dinner at Mory's, a restaurant in New Haven which was and still is well fitted to the gustatory and vocal requirements of college men, and they decided to become an organization separate from the glee club. The name Whiffenpoof was borrowed from a music hall comedian named Joe Cawthorn, who used to tell a fish story about a mythical monster called a whiffenpoof.

The Kipling poem had been set to music a good many years earlier. Several Harvard men wrote me that the music was composed by a Harvard man—Guy H. Scull '98. However the Yale song book stubbornly insists that the music was written by an Amherst man—Tod Galloway '85. In any case, it wasn't written by a Yale man. The verse was written by two members of the original Whiffenpoofs — Meade Minnigerode and George Pomeroy, both '10.

The song opens with the words:

"To the tables down at Mory's,
"To the place where Louis dwells,
"To the dear old Temple Bar we love so well—"

To non-Yale men the references are obscure. Mory's, as explained above, is a restaurant and still is the headquarters of the Whiffenpoofs, who sing not only their own but a great many other songs there, punctuated by frequent drafts of beer. The Louis of the second line was Louis Mory, the proprietor. The words Temple Bar refer to the Whiffenpoof insignia carved on a table at Mory's which bears a very slight resemblance to the griffon on the Temple Bar monument in the Strand, London.

Robert Merrill, the baritone star of the R.C.A.-Victor Show, claims responsibility—and a heavy responsibility it is—for pulling the song out of the cloisters of Yale and unloosing it on the unlettered of Harvard and others. While he had no idea of the deluge to come, Mr. Merrill realized he was treading on delicate ground. He made a pilgrimage to Mory's before releasing his record and played it before several members of the Whiffenpoof society. They thought it fine. However, Yale men loyally prefer the record made by the Yale Glee Club.

I have only one observation to add to this history. The Kipling words were certainly more challenging poetry than those of the Whiffenpoofs but they have become archaic. In World War II, a man lost caste when he descended to officer status, rather than vice versa. Throughout the war, officers who had once been enlisted men brought this matter to your attention at the first opportunity. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Leah Pansy Schneider, who passed away, 1 year ago today, Jan. 14, 1947.
Memories and treasures none can steal.
Death leaves a heartache none can heal.
Some have forgotten you, now that you're gone;
But we will remember you, no matter how long.
Flowers we place upon your grave,
Will wither and decay;
But love for the one who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by her son & daughters, Donald Schneider, Mrs. Eleanor Winebrenner, Mrs. Rita Higgins.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, daughter and sister, Elizabeth Sigler Frost. We especially thank Rev. Crowe and the choir of Midland Methodist Church. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
Children of Mrs. Frost, her father, brothers and sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Leah Pansy Schneider, who passed away, 1 year ago today, Jan. 14, 1947.
Memories and treasures none can steal.
Death leaves a heartache none can heal.
Some have forgotten you, now that you're gone;
But we will remember you, no matter how long.
Flowers we place upon your grave,
Will wither and decay;
But love for the one who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by her son & daughters, Donald Schneider, Mrs. Eleanor Winebrenner, Mrs. Rita Higgins.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, daughter and sister, Elizabeth Bigler Frost. We especially thank Rev. Crowe and the choir of Midland Methodist Church. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
Children of Mrs. Frost, her father, brothers and sisters.

Oils Lead Stock Market Downswing; Late Flurry Cuts Extreme Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Oils led a downswing in today's stock market that put sizable dents in virtually all departments.

Dealings slowed at intervals and extreme losses running to two or more points were reduced at the start of the final hour. Selling then quickened and many issues closed at or near the lows of the day. Transfers for the full stretch amounted to 950,000 shares against 1,000,000 the day before.

Among the day's exceptions were Pacific Western Oil, which rallied at the last for a net gain of 1¾ at 49¼, and Copperweld Steel, up one at 16⅝. Modest improvement was retained by American Tobacco "B," Packard Motors and International Nickel.

Amerada Petroleum dropped 3¾ at 99¼. Down one to two or so were Standard Oil (NJ) at 74¾, Texas Company., 56½, Gulf Oil 64⅞, Plymouth Oil 46⅞, Standard Oil of Ohio 28½, Texas Pacific Land Trust 34¾, Phillips Petroleum 58½, Ohio Oil 30⅝, Texas Gulf Producing 20⅞, Continental Oil of Delaware 50½, Bethlehem Steel 99⅛, Follansbee Steel 37⅝, Chrysler 60½, Montgomery Ward 51¾, International Harvester 90, Caterpillar Tractor 59½, Douglas Aircraft 52, Boeing 23⅝, Schenley 28½, American Smelting 53¾, Philip Morris 27⅛, American Woolen 42½, Santa Fe 93, Southern Pacific 46¾, Southern Railway 37, Union Pacific 158½, Illinois Central 29⅞ and Nickel Plate Railroad 49¼.

Touching bottom for the past year were Loew's which ended off three fourths at 16⅞ and Twentieth Sentury-Fox, off seven eights at 20½.

Backward in the curb were American Republics, Humble Oil, Sherwin-Williams, Woodley Petroleum, Pantepec, Franklin Stores and Aluminum of America. Ahead were United Shoe Machinery and Winnipeg Electric. Turnover here was 210,000 shares versus 230,000 yesterday.

Volume contracted to $4,294,000 from $4,670,000 Monday.

Intermediate and short term government issues slipped here and there in the over - the - counter market.

Griffith, a veteran of World War II with more than one year's overseas duty, is a store manager of Hambleton. He will be away for approximately seven weeks before returning to his business in Hambleton.

Troy J. Schaffer, Parsons, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant with the United States Army Air Force in Munich, Germany. Sgt. Schaffer, who first entered the army in 1944, re-enlisted in 1945 for a three year period and is now with the Headquarters and Base Service Squadron of the 486th Air Service Group in Germany, where he is a cryptographic Technician. Efforts Of Police To Save Baby Fail

Efforts of two city policemen to save the life of a three-month-old child suffering from whooping cough failed last night when the child did not respond to treatment of a resuscitator.

Attaches at Memorial Hospital said Connie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, 30 Arch Street, was pronounced dead upon admittance to the hospital at 9:45 p. m.

Police officials said the father called headquarters at 9:20 and requested the resuscitator but when Officers John Powers and James Brown failed to revive the infant with first applications they took the baby to the hospital.

A person, whom police could not identify, was applying artificial respiration when police arrived, officers said, but the infant was not responding.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, was called to the hospital to make an examination before the child was removed, but early this morning he had not given a verdict.

FOOD MAY WIN PEACE, WILSON SAYS

If food won the war in 1918, it may well win the peace in 1948, Alexander Wilson, Philadelphia, director of trade relations for two magazines, "The Farm Journal" and "The Pathfinder," said yesterday in addressing the Cumberland Rotary Club at Central YMCA.

Wilson said increased understanding is necessary of the problems of agriculture, labor and industry to achieve that goal.

He traced the rapid development of agriculture as a major industry during the past 40 years, with improved equipment and scientific methods reducing the difference between farm and urban families.

In this connection, he displayed a map of the United States, pointing out that for every urban county in the country, there are six predominantly rural counties.

"Production problems have largely been solved," he said. "Never have so few fed so many so well."

He added that study of soil conditions is one of the most important sociological advances in the past 40 years because it has made possible increased agricultural production.

Bollinger Pleads Guilty In Shooting

George Adbiel Bollinger, 19-year-old Westminster youth, was at large on $1,000 bond last night after pleading guilty to unlawfully firing a gun which resulted in Marion Evans, Paw Paw, W. Va., suffering a flesh wound in her chest, according to police.

Bollinger was charged with feloniously firing a German Luger at a car in which Miss Evans was riding after she left him at a tavern and drove away with other friends.

Berkeley County, W. Va., authorities said Bollinger was indicted by the January Term of Grand Jury and entered the plea of guilty to unlawfully discharging the weapon. He is scheduled to be sentenced January 19.

Bollinger, according to authorities, had made the acquaintance of the girl while he was visiting in Berkeley County on a hunting trip and then returned later to visit her.

The shooting took place after she left him in a tavern and drove off with other friends. Police said Bollinger followed in another car driven by a friend and fired several shots in the direction of the car in which the Paw Paw girl was riding.

One of the shots, according to police, pierced the rear of the car and struck Miss Evans in the chest. She was treated by a Paw Paw physician, who described the injury as a flesh wound.

Oils Lead Stock Market Downswing; Late Flurry Cuts Extreme Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Oils led a downswing in today's stock market that put sizable dents in virtually all departments.

Dealings slowed at intervals and extreme losses running to two or more points were reduced at the start of the final hour. Selling then quickened and many issues closed at or near the lows of the day. Transfers for the full stretch amounted to 950,000 shares against 1,000,000 the day before.

Among the day's exceptions were Pacific Western Oil, which rallied at the last for a net gain of 1¾ at 49¼, and Copperweld Steel, up one at 16⅝. Modest improvement was retained by American Tobacco "B," Packard Motors and International Nickel.

Amerada Petroleum dropped 3¾ at 99¼. Down one to two or so were Standard Oil (NJ) at 74¾, Texas Company, 56½, Gulf Oil 64⅞, Plymouth Oil 46⅞, Standard Oil of Ohio 28½, Texas Pacific Land Trust 34¾, Phillips Petroleum 58½, Ohio Oil 30⅝, Texas Gulf Producing 20⅞, Continental Oil of Delaware 50½, Bethlehem Steel 99⅛, Follansbee Steel 37⅝, Chrysler 60½, Montgomery Ward 51¾, International Harvester 90, Caterpillar Tractor 59½, Douglas Aircraft 52, Boeing 23⅝, Schenley 28½, American Smelting 53¾, Philip Morris 27⅛, American Woolen 42½, Santa Fe 93, Southern Pacific 46¾, Southern Railway 37, Union Pacific 158½, Illinois Central 29⅞ and Nickel Plate Railroad 49¼.

Touching bottom for the past year were Loew's which ended off three fourths at 16⅞ and Twentieth Sentury-Fox, off seven eights at 20½.

Backward in the curb were American Republics, Humble Oil, Sherwin-Williams, Woodley Petroleum, Pantepec, Franklin Stores and Aluminum of America. Ahead were United Shoe Machinery and Winnipeg Electric. Turnover here was 210,000 shares versus 230,000 yesterday.

Railroad bonds took a spill in the bond market after advancing or holding steady for the past week.

Volume contracted to $4,294,000 from $4,670,000 Monday.

Intermediate and short term government issues slipped here and there in the over - the - counter market.

After 23 months duty and at the close of the war he returned to Parsons where he purchased the farm he now owns at Holly Meadows to become a farmer and dairyman.

Felton, a son of the late J. W. Felton, who was a supervisor of State Roads for several years, first held an office in this county when he served as a member of the Tucker county court from 1927 until 1933 when he became assessor.

Several Join Services

Arthur W. Fuhrman, husband of Mildred Wade Fuhrman, Parsons, who has been given the rating of staff sergeant. S-Sgt. Fuhrman previously had nine and one half years service with the Army and requested European command duty for his five year period of re-enlistment. His wife and son are now residing with her parents in Parsons.

Harry Dale King husband of Opal King, Kerens, who previously served in the army in World War II, has enlisted with the air force and was given the rank of Technican fifth grade. Mrs. King and their infant son, Allen Dale, are living in Parsons.

Arch F. Roy, son of Arch Roy, Dry Fork, also enlisted in the air corps with the rank of PFC. He had previously served with the army with several months of overseas duty. He is now attending a special air force training school open to high school graduates prior to being assigned to duty.

John R. DeVore, husband of Jacqulin Marie DeVore, Thomas, has enlisted in the air corps and has been given the rank of coporal. Cpl. DeVore previously served with the Navy as a Coxswain. His wife and son will make their home in Cumberland, Md., during his enlistment.

Service Notes

Charles "Bud" Griffith, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffith, Hambleton, and husband of Mrs. Ellen Nelson Griffith, has enlisted with the Merchant Seamen and left Sunday from Norfolk, Va., for Southern France. Griffith, a veteran of World War II with more than one year's overseas duty, is a store manager of Hambleton. He will be away for approximately seven weeks before returning to his business in Hambleton.

Troy J. Schaffer, Parsons, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant with the United States Army Air Force in Munich, Germany. Sgt. Schaffer, who first entered the army in 1944, re-enlisted in 1945 for a three year period and is now with the Headquarters and Base Service Squadron of the 486th Air Service Group in Germany, where he is a cryptographic Technician. Efforts Of Police To Save Baby Fail

Efforts of two city policemen to save the life of a three-month-old child suffering from whooping cough failed last night when the child did not respond to treatment of a resuscitator.

Attaches at Memorial Hospital said Connie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, 30 Arch Street, was pronounced dead upon admittance to the hospital at 9:45 p. m.

Police officials said the father called headquarters at 9:20 and requested the resuscitator but when Officers John Powers and James Brown failed to revive the infant with first applications they took the baby to the hospital.

A person, whom police could not identify, was applying artificial respiration when police arrived, officers said, but the infant was not responding.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, was called to the hospital to make an examination before the child was removed, but early this morning he had not given a verdict.

FOOD MAY WIN PEACE, WILSON SAYS

If food won the war in 1918, it may well win the peace in 1948, Alexander Wilson, Philadelphia, director of trade relations for two magazines, "The Farm Journal" and "The Pathfinder," said yesterday in addressing the Cumberland Rotary Club at Central YMCA.

Wilson said increased understanding is necessary of the problems of agriculture, labor and industry to achieve that goal.

He traced the rapid development of agriculture as a major industry during the past 40 years, with improved equipment and scientific methods reducing the difference between farm and urban families.

In this connection, he displayed a map of the United States, pointing out that for every urban county in the country, there are six predominantly rural counties.

"Production problems have largely been solved," he said. "Never have so few fed so many so well."

He added that study of soil conditions is one of the most important sociological advances in the past 40 years because it has made possible increased agricultural production.

Directors named include Joseph H. Reinhart, John L. Wellington, Wilson, Schramm, Cook and Dudley.

The new directors at Second National Bank are well known residents of Cumberland. Dr. Cook, a dentist, is president of the Maryland State Dental Association and a 33rd degree member of the Masons. Hitchins is president of the Tri-State Mine and Mill Supply Company and a member of the Maryland State Tax Commission. Mosner, cashier of the bank since 1942, entered the employ of the bank in 1938.

Tasker G. Lowndes, president, in reviewing the Second National Bank's operations in 1947, said the directors ordered the payment of $2 per share in dividends. Because of the advancing cost of living, Lowndes pointed out, wage increases of 15 per cent were granted to all bank personnel except senior officers. He added that group life insurance coverage for all employes, paid for entirely by the bank, was adopted.

Bollinger Pleads Guilty In Shooting

George Adbiel Bollinger, 19-year-old Westminster youth, was at large on $1,000 bond last night after pleading guilty to unlawfully firing a gun which resulted in Marion Evans, Paw Paw, W. Va., suffering a flesh wound in her chest, according to police.

Bollinger was charged with feloniously firing a German Luger at a car in which Miss Evans was riding after she left him at a tavern and drove away with other friends.

Berkeley County, W. Va., authorities said Bollinger was indicted by the January Term of Grand Jury and entered the plea of guilty to unlawfully discharging the weapon. He is scheduled to be sentenced January 19.

Bollinger, according to authorities, had made the acquaintance of the girl while he was visiting in Berkeley County on a hunting trip and then returned later to visit her.

The shooting took place after she left him in a tavern and drove off with other friends. Police said Bollinger followed in another car driven by a friend and fired several shots in the direction of the car in which the Paw Paw girl was riding.

One of the shots, according to police, pierced the rear of the car and struck Miss Evans in the chest. She was treated by a Paw Paw physician, who described the injury as a flesh wound.

Norris Charged With Attacking State Trooper

Three Others Face Hunting Law Counts

Four men, one of whom allegedly attacked a Maryland State Trooper when he attempted to arrest them on illegal hunting charges yesterday morning at 1 o'clock in the Belle Grove section, were released on their own recognizance pending trial in Magistrates Court, according to police.

Police identified Donald Norris, Little Orleans, as the man facing the assault charge, and said he attacked Trooper H. L. Basore, stationed at Hancock, when the trooper went to the aid of two game wardens who were attempting to search a car in which Norris and the three other men were sitting.

According to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, Norris, a brother, Albin Norris, also of Little Orleans, James Rowe and Kenneth Gray, both of this city, were suspected of hunting with a spotlight during the night.

Game Wardens James Smith and Willard Wachter, who were patroling the rural roads enforcing game laws, noticed the quartet shining the spotlight over open fields, and suspected them of hunting for deer.

When they attempted to search the car, the four men resisted, according to Minke, and Trooper Basore, who was riding with them came to their assistance. Norris was treated for lacerations of the head and appeared in court with his head bandaged. He was held in Allegany County Jail over night.

Trooper Basore said the four men had a spotlight and a .30-.30 rifle in the car at the time they were searched. The quartet, along with the two game wardens and Trooper Basore, appeared in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew but the hearing was postponed when Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the defendants, requested that the hearing be transferred to another magistrate.

Attaches said the trial of the four men was scheduled for Friday morning at 10 a. m. before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. Authorities said the gun and spotlight were confiscated for evidence.

Minke explained that hunting for any species of game at night with a spotlight is illegal.

Six Inches Of Snow In Garrett County

Six inches of snow covered Garrett County last night and State Police said it was still "snowing hard" at 11 p. m.

They said roads, while cindered, were covered with snow and ice and advised motorists to use chains and drive with caution.

Light snow was falling in Cumberland shortly after midnight and the weatherman predicted snow flurries again today.

State Police said that while State Roads Commission crews in Garrett County had roads there in fair shape by nightfall, they probably would be called out again before morning if the heavy snowfall continued.

The temperature at Grantsville was 20 degrees at 11 p. m.

While light snow fell intermittently in the Cumberland section yesterday, it was of no consequence, but up to two inches was reported in the eastern end of the county.

All roads in Allegany County were reported as clear and in good condition by State Police who said Route 40 was clear to Hagerstown but not in as good condition east of that city. As much as four inches of snow was reported in Frederick.

The temperature in Cumberland at 11 p. m. was just two degrees below freezing but it was expected to drop considerably lower by morning.

At Deal, Pa., it was 20 and an inch and a half of snow covered the ground. At Thomas, W. Va., it was 22 and snow amounted to four inches.

Police Believe Holdup Gang May Solve Bank Case

Three Men Still Sought In East

City police last night pinned hopes of solving an attempted robbery at the Second National Bank December 21, on the apprehension of Eddie Pavlo, Newark, N. J., one of three men still sought in connection with an attempted holdup here Monday.

Police said Pavlo may identify a Cumberland man who will furnish information regarding the attempted bany robbery. Joseph Cunha, 22, Newark, who was arrested along with three other men and an 18-year-old girl told police a Cumberland man furnished information to Pavlo which led to the attempted holdup here Monday.

Cunha admitter that he and Pavlo attempted to hold up Rosco M. McElfish, assistant manager at the super market as he returned from the bank.

Seek Local Man's Name

Authorities quoted Cunha as telling them that Pavlo had been informed that McElfish carried large sums of money to and from the bank here when he met a Cumberland man in Newark.

Police said Cunha was unable to identify the man, but described him as a friend of Pavlo's. An oxygen tank, which was used by the persons who attempted to break into a night depository at the Second National Bank had previously been traced to Newark, police explained.

Meanwhile Cunha, Ellen "Honey" Sona, Gabriel Cunha, Daniel D'Wulit, and James Minnella, who were arrested near Burlington, W. Va., three hours after McElfish was struck in the head with a German Luger when he resisted Pavlo and Cunha, were being held here for further investigation pending a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

Authorities said the quintet all made statements at the office of the State's Attorney yesterday and will probably be arraigned in Trial Magistrates Court sometime today.

Police continued to push a search throughout the entire Atlantic Coast section last night in an effort to apprehend Pavlo and two companions identified by Cunha as Ranzo and Wesley Joseph Mills.

Chief of Police R. Emmitt Flynn and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya arrested the four men and girl yesterday, but said the others escaped in another car.

A detailed description of the three men and the car in which they escaped has been broadcast to all police departments along the Atlantic Coast, according to police, who added that warrants have been sworn out for the three men.

Girl Planned To Wed

Investigator Holsinger said the girl described herself as a dancer and claims she is under contract with the Maulin Rouge Cafe in New Orleans, La., where she is known as Sherry Joyce, a stage name.

According to Holsinger, the girl told him she had returned to Newark on a Christmas vacation and planned to marry Pavlo, whom she has known for about a year. Police said she told them she came to Cumberland with Pavlo believing they were to be married here and did not know that he and Cunha had planned a holdup.

The girl told police she and the seven men arrived in Cumberland Saturday and registered at two local hotels, where they stayed until Monday at 9 a. m. At that time, according to police, they checked out of the hotels and met at a parking lot where Cunha and Pavlo vaguely

Old Mule, Paper Cups, New Chimney Figure In Three Court Trials Here

Establish Precedents In Civil Appeals

A mule, some paper cups, and a chimney were the features of three Civil Appeals cases heard by January Circuit Court juries yesterday, with the second day of the current jury term being marked with several precedents.

Attaches said it was the first time any of them could recall the completion of three jury cases in a single day. It was also the first time a case has been tried here with 10 jurors instead of the customary 12, and it was also the first time the Court had to stop proceedings to chase an "extra" juror out of the jury box.

After the first case went to the jury, there were 10 veniremen available to try the second, so attorneys on each side agreed to try the case with the available 10.

During the proceedings of the second case, the jury of the first case returned to the Court room with its verdict. One of these 12 jurors, somehow managed to find a seat in the jury box with the 10 jurors sitting on the second case. He was eventually discovered and Chief Judge William A. Huster stopped proceedings long enough to get the 11th man a seat elsewhere.

The first case of the day was an appeal of a decision of Trial Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., involving the death of a mule on the highway near Lonaconing, last July 28, when the animal and an auto collided.

Bruce Sustained

The Trial Magistrate, who awarded Carl Whitman, car owner, $300 from the Georges Creek Coal Company, owner of the mule, was upheld by the jury, and the company is to pay Whitman $300 damages for his car.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for Whitman, with Thomas B. Finan representing the Coal Company.

It was claimed the mule, believed to have been about 25 years old, got out of a pasture through a broken fence and plunged down a bank against the side of Whitman's car, and then lunged to the other side of the road where it died.

The company's attorney claimed that Jake Click, stable boss for the mining firm, has always taken good care of the 14 mules and this is the first time any of the animals has figured in a mishap. Negligence on the part of the coal company was denied, but the jury decided that Whitman should be paid for damages to his car.

William C. Knippenberg, Midland, was jury foreman, and Chief Judge Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson presided.

Perdew Sustained

In a case appealed from Trial Magistrate Frank A. Perdew, a jury returned a verdict sustaining the magistrate's decision, after a short deliberation.

This case was a suit by the Morris Paper Company, represented by Milton Gerson, seeking payment from Harry Fisher and Robert

Demonstration On Tuberculosis Held For Lay Council

TB Still Ranks High In Cause Of Deaths

While tuberculosis has dropped from first to seventh as the cause of death in the United States, it still ranks first as the grim reaper in the age bracket of 15 to 45, the prime years of life, Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse, said last night.

Miss Hardman, who gave a demonstration on care of a tubercular patient at home, told the Allegany County Lay Health Council that tuberculosis is curable but that in order to be cured the patient must have complete rest.

She pointed out that 72 new cases of tuberculosis were reported in Allegany County in 1947 and added that 40 of these 72 cases were in Cumberland.

She said the two usual types of tuberculosis are primary and reinfection.

In her demonstration, Miss Hardman showed how an effort is made to convince the patient that complete bed rest is essential. She also showed how the tubercular patient should be cared for and how other members of the family can be protected.

Assisting in the demonstration were Mrs. Ruby Kirk and sons, James and Allen, and Mrs. John Barncord.

During the business session, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, offered a suggestion to stimulate attendance at council meetings.

While he said attendance has been very good, he suggested that in months when good weather prevails council meetings might be held at other towns in the county besides Cumberland.

A feature of the meeting was the showing of a sound movie, "Time Out," showing the importance of complete rest in a sanatorium for recovery of a tuberculosis patient.

Mrs. Arthur Evans, county council chairman, presided at the meeting

Local Man Held In Nickel Peanut Machine Theft

Motor Law Charge Also May Be Filed

One man was held in city jail on a larceny charge and he and another man faced possible motor vehicle charges as a result of the theft of a nickel peanut vending machine and wrecking of two motor vehicles on the Mexico Farms road early last night, according to State Police.

State Trooper William F. Baker said Charles Walter Lee, Mexico Farms, took the peanut vending machine from the Blue Room, operated on Oldtown Road just outside the city limits by Fred Riggs.

Lee, who police said, had been drinking beer in the establishment, told Riggs, Trooper Baker said, that when he left the machine "is going with me."

As Lee departed, he entered a panel truck and drove off, police said, adding that David Bierman, also of Mexico Farms, left at the same time in a convertible coupe and drove off in the same direction.

As the two machines approached the B. and O. crossing on Mexico Farms Road, Bierman's convertible left the road and wrecked in a ravine, Trooper Baker said.

He added that just opposite the spot where Bierman's car wrecked, Lee's truck upset on its top after dropping down a two-foot embankment.

Lee got a ride to Cumberland from the scene of the accident, and Bierman, who suffered a cut on the forehead and a laceration of the right knee, was treated in Memorial Hospital.

Lee was taken into custody while in bed at his home by Trooper Baker last night at 11 o'clock and was brought to Cumberland and lodged in city jail for a hearing on the larceny charge at 10:30 a. m. today in Trial Magistrates Court.

Trooper Baker said motor vehicle charges against both Lee and Bierman depend on the completion of the investigation.

Russian People Against Despotic Rule, Daniel Says

Communists Oppose Marshall Plan

Stating that the nature of the Russian people is instinctively opposed to despotic rule, Hawthorne Daniel, noted author and foreign correspondent, said last night he is "hopeful the time is not too far distant" when the Russian nature will assert itself.

Daniel addressed an audience of 82 persons at the January meeting of the Cumberland National Dinner Club, held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The Russian people, Daniel said, showed an "astonishing capacity" for opposition to the former Czarist rule, whose only basic difference as compared to the present Communist dictatorship was that there was always a Czarevitch to succeed to power.

Traces Industrial Development

Pointing out that undoubtedly a number of would-be leaders would try to gain power if Stalin died, Daniel expressed hope that new leadership would draw the Russian people away from the present concept of rule by a small group.

In the meantime, he said, "there is nothing which would please the Communists more than to have the Marshall Plan fail. This country holds the torch of liberty for the entire world."

Daniel, who was introduced by Robert Little Ebert, a director of the club, devoted the first half of his address to a detailed description of the industrial development of Britian, the United States and Germany.

Britain and the United States, he said, are among the "handful" of nations who have successfully put democratic principles into operation. On the other hand, he declared, the failure of a short-lived democratic revolution in Germany in 1848 is one of the important reasons for the "ghastly complication of problems" facing the world today.

Concept Of "One World"

Since that revolution, there was no serious attempt to put democracy into practice in Germany, and the nation's industrial energies were devoted largely to armament production for military conquest, Daniel explained.

The concept of "one world" will probably not be realized for a long time to come because of the present sharp line of demarcation in political ideology, with the conflicting principles of the freedom and dignity of the individual versus rule by small powerful groups, he declared.

Daniel stressed the fact that with the exception of about 10 nations, most peoples of the world have never had any actual contact with democratic processes in action.

He pointed out that Russia, a land of many languages and races, could not be ready for direct self-government without long preparation, even if such a change were proposed.

A half-hour forum discussion concluded the meeting.

Holden To Seek Agreement In Dairy Dispute

Conciliator Confers With Managers, Union

Federal Conciliator James A. Holden, Washington, said last night that a meeting between Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, and five Cumberland area dairies will be arranged soon in an effort to reach an agreement on a new contract.

His only comment after meetings held yesterday was that the parties to the dispute are "still talking."

Holden met yesterday afternoon with the dairy managers and the union prior to a general meeting last night at 7:30 o'clock in the Fort Cumberland Hotel but declined to report the degree of progress made at the sessions.

The News was told, however, that the parties were on "better terms" as a result of the conferences yesterday and that there was distinct progress on some issues which do not involve money, including an agreement to have the contract run for 13 months, until February 1, 1949.

Prior to the meeting, the status of offers was reported as: an offer of the firms to cut the present 48 hour week to a 44 hour guaranteed week, with time and one-half after 40 hours, plus an 18 cent an hour incvrease to bring the pay from 90 cents to $1.08; an offer to increase minimum pay for drivers from $40 to $45 and an offer on a graduated scale for mechanics.

A union official said the negotiations will continue but that no definite plans have been made for the next meeting.

Plans For LaVale Water Co. To Be Outlined Thursday

Public Meeting Set For LaVale Fire Hall

Proposed plans for securing an additional water supply for the LaVale Water Company in order to meet present and future demands of the community will be outlined by a representative of a Baltimore engineering firm at a public meeting to be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in LaVale Fire Hall.

Members of a committee of LaVale residents authorized to contact an engineer to make a survey for an additional water supply, said the plans will be presented by Forrest I. Cronkhite, of the Baltimore firm of Saxe, Williar and Robertson, consulting engineers.

Cronkhite, who will come here tonight or early tomorrow, will make a survey of the entire water system as it stands before presenting the plans for the additional water supply Thursday night.

The survey is being made by the Small-Paye Engineering Company of Cumberland in conjunction with Saxe, Williar and Robertson.

The committee, headed by Roy C. Lottig as chairman, believes that when these plans are carried out there will be "an adequate water supply for LaVale."

This committee already has written to Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, requesting assistance in investigating potential underground water sources to relieve the present situation.

At the present time the company's supply comes from Laber Spring at the foot of Red Hill, from two drilled wells and from Sand Spring on Braddock Road.

There are two main reservoirs, one at Red Hill and another just below the C. and P. Railroad on Braddock Road.

Keyser Trio Will Get Hearing Today In Assault Case

A search by Keyser, W. Va., police for James Pennington, 25, Keyser, charged with assault with intent to kill Fred Kesner, owner of the Skyline Inn, Route 50, ended yesterday afternoon when the fugitive surrendered at Police Headquarters.

Mayor John Freeland said Pennington was released on $1,000 pending a hearing this afternoon. Robert C. Pennington, a brother, ad Arthur Helmick, 20, both of Keyser, are being held in Mineral County, W. Va., Jail, Keyser, on the same charge.

James Pennington was identified by Mayor Freeland as the man who pressed a screw driver against Kesner's head after the trio dragged him from the Inn to the road when he refused to sell them alcoholic beverages Monday night.

Robert Pennington and Helmick, who fled with James from the inn when witnesses went to the defense of Kesner, were taken into custody Monday night in Keyser.

Mayor Freeland said he sighted Pennington yesterday just as he turned into police headquarters to surrender. Police said they did not know where the fugitive had spent the night.

Kesner was quoted by authorities as saying the trio entered his place of business about 7:30 p. m. Monday and demanded beer. Police said Kesner refused to make the sale because the men were already intoxicated.

When the proprietor refused to make the sale, the trio grabbed him and dragged him to the road, according to police, and James Pennington attempted to push a screw driver through his head. Authorities said the tool pierced the skin, but explained the wound was not serious.

Kesner was treated by a Keyser physician and discharged. He then caused warrants for the three men to be sworn out before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, charging them with assault and battery with intent to kill.

Justice of the Peace Bazzle said the trio is scheduled to be given a preliminary hearing before her this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Bonds for the remaining two prisoners were also set at $1,000 but they were being held in jail last night in default.

Temperature Reading

Snow was falling in Cumberland shortly after midnight with the temperature at that hour hovering at 30 degrees, two below freezing. There were intermittent flurries throughout the day along with a mist, and light rain that fell about 6 p. m. froze in some sections of the city, making sidewalks slippery in spots. The maximum temperature yesterday was 36 degrees; the low was 33.

Meeting Planned In Bus Dispute

In a move to prevent a strike scheduled for 1:30 a. m. Thursday, Federal Conciliator James A. Holden has arranged a meeting at 2 p. m. today between the Emery Motor Coach Lines and representatives of the drivers and maintenance men.

Holden said last night he hopes the meeting will result in settlement of the contract dispute between the company and Local Division 1110, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America.

The union a week ago yesterday rejected a company offer of a 10 per cent wage increase which John M. Elliott, international representative of the union, said would not begin until after three months of the contract period had expired.

Elliott and the union's negotiating committee will attend the meeting to be held in the company's offices here.

Veterans Service Officer Explains Compensation Payments To Vets

A veteran who is drawing compensation or retirement pay is not receiving a pension, although there is a widespread misconception that these terms are synonymous. Actully Uncle Sam draws a fine line of distinction where these benefits are concerned, according to W. A. Burns, Officer in Charge of the Cumberland V. A. Office, who explained the difference yesterday.

Compensation, he asserted is a monthly payment made by VA to a veteran because of an injury or illness incurred in, or aggravated by, service in the Armed Forces. Also compensation may be paid to the dependents of a man who died in service or who died because of a service-connected disability after returning to civilian life.

On the other hand, he pointed out, pensions are paid to Civil War and Spanish-American War Veterans because of old age and infirmity and to veterans of both world wars because of total and permanent disability. Dependents of a deceased veteran may be eligible for a pension also, under certain conditions, even though the veteran's death had no connection with his service in the Armed Forces.

Retirement pay may be granted to Officers and enlisted men leaving active service in the Armed Forces after having served not less than 20 years or it may be awarded under certain conditions because of disability incurred or aggravated while on active duty. If a veteran receives such pay, he is ineligible for compensation from the Veterans Administration. If he wishes however, he may waive his retirement pay and accept compensation instead.

Norris Charged With Attacking State Trooper

Three Others Face Hunting Law Counts

Four men, one of whom allegedly attacked a Maryland State Trooper when he attempted to arrest them on illegal hunting charges yesterday morning at 1 o'clock in the Belle Grove section, were released on their own recognizance pending trial in Magistrates Court, according to police.

Police identified Donald Norris, Little Orleans, as the man facing the assault charge, and said he attacked Trooper H. L. Basore, stationed at Hancock, when the trooper went to the aid of two game wardens who were attempting to search a car in which Norris and the three other men were sitting.

According to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, Norris, a brother, Albin Norris, also of Little Orleans, James Rowe and Kenneth Gray, both of this city, were suspected of hunting with a spotlight during the night.

Game Wardens James Smith and Willard Wachter, who were patroling the rural roads enforcing game laws, noticed the quartet shining the spotlight over open fields, and suspected them of hunting for deer.

When they attempted to search the car, the four men resisted, according to Minke, and Trooper Basore, who was riding with them came to their assistance. Norris was treated for lacerations of the head and appeared in court with his head bandaged. He was held in Allegany County Jail over night.

Trooper Basore said the four men had a spotlight and a .30-.30 rifle in the car at the time they were searched. The quartet, along with the two game wardens and Trooper Basore, appeared in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew but the hearing was postponed when Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the defendants, requested that the hearing be transferred to another magistrate.

Attaches said the trial of the four men was scheduled for Friday morning at 10 a. m. before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. Authorities said the gun and spotlight were confiscated for evidence.

Minke explained that hunting for any species of game at night with a spotlight is illegal.

Russian People Against Despotic Rule, Daniel Says

Communists Oppose Marshall Plan

Stating that the nature of the Russian people is instinctively opposed to despotic rule, Hawthorne Daniel, noted author and foreign correspondent, said last night he is "hopeful the time is not too far distant" when the Russian nature will assert itself.

Daniel addressed an audience of 82 persons at the January meeting of the Cumberland National Dinner Club, held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The Russian people, Daniel said, showed an "astonishing capacity" for opposition to the former Czarist rule, whose only basic difference as compared to the present Communist dictatorship was that there was always a Czarevitch to succeed to power.

Traces Industrial Development

Pointing out that undoubtedly a number of would-be leaders would try to gain power if Stalin died, Daniel expressed hope that new leadership would draw the Russian people away from the present concept of rule by a small group.

In the meantime, he said, "there is nothing which would please the Communists more than to have the Marshall Plan fail. This country holds the torch of liberty for the entire world."

Daniel, who was introduced by Robert Little Ebert, a director of the club, devoted the first half of his address to a detailed description of the industrial development of Britian, the United States and Germany.

Britain and the United States, he said, are among the "handful" of nations who have successfully put democratic principles into operation. On the other hand, he declared, the failure of a short-lived democratic revolution in Germany in 1848 is one of the important reasons for the "ghastly complication of problems" facing the world today.

Concept Of "One World"

Since that revolution, there was no serious attempt to put democracy into practice in Germany, and the nation's industrial energies were devoted largely to armament production for military conquest, Daniel explained.

The concept of "one world" will probably not be realized for a long time to come because of the present sharp line of demarcation in political ideology, with the conflicting principles of the freedom and dignity of the individual versus rule by small powerful groups, he declared.

Daniel stressed the fact that with the exception of about 10 nations, most peoples of the world have never had any actual contact with democratic processes in action.

He pointed out that Russia, a land of many languages and races, could not be ready for direct self-government without long preparation, even if such a change were proposed.

A half-hour forum discussion concluded the meeting.

Plans For LaVale Water Co. To Be Outlined Thursday

Public Meeting Set For LaVale Fire Hall

Proposed plans for securing an additional water supply for the LaVale Water Company in order to meet present and future demands of the community will be outlined by a representative of a Baltimore engineering firm at a public meeting to be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in LaVale Fire Hall.

Members of a committee of LaVale residents authorized to contact an engineer to make a survey for an additional water supply, said the plans will be presented by Forrest I. Cronkhite, of the Baltimore firm of Saxe, Williar and Robertson, consulting engineers.

Cronkhite, who will come here tonight or early tomorrow, will make a survey of the entire water system as it stands before presenting the plans for the additional water supply Thursday night.

The survey is being made by the Small-Paye Engineering Company of Cumberland in conjunction with Saxe, Williar and Robertson.

The committee, headed by Roy C. Lottig as chairman, believes that when these plans are carried out there will be "an adequate water supply for LaVale."

This committee already has written to Dr. Joseph T. Singewald, director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, requesting assistance in investigating potential underground water sources to relieve the present situation.

At the present time the company's supply comes from Laber Spring at the foot of Red Hill, from two drilled wells and from Sand Spring on Braddock Road.

There are two main reservoirs, one at Red Hill and another just below the C. and P. Railroad on Braddock Road.

Keyser Trio Will Get Hearing Today In Assault Case

A search by Keyser, W. Va., police for James Pennington, 25, Keyser, charged with assault with intent to kill Fred Kesner, owner of the Skyline Inn, Route 50, ended yesterday afternoon when the fugitive surrendered at Police Headquarters.

Mayor John Freeland said Pennington was released on $1,000 pending a hearing this afternoon. Robert C. Pennington, a brother, ad Arthur Helmick, 20, both of Keyser, are being held in Mineral County, W. Va., Jail, Keyser, on the same charge.

James Pennington was identified by Mayor Freeland as the man who pressed a screw driver against Kesner's head after the trio dragged him from the Inn to the road when he refused to sell them alcoholic beverages Monday night.

Robert Pennington and Helmick, who fled with James from the inn when witnesses went to the defense of Kesner, were taken into custody Monday night in Keyser.

Mayor Freeland said he sighted Pennington yesterday just as he turned into police headquarters to surrender. Police said they did not know where the fugitive had spent the night.

Kesner was quoted by authorities as saying the trio entered his place of business about 7:30 p. m. Monday and demanded beer. Police said Kesner refused to make the sale because the men were already intoxicated.

When the proprietor refused to make the sale, the trio grabbed him and dragged him to the road, according to police, and James Pennington attempted to push a screw driver through his head. Authorities said the tool pierced the skin, but explained the wound was not serious.

Kesner was treated by a Keyser physician and discharged. He then caused warrants for the three men to be sworn out before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, charging them with assault and battery with intent to kill.

Justice of the Peace Bazzle said the trio is scheduled to be given a preliminary hearing before her this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Bonds for the remaining two prisoners were also set at $1,000 but they were being held in jail last night in default.

Temperature Reading

Snow was falling in Cumberland shortly after midnight with the temperature at that hour hovering at 30 degrees, two below freezing. There were intermittent flurries throughout the day along with a mist, and light rain that fell about 6 p. m. froze in some sections of the city, making sidewalks slippery in spots. The maximum temperature yesterday was 36 degrees; the low was 33.

Police Believe Holdup Gang May Solve Bank Case

Three Men Still Sought In East

City police last night pinned hopes of solving an attempted robbery at the Second National Bank December 21, on the apprehension of Eddie Pavlo, Newark, N. J., one of three men still sought in connection with an attempted holdup here Monday.

Police said Pavlo may identify a Cumberland man who will furnish information regarding the attempted bany robbery. Joseph Cunha, 22, Newark, who was arrested along with three other men and an 18-year-old girl told police a Cumberland man furnished information to Pavlo which led to the attempted holdup here Monday.

Cunha admitter that he and Pavlo attempted to hold up Rosco M. McElfish, assistant manager at the super market as he returned from the bank.

Seek Local Man's Name

Authorities quoted Cunha as telling them that Pavlo had been informed that McElfish carried large sums of money to and from the bank here when he met a Cumberland man in Newark.

Police said Cunha was unable to identify the man, but described him as a friend of Pavlo's. An oxygen tank, which was used by the persons who attempted to break into a night depository at the Second National Bank had previously been traced to Newark, police explained.

Meanwhile Cunha, Ellen "Honey" Sona, Gabriel Cunha, Daniel D'Wulit, and James Minnella, who were arrested near Burlington, W. Va., three hours after McElfish was struck in the head with a German Luger when he resisted Pavlo and Cunha, were being held here for further investigation pending a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

Authorities said the quintet all made statements at the office of the State's Attorney yesterday and will probably be arraigned in Trial Magistrates Court sometime today.

Police continued to push a search throughout the entire Atlantic Coast section last night in an effort to apprehend Pavlo and two companions identified by Cunha as Ranzo and Wesley Joseph Mills.

Chief of Police R. Emmitt Flynn and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya arrested the four men and girl yesterday, but said the others escaped in another car.

A detailed description of the three men and the car in which they escaped has been broadcast to all police departments along the Atlantic Coast, according to police, who added that warrants have been sworn out for the three men.

Girl Planned To Wed

Investigator Holsinger said the girl described herself as a dancer and claims she is under contract with the Maulin Rouge Cafe in New Orleans, La., where she is known as Sherry Joyce, a stage name.

According to Holsinger, the girl told him she had returned to Newark on a Christmas vacation and planned to marry Pavlo, whom she has known for about a year. Police said she told them she came to Cumberland with Pavlo believing they were to be married here and did not know that he and Cunha had planned a holdup.

The girl told police she and the seven men arrived in Cumberland Saturday and registered at two local hotels, where they stayed until Monday at 9 a. m. At that time, according to police, they checked out of the hotels and met at a parking lot where Cunha and Pavlo vaguely

Establish Precedents In Civil Appeals

A mule, some paper cups, and a chimney were the features of three Civil Appeals cases heard by January Circuit Court juries yesterday, with the second day of the current jury term being marked with several precedents.

Attaches said it was the first time any of them could recall the completion of three jury cases in a single day. It was also the first time a case has been tried here with 10 jurors instead of the customary 12, and it was also the first time the Court had to stop proceedings to chase an "extra" juror out of the jury box.

After the first case went to the jury, there were 10 veniremen available to try the second, so attorneys on each side agreed to try the case with the available 10.

During the proceedings of the second case, the jury of the first case returned to the Court room with its verdict. One of these 12 jurors, somehow managed to find a seat in the jury box with the 10 jurors sitting on the second case. He was eventually discovered and Chief Judge William A. Huster stopped proceedings long enough to get the 11th man a seat elsewhere.

The first case of the day was an appeal of a decision of Trial Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., involving the death of a mule on the highway near Lonaconing, last July 28, when the animal and an auto collided.

Bruce Sustained

The Trial Magistrate, who awarded Carl Whitman, car owner, $300 from the Georges Creek Coal Company, owner of the mule, was upheld by the jury, and the company is to pay Whitman $300 damages for his car.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for Whitman, with Thomas B. Finan representing the Coal Company.

It was claimed the mule, believed to have been about 25 years old, got out of a pasture through a broken fence and plunged down a bank against the side of Whitman's car, and then lunged to the other side of the road where it died.

The company's attorney claimed that Jake Click, stable boss for the mining firm, has always taken good care of the 14 mules and this is the first time any of the animals has figured in a mishap. Negligence on the part of the coal company was denied, but the jury decided that Whitman should be paid for damages to his car.

William C. Knippenberg, Midland, was jury foreman, and Chief Judge Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson presided.

Perdew Sustained

In a case appealed from Trial Magistrate Frank A. Perdew, a jury returned a verdict sustaining the magistrate's decision, after a short deliberation.

This case was a suit by the Morris Paper Company, represented by Milton Gerson, seeking payment from Harry Fisher and Robert

Demonstration On Tuberculosis Held For Lay Council

TB Still Ranks High In Cause Of Deaths

While tuberculosis has dropped from first to seventh as the cause of death in the United States, it still ranks first as the grim reaper in the age bracket of 15 to 45, the prime years of life, Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse, said last night.

Miss Hardman, who gave a demonstration on care of a tubercular patient at home, told the Allegany County Lay Health Council that tuberculosis is curable but that in order to be cured the patient must have complete rest.

She pointed out that 72 new cases of tuberculosis were reported in Allegany County in 1947 and added that 40 of these 72 cases were in Cumberland.

She said the two usual types of tuberculosis are primary and reinfection.

In her demonstration, Miss Hardman showed how an effort is made to convince the patient that complete bed rest is essential. She also showed how the tubercular patient should be cared for and how other members of the family can be protected.

Assisting in the demonstration were Mrs. Ruby Kirk and sons, James and Allen, and Mrs. John Barncord.

During the business session, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, offered a suggestion to stimulate attendance at council meetings.

While he said attendance has been very good, he suggested that in months when good weather prevails council meetings might be held at other towns in the county besides Cumberland.

A feature of the meeting was the showing of a sound movie, "Time Out," showing the importance of complete rest in a sanatorium for recovery of a tuberculosis patient.

Mrs. Arthur Evans, county council chairman, presided at the meeting

Local Man Held In Nickel Peanut Machine Theft

Motor Law Charge Also May Be Filed

One man was held in city jail on a larceny charge and he and another man faced possible motor vehicle charges as a result of the theft of a nickel peanut vending machine and wrecking of two motor vehicles on the Mexico Farms road early last night, according to State Police.

State Trooper William F. Baker said Charles Walter Lee, Mexico Farms, took the peanut vending machine from the Blue Room, operated on Oldtown Road just outside the city limits by Fred Riggs.

Lee, who police said, had been drinking beer in the establishment, told Riggs, Trooper Baker said, that when he left the machine "is going with me."

As Lee departed, he entered a panel truck and drove off, police said, adding that David Bierman, also of Mexico Farms, left at the same time in a convertible coupe and drove off in the same direction.

As the two machines approached the B. and O. crossing on Mexico Farms Road, Bierman's convertible left the road and wrecked in a ravine, Trooper Baker said.

He added that just opposite the spot where Bierman's car wrecked, Lee's truck upset on its top after dropping down a two-foot embankment.

Lee got a ride to Cumberland from the scene of the accident, and Bierman, who suffered a cut on the forehead and a laceration of the right knee, was treated in Memorial Hospital.

Lee was taken into custody while in bed at his home by Trooper Baker last night at 11 o'clock and was brought to Cumberland and lodged in city jail for a hearing on the larceny charge at 10:30 a. m. today in Trial Magistrates Court.

Trooper Baker said motor vehicle charges against both Lee and Bierman depend on the completion of the investigation.

Holden To Seek Agreement In Dairy Dispute

Conciliator Confers With Managers, Union

Federal Conciliator James A. Holden, Washington, said last night that a meeting between Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, and five Cumberland area dairies will be arranged soon in an effort to reach an agreement on a new contract.

His only comment after meetings held yesterday was that the parties to the dispute are "still talking."

Holden met yesterday afternoon with the dairy managers and the union prior to a general meeting last night at 7:30 o'clock in the Fort Cumberland Hotel but declined to report the degree of progress made at the sessions.

The News was told, however, that the parties were on "better terms" as a result of the conferences yesterday and that there was distinct progress on some issues which do not involve money, including an agreement to have the contract run for 13 months, until February 1, 1949.

Prior to the meeting, the status of offers was reported as: an offer of the firms to cut the present 48 hour week to a 44 hour guaranteed week, with time and one-half after 40 hours, plus an 18 cent an hour incvrease to bring the pay from 90 cents to $1.08; an offer to increase minimum pay for drivers from $40 to $45 and an offer on a graduated scale for mechanics.

A union official said the negotiations will continue but that no definite plans have been made for the next meeting.

Edwards Gets City Election Petition

A city election petition was obtained yesterday by William J. Edwards, water and light commissioner, from Acting City Clerk Arthur B. Gibson, preparatory to having his name placed on the primary ballot for re-election.

Myers G. Light, commissioner of streets and public property, and Clifton E. Fuller, finance commissioner, obtained petitions Monday along with William H. Buchholtz, 713 Fayette Street, a newcomer.

Six Inches Of Snow In Garrett County

Six inches of snow covered Garrett County last night and State Police said it was still "snowing hard" at 11 p. m.

They said roads, while cindered, were covered with snow and ice and advised motorists to use chains and drive with caution.

Light snow was falling in Cumberland shortly after midnight and the weatherman predicted snow flurries again today.

State Police said that while State Roads Commission crews in Garrett County had roads there in fair shape by nightfall, they probably would be called out again before morning if the heavy snowfall continued.

The temperature at Grantsville was 20 degrees at 11 p. m.

While light snow fell intermittently in the Cumberland section yesterday, it was of no consequence, but up to two inches was reported in the eastern end of the county.

All roads in Allegany County were reported as clear and in good condition by State Police who said Route 40 was clear to Hagerstown but not in as good condition east of that city. As much as four inches of snow was reported in Frederick.

The temperature in Cumberland at 11 p. m. was just two degrees below freezing but it was expected to drop considerably lower by morning.

At Deal, Pa., it was 20 and an inch and a half of snow covered the ground. At Thomas, W. Va., it was 22 and snow amounted to four inches.

Meeting Planned In Bus Dispute

In a move to prevent a strike scheduled for 1:30 a. m. Thursday, Federal Conciliator James A. Holden has arranged a meeting at 2 p. m. today between the Emery Motor Coach Lines and representatives of the drivers and maintenance men.

Holden said last night he hopes the meeting will result in settlement of the contract dispute between the company and Local Division 1110, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America.

The union a week ago yesterday rejected a company offer of a 10 per cent wage increase which John M. Elliott, international representative of the union, said would not begin until after three months of the contract period had expired.

Elliott and the union's negotiating committee will attend the meeting to be held in the company's offices here.
